

Deaths

WALLACE WALLER
Wallace Waller, a longtime certified public accountant, died Monday, June 23, 1980 after a short illness. He was 81.
Waller, the husband of Jean Peaback Waller, of the Mayville Road, Bourbon County, died in Nicholas County Hospital from complications of a heart attack he suffered Saturday.
He had been associated for more than 25 years with Yeager, Ford and Warner, and Cooper's and LeFevre, both CPA firms in Louisville. He was also a farmer.
Waller was a World War II veteran, a graduate of Alice Lloyd College and the University of Kentucky. He was a member of the state and national societies of certified public accountants, a member of Millersburg Rotary Club, a member and deacon of the Millersburg Presbyterian Church.

ment, and they must certify that they did not use DDT, DDE, toxaphene, or other pesticides on their crop.
Burley tobacco use in 1979 may total about the same as last season's 624 million pounds (283,000 tons) and will show the 1979 crop also. Thus, the October 1 carryover is expected to fall from last year's 1.2 billion pounds (560,000 tons). With larger farm production quota and average yields, growers in 1980 are expected to produce and market a crop above last year's size and keep total supplies about the same.
Auction markets for 1979-crop Maryland tobacco began April 9 and ended May 22. Prices averaged $1.40 per pound, 17 cents more than a year earlier. Disappearance of Maryland tobacco in the current marketing year may not equal last season since exports are down.
Despite larger carryover, use of fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco is decreasing from last marketing year. Tentative supplies for next season are slightly higher than the season now ending. Domestic cigar leaf use is rising, cigar production continues to drop, and chewing tobacco output is gaining. Estimated use for cigar types will exceed last year's crop, leaving smaller carryovers into 1980/81. Prospective larger crop for 1980 could maintain total supplies.
Copies of the Tobacco Situation (TS-172) will be available in a week to 10 days. For further information contact Robert H. Miller (202) 447-4776.

Other survivors are five sisters, Hazel Waller, Silver Springs, Md.; Joyce Waller, Hindman, Mrs. James Burns, Williamson, W. Va.; Mrs. O.E. Elkins, Lackey; and Mrs. Hollis Gibson, Jackson.
Services will be at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday at 1 Millersburg Presbyterian Church with burial to follow in Carlisle Cemetery. Pruitt Funeral Home in charge.

HARRY CAMPBELL
Harry Campbell, 74, husband of Christine Mann Campbell, died Thursday, June 19, 1980 at the Nicholas County Hospital.
He was a native of Scott County.
Other survivors are one son, William C. Campbell, Carlisle; one sister-in-law, Willa Lee Mann, Carlisle; one nephew and two nieces.
Services were held Monday at the Mathers-Gaines Funeral Home by Rev. Dennis Peace, pastor of New Hope Assembly of God Church, Paris. Burial in the Carlisle Cemetery. Pallbearers were Eugene Neal, Bobby and Billy Duncan, A.V. Allison, Frankie Hughes, Matthew Campbell.

LYOYD A. SHAW
Lloyd A. Shaw, 57, of Port Orange, Florida, died Friday, June 20, 1980 at Halifax Hospital in Daytona, Florida.
He was a native of Nicholas County, son of the late Ivan Shaw of Nicholas County and a veteran of World War II.
Survivors are his wife, Veronic; a daughter, Sondra, both of Port Orange; his mother, Mrs. G.C. Gause of Mt. Dora, Fla., formerly of Nicholas County; one brother, Sam Shaw of Mt. Dora; one half brother, Mac Gause of Newcastle, Ky.; and two half sisters, Mrs. Tempa Endicott of Midway and Mrs. Vera Green of Dayton, Ohio.
Funeral services and burial were held Monday in Port Orange.

Stumbo announces reforms for state's nursing homes

State Human Resources Secretary Grady Stumbo has announced plans to reform state regulation of nursing homes. The department will begin automatically revoking the licenses of nursing homes that fail to promptly correct problems.
Stumbo disclosed the proposed changes following a Louisville Courier-Journal series of articles detailing deficiencies in the regulation and operation of nursing homes that violate regulations.
In announcing the plans this week, Stumbo said reform has long been needed in the nursing home industry.

The department will begin automatically revoking the licenses of nursing homes that fail to promptly correct problems.
If authority from Gov. John Y. Brown, Jr. is granted, Stumbo will have the option of cutting off Medicaid and Medicare funding of nursing homes that violate regulations.
The department will prepare a directory of all nursing homes in the state and will include a rating of the homes.

use. State Police, forestry personnel, natural resources, highways and other departments use planes to a distinct advantage.
Gov. Brown is the only governor who isn't trading in the governor's mansion. It was condemned by the state fire marshal some weeks ago. The governor and his wife are living in a home they purchased in Fayette County.
The governor has used a state helicopter to commute from his home to the Capitol and he apparently wanted a safer plane than the state had.

How many are working?

One day you read unemployment is down in Kentucky. The next day you see headlines about increasing numbers of Kentuckians applying for unemployment benefits. Which news story is correct?
Both are. Each month the Department of Human Resources releases two sets of statistics that reflect the condition of Kentucky's economy. Sometimes the statistics seem to contradict each other.
The department's Bureau for Manpower Services reports official state and county unemployment rates. The Bureau for Social Insurance reports the number of claims for unemployment benefits. Both figures can give an accurate picture of the state's economy, said Robert MacDonald, the department's chief labor market analyst. "But they show pictures of different aspects. It's virtually impossible to compare the two."

The state unemployment rate estimates the number of unemployed Kentuckians in the total civilian work force. The unemployment insurance statistics refer to claims filed by workers covered by the Kentucky Unemployment Insurance System, including those filed by people who work in Kentucky but live out-of-state.

MacDonald said the number of persons in Kentucky's civilian labor force in April was about 1.8 million. According to Rick Crawford, director of the department's unemployment insurance division, the total number of insured jobs in April was about 1.18 million.
Persons who are counted as part of the labor force but who do not have jobs covered by unemployment insurance include most agricultural workers, domestic workers, self-employed persons, employees of private non-profit organizations and persons who have no work experience, such as high school or college graduates and young people who have dropped out of school. Crawford added that persons who have exhausted their unemployment benefits also are not counted in the unemployment insurance statistics but remain part of the jobless rate.
