IGA to help others with P&G Special Olympic coupon

This coming year your local IGA is lending help to a very worthy cause — the 1983 Special Olympics, a program of athletic competition for mentally handicapped children and adults.

First of all, IGA will be donating a nickel per Procter & Gamble Special Olympic coupon redeemed at IGA before Jan. 22, 1983. The IGA donations will be up to a maximum of $10,000. This is in addition to the nationwide Procter & Gamble donation of a nickel per coupon. Coupons will be sent out to local residents through the mail this week.

Secondly, IGA will serve as a headquarters for information about the Special Olympic program in this area. Those wishing to volunteer their services or those knowing of a possible Special Olympian in this area can contact their local IGA store manager.

Thirdly, the national IGA organization, the nation's largest voluntary group of independent food retailers, will spearhead a campaign challenging the food industry to donate food products to feed more than 4,000 Special Olympic participants at the 1983 International Summer Special Olympic games. The goal of the industry-wide effort is to secure donations from national food suppliers and manufacturers to reduce Special Olympic food costs.

IGA stores across the country will also be entering the Procter & Gamble Display Contest. IGA stores will display their support for Special Olympics and have a chance to win a $1,000 donation to the Special Olympic program in their area.

Nationally, IGA is encouraging involvement of local IGA retailers and store personnel on a one-to-one basis with Special Olympics promotions and activities all year long.
