Guilty plea entered in statutory rape case

Billy Feeback Jr., 22, of Route 3, Carlisle, reversed an earlier plea of not guilty last Monday in Nicholas County Circuit Court to a charge of rape in the second degree (statutory rape).

Feeback pled guilty in exchange for a promised recommendation of Commonwealth's Attorney John M. Keith for a reduced sentence of five years on the charge. Second degree rape, which constitutes sexual intercourse by a person over the age of 18 with a person under 14, is punishable by a maximum sentence of 10 years.

Upon the plea and the Commonwealth's Attorney's recommendation, Circuit Judge John P. Lair sentenced Feeback to five years in the state reformatory.

However, a pre-sentencing investigation is being conducted by the state Department of Corrections in order to determine Feeback's eligibility for early parole. The results of that investigation will be heard by Judge Lair August 14.

— Notice — To Taxpayers

I have completed the 1981 property tax assessment for Nicholas County. I have reassessed all commercial and residential property in the city and county. I had no recourse due to the decision of the Supreme Court's ruling in the 1980 P.V.A. law suit against the Department of Revenue. I must value property at 100% Market Value according to sales. Farms (10 acres or more) were reassessed for 1980 and no increase was necessary for 1981.

Any taxpayer who received an increase on his assessment will get a notice in the mail soon. Any taxpayer who feels he was assessed too high according to market value, should appeal his assessment to the local Board of Assessment Appeals. If this total assessment is lowered extensively, the requirement will not be met and the assessment will not be certified. This could result in late tax bills and possible increases by the Department of Revenue.

The inspection period is from August 3-8 and August 10-15. The hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and 9-12 on Saturdays.

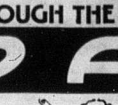
THE HOME GAME
BY VIRGINIA TRUAX



GRATER EFFICIENCY — When the recipes say "dot with butter," reach for your grater. Zip, zip — the entire surface is "dotted" in no time. Of course, this only works with cold butter or margarine!

NEW TWIST — Handy tool to have in the kitchen to assist in removing stubborn screwtop jar lids (in addition to a strong male!) is a piece of sandpaper. Its grip does the work for you. A square of rubber from a rubber glove is also effective.

BETTER LATE — Procrastinators will love this hint. After the barbecue grill cools down, lay it in the grass. Next morning it will be easier to clean because the dew will have done some of the work for you.

The Happy Gardener
NO POISON PEST CONTROLS
Old-fashioned, natural remedies for pest control have worked for decades and will still work now, if you have the patience to try them.
For cabbage worms, try a tablespoon of table salt dissolved in two gallons of water sprayed onto plants. Salt can also be sprinkled directly on slugs if they're a problem.
Onion is reputed to deter almost any pest, and is known to get rid of aphids and red spiders. Blend equal parts onion slices and water in a blender, strain through cheesecloth, then spray.
Dry hot pepper dusted on tomato plants protects them from most insects and dry cayenne pepper repels caterpillars when you dust it on plants wet with dew.
When flowering plants like roses, azaleas and chrysanthemums become heavily infested with insects, try this: pulverize together in blender or processor three hot peppers, three large onions and one garlic bulb, simmer in with water and let sit overnight in a covered container. Next morning, strain the concoction through fine cheesecloth and add water to make a gallon. Spray three times a day for two days and watch bugs disappear. It's also a good cure for infested bean plants.
Finely chopped tomato leaves, soaked in water overnight, create an excellent anti-aphid control — also good for getting rid of caterpillars.

ROCK TRACKS
Now that Britain's tax laws limit the take to 60 percent, English rockers are supporting the U.S. and heading for home. Harry and Robin Gibb have already bought new houses in London, and brother

Andy is "seriously looking." Mick Jagger and Elton John are also expected to depart our shores soon. Soundtrack recording of "The Night The Lights Went Out In Georgia," due this week, includes songs by Glenn Campbell, Billy Preston, Tanya Tucker and Tammy Wynette. Except for the title track, all the songs were written and recorded especially for the film, which stars Dennis Quaid as a struggling country-rock singer. Time for Mick Fleetwood's annual denial that Fleetwood Mac is breaking up. Mick says they're just taking a year or so off.

Laugh Out
"Do you think a woman believes you when you tell her she is the first girl you ever loved?"
"Yes, if you're the first liar she has ever met."
