Editor's notes

Miss Carrie

One of the first persons I had the pleasure to meet in Carlisle was Mrs. Lewis Robbins, or Miss Carrie as everyone knew her.

I called on her at home in connection with a news story but the conversation soon ranged far beyond the initial topic. At the age of 89 she was sharp as a tack, vitally interested in the world around her and a treasure trove of anecdotes from days gone by. I suspect her interest in reading kept her young at an age when many of her contemporaries were content to be old.

Miss Carrie recently donated a dictionary to the Mercury, a source of information we use each day. We had looked forward to her moving next door in the residence owned by Mrs. Amelia Buckley, which is now under renovation. It would have been nice to be able to drop in on Miss Carrie and bask in the benefit of her acquired wisdom.

She was a former employee of the Mercury and a former librarian, a lady who devoted much of her life to the pursuit of knowledge and understanding and helped pass whatever she gained along. Tuesday she was laid to rest in the Carlisle Cemetery, not far from the big house where she lived on Main Street. She will be missed and her family and friends have our sympathy.

From the mail...

From the Kentucky Association of Electric Cooperatives comes word that a recent check of the U.S. Senate chambers showed that there was more radiation there than at the Three-Mile Island nuclear plant. The item was headlined "Senate chambers more dangerous than Three-Mile Island Nuclear Plant."

Shucks, we knew that all along.

Whodunnit?

A reliable source passes along this story in wake of the announcement that Phyllis George Brown will narrate the Carlisle Community Woman's Club style show Sept. 29:

Seems as if John Y. and Phyllis attended a convention of local government officials recently and Phyllis awarded each county judge present with a peck on the cheek.

Now a kiss from a Miss America is nothing to sneeze at (unless you're allergic to Miss Americas) but it turns out that County Judge/Executive Reese Smoot was unable to attend the convention.

A Nicholas County native who was present decided that Phyllis's kiss shouldn't go to waste so he walked up, presented himself as the judge of Nicholas County and got his reward.

Meanwhile, another Nicholas Countian (you didn't think I'd name names, did you?) was there and witnessed this impostery. When he called his colleague on the scam the kissee offered to introduce him to Phyllis as the Nicholas County judge so he could get his kiss.

I imagine Judge Smoot would like to have these folks volunteer for some of his other duties.

Speaking of...

Speaking of the governor's race...John Y. Brown, Jr. was scheduled to be at Blue Licks State Park Oct. 13 for an auto fundraiser but had to cancel because of a last-minute change of plans. If that date sounds familiar it's the day Sen. Edward Kennedy is scheduled to be in Kentucky for a Brown rally in Lexington and a rally and reception in Louisville.

Meanwhile, the hottest ticket in town is one (or more) for the Carlisle Community Woman's Club style show Sept. 29 at the Carnico Country Club. That's the one Phyllis George Brown is scheduled to narrate. And informed sources (them again) tell us that John Y. will be in Carlisle with Mrs. Brown that day. The two are expected to leave from here for the UK football game that afternoon in Lexington.

Meanwhile, former Gov. Louie Nunn is keeping a low profile in Nicholas County. His organization has appointed a representative in Nicholas County and I do see a few Nunn bumper stickers but that's about as far as it goes. His campaign literature, rarely mailed out with a statement under his name, continues to hammer at his opponent's life style and experience.

MAGICWORD

HOW TO PLAY: Read the list of words. Look at the puzzle. You'll find these words in all directions — horizontally, vertically, diagonally, backwards. Draw a circle around each letter of a word found in the puzzle then strike it off the list. Circling it will show a letter has been used but will leave it visible should it also form part of another word. Find the big words first. When letters of all used words are circled, you'll have the given number of letters left over. They'll spell out your MAGICWORD.
