Ooops

In our page one picture of the grade school Pages in Frankfort last week, we listed the name of Shirley Hammonds. It should have been Angie Hammond. The name had been given to us incorrectly. Pardon us.
Also in last week's Nicholas County High School cheerleader picture, the name of Gayla Kelley was omitted. She was not present for the picture.

For further details contact Bradley Witt, County Ranger, 498-2566, or Gene Barnes, County Ranger, 498-2080, or The Kentucky Division of Forestry, 749 West First Street, Morehead, Ky. 40351, phone 606-784-7504.

Engineers meet in Lexington

The Bluegrass Chapter of Kentucky Society of Professional Engineers is having their April 9, 1982 meeting at the Springs Motel, 2020 Harrodsburg Road in Lexington.
The social hour will begin at 11:30 a.m., followed by a lunch and a short program.
The program will consist of the presentation of certificates to newly registered professional engineers and land surveyors and a brief legislative overview by Russ Reynolds, Executive Director, of the Kentucky Society of Professional Engineers. Mr. Reynolds will speak on the recent 1982 Kentucky General Assembly and legislation involving engineers and land surveyors.
Certificates will be presented by a representative of the State Registration Board for Kentucky Engineers and Land Surveyors.

Consumer Alert

Consumer Danger Signals

"The best protection against consumer fraud is information. Kentucky consumers need to be alert to the pitfalls of the marketplace," says Attorney General Steven L. Beshear. The consumer protection division of the Attorney General's Office provides the following list of danger signals that should make you stop and think before you act:
Bait and switch selling — Maybe you have inquired about a product advertised at an unbelievably low price, only to have the item degraded by the salesperson or to be told that it is no longer in stock. Once you have been "baited" by the advertisement, the salesperson tries to "switch" you to a more expensive item.
Get rich quick schemes — If you are told that you can make fabulous earnings fast, beware. Do not make any investment until you investigate those earnings' claims to discover if such earnings are realistic.
Oral guarantees — Sellers are legally bound by what a written contract says and not what a salesperson tells you. Do not accept any oral guarantees. Get everything in writing, and be sure you understand what the guarantee means, what it covers, and how long you are protected.
Oral estimates — As with guarantees, get estimates in writing. In addition, get a written assurance that no additional work will be done without your consent. To be safe, obtain several estimates and be suspicious of an unusually low estimate.
Golden opportunity — Do not rush into buying something because it is a once-in-a-lifetime, last chance, or golden opportunity to get in on a good thing. You are probably the "last chance" the salesperson has to make the sale. Take your time and do comparative shopping before you buy.
Blank contracts and blank checks — Never sign a contract with blank spaces in it. Fill in all blanks with X's, and of course, never sign a blank check.
You have been specially selected — If you are told you are getting a "special deal" and that few others have this chance, be skeptical. Ask yourself why someone is offering you such a special bargain.
Just a few dollars more per week — When you purchase an item or service on credit, find out exactly how much you will be paying for the item and how much for the credit. Figure it out on paper before you sign the contract. If a salesperson tells you the item will only cost "a few more dollars per week," find out how many dollars and how many weeks.
Free — Beware of the misleading use of the word "free." Many things are given "free" only if some other purchase is made.
It is only a legal term — Consumers told to disregard a contract or other materials, because "it's only a legal term" should be especially careful to obtain and closely read a copy of that form. Those "legal forms" may require you to pay more than you intended. Do not be tricked by this tactic.
If you would like this or other consumer information, write to the Office of The Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or call the toll-free consumer hotline 1-800-432-9257.

Notify the IRS of address change

If you change your address or name you should notify the Internal Revenue Service Center, Memphis, Tenn. 37501. Prompt notification of these changes will insure correct crediting of your tax accounts, and faster receipts of any refunds due you.
Notification of address or name changes should only be made to the Internal Revenue Service Center, or by correcting the information on the tax return label.
Please do not request name and address changes on the pre-printed estimated tax vouchers (1040ES). The Service Center does not make name and address changes from 1040ES vouchers.

Turkey permits delayed

Shipment of turkey hunting permits to county court clerks may not be completed until April 5 or later because of a printing delay, state Fish and Wildlife officials said, but the permits will be available for sale at Fort Knox when the season opens there on Saturday, April 10.
Special arrangements have been made for an early delivery of the permits to the Meade County Court Clerk, Mike Jones, and he, in turn, has arranged for their sale at the Fort Knox Hunt Control Headquarters (Building 1060) on Ireland Avenue.
The permits, which cost $6.50 and which are required of all turkey hunters in addition to a valid Kentucky hunting license, will reach all other county clerks in ample time for hunters who plan to take advantage of the turkey season elsewhere in the state.
The season will begin April 17 and run for two weeks (through April 30) in Bath, Rowan, Pike, Letcher, Menifee, Harlan, Butler, Crittenden and Christian County east of U.S. 41A, as well as on the Pioneer Weapons and Pine Mountain wildlife management areas.
A seven-day season (through April 25) will be the rule in Ballard, Casey, Leslie, McCreary and Marion counties and on the Beaver Creek and Redbird wildlife areas. At Land Between the Lakes, the season will run from April 18 through April 25 and on Ft. Campbell from April 10 through April 25, with no hunting there on Mondays and Tuesdays.
The Ft. Knox season, where only limited turkey hunting is offered to off-post civilians, is scheduled for all Saturdays and Sundays in April, depending on military training schedules and hunters must apply in person the Sunday or Monday before the hunt between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. at Hunt Control Headquarters.
The limit is one turkey gobbler per hunter per year, except that two turkeys may be taken if one is harvested from Ft. Knox, Ft. Campbell or Land Between the Lakes.
Hunting hours are from one-half hour before sunrise until noon (prevailing time) except at Ft. Campbell and Land Between the Lakes, where turkeys may be hunted until one-half hour after sunset. All turkeys harvested must be checked at an official check station.
