A budget of $11,000 to $12,000 should be adequate to fund the beginning year of an economic development drive with businessmen providing the leadership. He said that money could be used for projects like putting together local Rotary Club on the industrial possibilities of the community, researching and including pertinent statistical information, jobbing, light travel and development, and working on development of a new industrial site.

Mr. Pittman got that some money would also be required for training of members of any leadership group.

Charles Cox said that the felt what the community needed was just recruitment. He proposed that the Chamber of Commerce be reorganized and revived. He pointed to achievements like houses, to roads and library districts. As far as specifics on the Arnold-headed drive for job reform, Ford said that one of the first changes needs to be placing priority on a salary and doing away with the "head count" to determine state reimbursement. "That is absolutely the worst way to fund anything," Ford said that he had heard testimony revealing that county jailers have actually locked up prisoners at 11 p.m. and released them at 1 a.m. in order to collect a two-day detainer fee from the state.

Rep. Arnold, who was also at the courthouse Saturday, said that he has heard of a move that may be upcoming in the session to lighten the punishment against drunk drivers.

Sen. Ford said that if such a move came, he "didn't see how I could oppose it. It's awfully hard to argue with the accident statistics."

As for the overall working of the legislature, Ford says "there has been a lot of change" since he was named "Outstanding Professional Senator" in Blair on Main Street.

The accident report filed by Allen Earlywine states that Tischer's car was stopped at the driver's window at the bank Friday morning around 11 a.m., when Tischer attempted to maneuver his vehicle around hers and did not detect in an accident report filed by Carlisle Patrolman Virgil Ditcher.

Ditcher's report describes an accident at Carter's gas station on Route 26 Sunday afternoon that involved a station driven by Gerald Adams, 26, Carlisle, and James P. Knapp, 24, Doyonville Street.

The report states that Adams' car was parked at the gas station, while the driver's kid from Route 26 and "hid on car" into Adams' vehicle.

The wreck caused non-damaging damage to the fender area of both cars.

Yet another accident to Carlisle was attributed to the icy winter weather, as William Stone, Route 3, Carlisle, and Mrs. Elizabeth Tischer, Route 4, Carlisle, were involved in a minor fender-bump in the lot of the First National

CORN
Because of large crop production in the U.S., Canada and Eastern Europe, it is expected that world grain production in 1981 will be a record 1,215 million tons, reported Dr. Steven S. Rogovin. —"Give the actual crop size is now an accepted fact," said Rogovin, "the main-size variables have become the dominant price-determining factors to watch."

WHEAT
At this point, 1982 looks to Rogovin like a year of abundant supplies and low prices for wheat. "It will be difficult for farmers to cover the cost of borrowed capital," said the economist.

PRODUCTION INPUTS
INTEREST RATES — Interest rates are expected to continue a slow decline. Dr. Kim Anderson predicts average short-term loan rates will range between 12-17 percent in March.

— Long-term interest rates should decline approximately two percent below current rates, but prices probably will rise only one to two cents during the first quarter of 1982, and with bond production down slightly, long prices probably will rise only one to two cents during the first quarter of 1982.

HOUSING AND PIGS
Pork production is likely to be down about four percent during the first quarter of 1982, and with bond production down slightly, long prices probably will rise only one to two cents during the first quarter of 1982.
