Don Mills to speak here

Don Mills, former editor of the Lexington Herald and now candidate for the sixth district congressional seat held by Rep. Larry Hopkins, will be the speaker at the Rotary Club meeting at Carlisle, Thursday, Aug. 19. The meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the Old Railroad Depot.

A moment of laughter
At a Friday luncheon in honor of retiring Circuit Judge John P. Lair (center), his temporary replacement, District Judge G. A. Famularo engaged Judge Lair and his wife.

Blue Licks Memorial

Those entering Blue Licks State Park this week for the Bi-Centennial celebration will see an inscription on the front of a monument in honor of those who died in the battle 200 years ago. It was the last battle of the Revolutionary War, in which American soldiers walked into an ambush, set by British-led Indians. ## Famularo appointed acting Circuit Judge

Farewell lunch for Judge Lair

District Judge G. A. Famularo has been appointed Acting Circuit Judge until a replacement is named by Governor John Y. Brown, Famularo told The Mercury Friday.

Famularo made the announcement while attending going-away party for Circuit Judge John P. Lair, held in the downtown courtroom Friday noon. Lair has announced his retirement, effective Aug. 16.

Members of a nominating committee has been formed to make recommendations to the Governor about whom he should appoint to fill the Circuit Judge's position. On that committee are Roger Womack of Carlisle, Jack Richardson of Pendleton County, Robert Atkins of Mt. Olivet, Vesah DeLoach of Nicholas, and Steve Ansdorich of Harrison County.

"We have not had any meetings, nor have we had any instructions as to the matter of recommending a replacement," Roger Womack told The Mercury.

The party, which was organized by the Nicholas Circuit Clerk's office of Sally Watkins, was a surprise for Judge Lair. Present to pay their respects were circuit clerks, past and present, from the 18th circuit, including Beulah Hughes of Nicholas County and Audrey Dryden of Robertson County, and about 35 longtime friends of Judge Lair in Nicholas County.

"It was a wonderful person to work for," long-time Nicholas Circuit Clerk Beulah Hughes said. "It will take a big person to fill his shoes."

Judge Lair made no formal speech at the luncheon party. When asked if you were going to the judge replied, "you don't know what you're asking. If I once get started, I may still be talking a lot of cliche."

"I am very appreciative of all the work of the clerks and thankful for the lunch they have put on today. You must understand that a judge cannot function without good clerks and those who see Judge Lair was it."

New tobacco law impact is explained

by Sen. Walter "Doc" Hollifield

In the face of strong opposition, the Senate has passed, and the President signed into law, the "No Net Cost Tobacco Program Act of 1982." The legislation makes sweeping changes to the tobacco program in order to strengthen the program and enable it to more effectively withstand future challenges, but most importantly, it leaves the price support and allotment systems basically intact.

Credit for enactment of the legislation goes in large part to tobacco growers in the course of extensive meetings producers overwhelmingly endorsed the concept of a program that would be operated as if no net cost to taxpayers. This position makes tobacco unique among all commodities in that farmers will be paying their way.

At the heart of the revised support program is the creation of producer-financed reserves, to assure that the Commodity Credit Corporation does not incur losses in its 1982 and subsequent crop year programs.

The bill requires that a no-cost reserve will be established for each of the 13 producer loan associations that administer tobacco loan programs under contract with the Commodity Credit Corporation.

The reserves for each association to be established as either a "no net cost tobacco fund" administered by the loan association with oversight by the Secretary of Agriculture, or as a "no net cost tobacco account" to be managed by the Commodity Credit Corporation. The choice is up to each individual association.

Producers desiring prior support will be required to contribute at the time of sale, an amount per pound of tobacco that will assure a no net cost program. The initial contribution required of burley producers is expected to be in the range of one cent to two cents per pound. Contribution requirements will be established periodically by each association in consultation with the Secretary of Agriculture.

Since all farmers benefit from the tobacco price support program and producers across Kentucky preferred their willingness to contribute to a producer-financed reserve on the condition that all growers contribute, I amended the act to achieve that goal. The amendment specifies that begin...

Catholic church dedicated before overflowing crowd

An estimated 200 people, many from out-of-town, made up the standing-room only crowd attending the dedication of the new Shrine of Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church here on Sunday.

The Most Reverend William A. Scales, Bishop of the Diocese of Covington, celebrated the Mass with local pastor Rev. Joseph Santini and the other eight visiting priests, including former pastor, Rev. Herman Kamlage.

The new Shrine was handed over to the Bishop by the building committee: Raymond Koser, chairman and spokesman, James Simons, L. A. L. Thompson, Gary Gilbert and Rodney Brookshire.

Both Gary Gilbert and Rodney Brookshire were baptized into the Catholic Church on Aug. 8 — one week before the dedication.

Miss Kristi Robinson, who entered the Sisters of Notre Dame Convent on the day of dedication, read the first reading and Helen Kury read the second one. Miss Robinson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Conley, Carlisle.

Joseph H. Conley, parish council president, and Linda Parah led the Offertory Procession that presented the offering and the bread and wine to the Bishop.

Music was presented throughout the program by Mrs. Mary Catherine Kaapke, organist, and Mrs. Linda Kandelshagen, guitarist. The choir led the congregation singing throughout and presented "Hail Mary/Gloria Woman" during the Meditation, directed by Mrs. Rose Marie Parah. Mrs. Brenda Lawrence and Mrs. Knazke sang a duet and the children of the parish sang at the offertory.

A reception was held after the dedication in the St. John's Memorial Room and on the rectory patio.

The St. John's Memorial Room will be open to the public on page 18.

Historical schedule For Blue Licks celebration

The Nicholas County Historical Society will sponsor a history booth and participate in the parade during the Blue Licks Bi-Centennial celebration this week.

The booth will be located on the porch of the museum at the park. Pictures and drawings by Patsy Willis Guzman and one page histories will be depicted on the following subjects: Pre-1800 Blue Licks, written by Don Soudy of Mayfield and pre-1800 annual drawings by Mrs. Guzman; Pioneer Era, The Battle, The Spa Era, present day Blue Licks, written by Joan W.

Conley and accompanied by related pictures belonging to Roy Blanton of Lexington; an 1827 Blue Licks program and drawing of the old Blue Licks Springs cover, loaned by Lucille Freese, Madison, written and sketched by Everett Charles Skreen of Bardonia, and British papers relating to the Blue Licks battle, copies of which were sent by George Parrish of San Rafael, California.

The Madison article has been submitted to save space, but will be printed in its entirety in the Historical News. — See Historical on page 18
