Non-injury accidents reported

Accident reports filed in the Nicholas County Sheriff's office show a couple of non-injury accidents that have occurred in the county in the past several days.

The first accident on file occurred a week from last Tuesday on U.S. 68 when a truck driven by Robert Blanton, Breese, Illinois, struck a cow that was loose on the highway just after midnight.

Blanton reported that the cow ran out in front of him as he was traveling west-bound on 68.

Blanton's truck received slight damage near the point of impact. The driver was not hurt. The cow was killed.

A second accident involved Greg Capps, Moorefield, and Jeffery T. Howard, Route 4, Carlisle. There were apparently no injuries, but the accident report listed no details as to damage or causes of the incident.

Joe Linville of Route 2, Carlisle, was involved in a single-vehicle mishap on the Myers Station Road Monday when he lost control of his 73 Ford pickup truck and ran off the road. He reportedly ran into an earth embankment and damaged the front end of the truck considerably. Linville was not injured.

State crop yield could set records

While burley tobacco is still capturing most of the agricultural attention, Kentucky farmers are busy harvesting what is estimated to be a record corn crop of 153 million bushels.

The 1981 crop is up 10 percent from the previous 1976 record of 138.7 million bushels, and up 48 percent from last year's dry weather crop.

Yield is estimated at 100 bushels per acre. As of Nov. 8, farmers had harvested 89 percent of the corn crop.

Soybean production is estimated at 51.0 million bushels, the second largest crop on record and 42 percent larger than 1980. Yield is estimated at 30.0 bushels per acre but is quite variable depending on date planted and moisture received.

As of Nov. 8, harvesting was 66 percent complete. The late planting date and mushy double crop beans are responsible for harvesting being behind both last year and average.

Burley tobacco production for the Burley Belt is estimated at 716.5 million pounds, up 29 percent from last year. Yield is expected to be 2,201 pounds per acre.

The nation's corn crop is forecast at a record high 8.110 billion bushels, up 12 percent from last year. Estimated yield at 109.2 bushels per acre is up 18.2 bushels from 1980.

The U.S. soybean crop is expected to total 2.08 billion bushels, up 16 percent from 1980. Yield at 31.0 bushels per acre is up 4.6 bushels from last year.

National Adoption Week

Thanksgiving...it's a time when we think of home and family. Being part of a family is important to all of us and the warmth and closeness of the family unit is especially evident to us.

Thanksgiving week also holds another special importance as it is also National Adoption Week. During this time special efforts are being made in Kentucky, as well as nationwide, to increase the awareness of the public of the rewards and joys of family building through adoption.

Although the availability of white infants and pre-schoolers has steadily declined there are many older children and children with special needs who are waiting for adoptive families. At the present time the Special Needs Adoption Program is recruiting families for 139 children with special needs. In addition to these children there are many other children in Kentucky for whom adoption is the plan. Adoptive families are needed for white children over the age of ten, black children of all ages; children of any age who have physical, mental, and/or emotional handicaps, and groups of three or more siblings.

As you celebrate Thanksgiving in your family tradition consider the children who wait for the love and security of a permanent family. Perhaps there is a child waiting to join a family just like yours and participate in those family traditions. Consider adoption...it's a beautiful way to have a family.

For more information you may call the Special Needs Adoption Program toll free at 1-800-432-9346 or locally you may call 289-7122.

Agri-marketing Update

International Marketing outlook: Soviets still a major importer

The Soviet Union will probably continue to import large quantities of U.S. grain and remain a major buyer in the world grain trade, according to University of Chicago economics professor D. Gale Johnson. The U.S. is still the least expensive supplier of large amounts of grain to the Soviets. Johnson said the continued poor Soviet grain yields partially result from the problems in those areas that support agriculture such as farm machinery, rather than the actual producers. A lack of spare parts for farm equipment and unreliable machinery are ongoing problems in the Soviet Union.

Johnson and other economists maintain that there still is great potential for massive Soviet imports of U.S. grain in both the near and long term. Trade analysts, however, still fear that Soviet imports will not reach this potential unless the U.S. is willing to guarantee that once purchased the grain will not be embargoed. Observers have said that the State Department is not enthusiastic about making such assurances — particularly in light of deepening tensions between the Soviet Union and Poland.

Argentina's 1981 corn crop is now estimated at a record 13 million metric tons — more than double last year's output.

Venezuela is still planning to import white corn from the U.S., and the responsibility for importing it has been turned over entirely to the private sector. For the first time in history, U.S. Feed Grains Council Latin American Director Jim Myrick is currently leading a delegation from Protenal, a major Venezuelan Food importer, through the U.S. They are assessing the current U.S. white corn crop, mainly in Kentucky, for their 1982 importing needs. Although downward pressure on prices has occurred as a result of a high carry-over and larger than usual yields of white corn, economists and traders are both predicting that white corn will move from the U.S. this fall.
