Discharge deadline changed

The Veterans Administration says that April 1, 1980 has been set as the new deadline for former military personnel separated before Jan. 1, 1965 with undesirable discharges to apply to the Department of Defense for discharge review. The old deadline was Jan. 1, 1980.

Without the extension, the former members would have been precluded from seeking upgrading by the Discharge Review Boards because of the normal 15-year statute of limitations prescribed by law.

DDO extended the deadline because of the significant number of applications being received.

As of Nov. 1, 1979 the three Discharge Review Boards have heard approximately 5,000 waiver cases and there are nearly 5,000 cases pending before them.

Applications for discharge review, DD Form 203, can be obtained from regional offices, veterans service organizations and military installations.

Discharge reviews can be initiated by filing the form with the Discharge Review Board of the service concerned.

An index of previous Discharge Review Board decisions is available at certain VA regional offices and at all offices of state directors of veterans affairs. These indexes are available to assist former members in preparation of their particular cases.

Legislative Report

By Adrian Arnold

One of the most talked about issues confronting the 1980 General Assembly is the question of ownership of Kentucky farm land by non-resident individuals and businesses. Two bills have been introduced which would place some restrictions on the ownership of farm land by foreign interests.

Senate Bill 28 (SB28) would prohibit non-resident foreign individuals and businesses, from owning or controlling more than 10 acres of agricultural land. House Bill 105 (HB105) would require non-resident foreign interests to register with either State or Local Government, reporting in some detail on their ownership of mineral rights or agricultural land.

The House Bill on ownership is in the House Committee on Agriculture and Small Businesses where it has been discussed, but action on it has been delayed. The Senate Bill is in the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Natural Resources, where it was debated this past week. Action in the Senate Committee has also been delayed while the Legislators work with language in the bill.

Kentucky Farm Bureau and the State's Commissioner of Agriculture have determined that they favor the restrictions on foreign ownership while the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and the State's Department of Commerce are opposing the idea.

saying it could discontinue foreign investment in the State.

Another bill of interest is House Bill 104 (HB104) which would prohibit cancellation of automobile insurance solely because of the age of the insured, require the reason for cancellation to accompany or be included with a notice of cancellation.

The Senate Resolution that calls for a Constitutional Convention to require the balancing of the Federal budget has passed the Senate and is now under consideration by the House of Representatives.

Ward's First New Catalog Center In 50 Years

Features Advanced Technology

If you stand in the middle of the roof, you are surrounded by a desert of gravel spread over 74.6 acres—more than 2,000 tons of it. In that area you could put 18 football fields (including end zones), plus 15 tennis courts—and still have room left over for 23 pingpong tables. Eight Boeing 747's could line up single file along it; 1,800-foot length.

This is Ward's first new catalog house in 50 years which opened Jan. 24 in Sharonville, Ohio, a suburb of Cincinnati. It will be servicing the Carlisle Montgomery Ward store. This ultra-modern facility makes use of the most advanced methods of moving merchandise. Environmental considerations also were stressed in the planning and construction of the facility. Up to 75 percent of the heat required for the office and sales area will be provided by solar energy collection. Landscaping makes use of recycled trees, soil and water to create an attractive environment for employees and customers.

Figures alone cannot convey the immensity of this facility. Including the mezzanine, the center has 1,105,412 square feet of space on one level. The roof area is 1,073,329 square feet—you can take a one-mile walk around the perimeter.

The cavernous, one-story structure houses one of the most sophisticated facilities of its kind in the nation, capable of distributing merchandise within 40 hours to any point within the 10-state area it serves. Merchandise flow is guided by an electronic brain. The specially designed computer center keeps an up-to-the-minute finger on inventory and the pulse of customer orders, advising receiving personnel whether incoming merchandise should, for example, be sent to bins for order processing or to warehouse areas for storage.

When a customer's order comes in, it is processed for picking, packing and shipment within 12 hours. The computer prepares the picking ticket and a printout identifies the bins where the merchandise is located. The merchandise is manually selected from the bins where the merchandise is placed on a system of conveyors to the packing area.

Along the way, an optical scanner that looks like something from "Star Trek" reads the picking ticket. This huge "eye" identifies and sorts merchandise for shipment at the rate of nearly 11,000 items per hour, moving at 405 feet per minute.

From the packing area, the merchandise is put on Montgomery Ward trucks for delivery to the appropriate Ward retail or catalog location. There are 74 dock doors to accommodate an estimated 40 trucks per day each way, delivering incoming merchandise and loading outgoing orders. In addition, some 600 railroad cars per year are required to transport merchandise.

All movement of merchandise, except for selection from the bins, is completely automated, including trucks and railroad cars at the dock. Items are mechanically moved, stored, retrieved, sorted and shipped using the most modern materials handling system. Automatic tray sorters, in-floor electronically guided towlines, guided-wire picking trucks and special conveyor belts all are designed to move the goods quickly, efficiently, and accurately.

In the 104,517 square-foot non-warehouse area, 150 employees handle all the "paper" functions needed to keep this enormous enterprise humming—everything from personnel and payroll staff to computer operators to food handlers to merchandisers and many more. Office area totals 41,478 square feet. For the convenience of Cincinnati-area customers, there is a 46,537 square-foot self-service budget store for the sale of overstock items, a 16,502 square-foot catalog order desk area that offers delivery of most orders to the desk within 45 minutes, plus an employee cafeteria, medical facilities, and a mezzanine-level snack shop. The mezzanine is connected to the main floor not only by a staircase, but also by an attractive, spiraling ramp for wheelchairs.

Simplicity of design and sweeping lines give one the impression of being on an immense ship, from the attractively curving single row of windows of the "bridge" or office area to the many ship-like ramps and catwalks, connecting various parts of the building. Enormous pipes and ducts are incorporated into the interior design, colorfully painted and gracefully arching to form doorways.

This modern masterpiece of merchandise handling enables Montgomery Ward to provide its customers with greater selection of goods and more accurate, rapid service than ever before, and will be the hub of the company's long-range expansion programs for the midwestern part of the nation.
