Driving in Perkins blasts Reagan at Morehead University

The Reagan Administration came under sharp criticism from U.S. Rep. Carl D. Perkins at Morehead last Wednesday, as the congressman told an MSU audience that he could offer little hope for the immediate future of federal student financial aid programs.

Perkins blasted Reagan at Morehead University, where he criticized the administration's policies on student aid.

Unemployment up, but so are salary jobs in the state

The state's first unemployment rate increase this year, the number of non-agricultural wage and salary jobs in Kentucky increased during October, according to Department of Human Resources' statistics released last week.

Statistics based on a monthly employment survey indicated that non-agricultural wage and salary jobs in the state increased 2,700 in October to 1,200 million.

Dr. Grady Stumbo, state Human Resources secretary, indicated that the wage was triggered by a 2,700 jump in state and local government jobs and a 3,100 job increase in the service industry.

The state's manufacturing industries reported a 2,700 job downturn from September while the state's lumber, wood products and non-electrical machinery industries registered advances during October.

The department reported that the state's manufacturing employment has increased 2,800 since October 1980, while the non-manufacturing industries lost 16,400 jobs.
