

Smith promoted to captain

The Kentucky State Police announce the promotion and transfer of Kenneth R. Smith from lieutenant to captain. Captain Smith has been transferred from drivers testing section, Frankfort, to post commander at Dry Ridge. Smith received Capt. M.D. Campbell, who was promoted to Lt. Col. and put in charge of the security and compliance section of the Kentucky State Police.

Smith, a native of Metcalfe County, began his state police career in May of 1962 as cadet at the Lebanon post. He was promoted to trooper in August of 1962 and assigned to Pikeville post. In February of 1970 Smith was promoted to sergeant while at the Bureau of Training where he was assigned as an instructor. He was assigned as the assistant commander of bureau of training in October of 1970 and was promoted to lieutenant while serving in that position. Smith was transferred to the office of administrative services in August of 1972 and then he was assigned as commander of planning in February 1977. Smith held that position until September 1980 when he was transferred to the drivers testing section.

Smith has continued his education while serving with the Kentucky State Police and he holds a masters of science in police administration at Eastern Kentucky University and a masters of public affairs at Kentucky State University. He has also attended various on-service training sessions and seminars dealing with law enforcement.

Ernest Boone, son of Daniel Boone, was killed in the Battle of Blue Licks, August 19, 1782.

This is the result of a fire last Wednesday, Nov. 5 about 12:15 p.m. at Woody's Auto Repair building on Upper Jackstown Road. Cause was the shorting out of a wire in the breaker box on the east side of the metal building. Estimated cost of damage is $4,500 according to owner Woody Wilson. An automobile and pickup truck, in the building at the time of the fire, sustained slight point damage. No one was in the building at the time. Mark Hughes, a volunteer fireman, discovered the fire while standing at the back of Hughes Grocery. He went to the county fire department and drove the firetruck to the scene. Wilson stated that Hughes' prompt action kept the building from being destroyed. —Mercury photo

REFUNDING $$$ AND SENSE
 — VICTORIA R. FLEMING

Recent reader interest and my own hungry brood have reminded me that there are about 7 million dogs and half as many cats sharing our households! As a result, the 3.5 billion-dollar pet food industry accounts for over seven percent of all food sold and this fierce competition among manufacturers spawns a host of refund deals and millions of cashoffs on pet food and accessories. Of course our darling are not interested in the refund — but as yet they aren't aware of product shape, color or texture — so test all of the available products and try to use only those offering you the best money-saving deals.

Q. What do I do if my refund offer is returned to me unmailed or marked "no closer"?
 A. As long as the offer was mailed on or before the stated expiration date (your postmark is proof) and you have sent all required proofs of purchase (POP's) and/or forms, you must assume the clearing-house goofed. Send an explanatory letter to the Consumer Relations department of the company along with the entire offer to the corporate address found on the product.
