Blackberry Festival
John Ecton of the local American Legion post appeared before Council requesting extra police patrol during the Blackberry Festival as has been done in the past, with the Legion paying the City $600 for this service. Council voted affirmatively.

Other motions passed:
— give Gayle Vandandingham authority to have gas detector repaired or purchase new one, whichever is more feasible ($900 to $1,000 to repair; buy new one with trade-in $1,650);
— accept audit of city books.

Lamb grading school April 25

Sheep producers will have an opportunity to learn more about grading and marketing lambs at a school on the Wightsworth Farm in Bourbon County April 25 from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The farm is located five miles north of Paris on U.S. Highway 27. Signs will be posted.

Conducting the grading and marketing school will be Cecil Goodlett, domestic markets, Kentucky Council on Agriculture; Dr. Lee Meyer, Extension livestock marketing specialist; and Dr. G.L.M. (Monty) Chappell, Extension sheep specialist. Meyer and Chappell are with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.
