digit zip a couple of months ago, it was supposed to go into effect in February, and may now be delayed, indefinitely.

Most publishers I know would gladly forget the whole idea, they can't help but see the $$$ figures.

Anyway, due to a postal regulation, we've been hand stamping the mailing sacks that are used on a portion of The Mercury's subscription list each week. We've tried to print them, that is imprint the USPS number, but have resigned ourselves to stamping with a hand stamp. We will soon use up the typed envelopes and none to soon.

The powers that be in the enveloping manufacturing business, insist that I purchase a minimum of 25,000 sacks, the sacks will carry our USPS number and also ZIP: 40311-8001. Hopefully, the FPO powers that be will not require us to strike out the last (4) four digits.

Yes, I said four digits, but do you notice that the first is the second letter of the alphabet!

One for everyday, a Murphy's - saying
James Clifton Smith, maybe I should have said "Cousin" anyway, he gave me a Christmas present.

There's a Murphy's law for each day of the year 1981. On the back side along with the name of the publisher is the admonition: Printed in the United States of America. All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise without the prior written permission of the publishers. Whew, that's a mouthful.

I believe they've overdone it. For the next 300 and so days I will have to break the law each time I read a Murphy. May I ask, what better storage and retrieval system is there, than the human mind?

Parents Training Session

Officials find rates too high for credit life insurance

Insurance Department officials have concluded that Kentucky's rates for credit life insurance are too high and have asked that current rates be discontinued by March 31. Credit life insurance is purchased through creditors and insures payment of the loan if the borrower dies. Maximum premium rates are set by state law.

In a statement presented at a department hearing, Dale Morris, department general counsel, said, "We submit that the uncontrolled evidence introduced at this hearing proves these rates to be excessive. Therefore, we ask that all current rate filings be disapproved as of March 31. To allow time for review, new rate filings should be made on or before Feb. 27. The public hearing began Oct. 13 and was continued to Jan. 6. Rebecca Westfield, hearing officer, said that within two weeks she will make the decision on whether to include this request to discontinue rates in her recommendations to Insurance Department Commissioner Daniel Briscoe.

Medicare toll free number revealed

Medicare beneficiaries can now call toll free when they need information about Medicare or when they have questions about their claims. The toll free number, 1-800-455-5211, is available Monday through Friday during the hours of 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. Metropolitan Life — Medicare the Part B carrier for Kentucky has expanded their toll-free telephone system to better serve Medicare beneficiaries residing in Kentucky.

Kentucky Farm Bureau pockets many awards at New Orleans

Kentucky Farm Bureau came away with a pocketful of awards designating program improvement following recognition ceremonies at the American Farm Bureau convention in New Orleans Jan. 13.

The silver star awards and one gold star were given to Kentucky Farm Bureau President Ray Mackey in New Orleans. Mackey, a Farm Bureau member for 35 years, was the 15th consecutive year that membership in the organization has increased. Silver stars were awarded for programs showing the most improvement during the past year. Those categories were: women's activities, young farmers, commodities, safety, marketing and policy development.

Some 200-plus Kentuckians were part of an estimated 4,000 farmers from across the nation attending the five-day annual meeting. Highlights included appearances by secretary of agriculture designate John Block, Gen. William Westmoreland, former Army chief of staff, and Paul Volcker, federal reserve chairman.

Clark Coultan, Ronald and Connie Shrout represented the state in national competitions, as did Mary Lile, the Metairie County native who competed in the Kentucky Farm Bureau's talent competition last month, performed at the convention.

Fifteen members of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Board of Directors served as Kentucky's 10 voting delegates for policy matters and leadership selection at the meeting. The delegates were headed by Mackey the president, and two top KFB vice presidents, W.R. "Bully Boy" Sprague, Route One, Surget, and S.I. Stokes Jr., Lexington.

Other delegates were Mrs. Lottie Murphy, Stamping Ground; Richard Shelby, Albany; Sam Moore, Morganton; Robert M. Crenshaw, Ellettsburg; Eugene McCreary, Brandenburg; C.L. Conley, Greensburg; W.R. Kidd, Cox's Creek; Carl Mitchell Jr., Frankfort; William H. Sewell, Somerset; Charles Schultzer, Waynesburg; Robert Van Hook, Cynthiana; and James H. Hall, Stanton.

THE SHORTEST DISTANCE BETWEEN TWO POINTS

If you're in business, the newspaper is the medium for your message. It's the shortest distance between two points... you and the customer.

As a business person you can appreciate the direct line of communication you have to the consumer with newspaper advertising. It's the foremost local publicity force in Kentucky. That's the collective opinion of adult Kentuckians.

The customers say the newspaper is the most-believable and influential source of advertising when compared to radio and television.

It is also the single most preferred source of advertising as revealed by Kentuckians.*
