State collections up

Total collections for the state general, road and agency funds for the first seven months of 1982 are running $106 million, or 6.9 percent over collections for the comparable period in 1981. The departments of revenue and finance announced last week.

The growth in revenues is actually understated by approximately $12 million, since the end of the month fall is a weekend and this amount was processed the first working day of February, according to a report from Finance Secretary George E. Fisher and Revenue Commissioner E. C. Geary.

General Fund collections for the first seven months of 1982 total $120,266,835, exclusive of the income tax adjustment noted above. No coal severance tax was collected in February, but the month fall is a weekend and this amount was processed the first working day of February, according to a report from Finance Secretary George E. Fisher and Revenue Commissioner E. C. Geary.

Individual income taxes for the first seven months of 1982 are up $12 million, or 1.7 percent, over the comparable 1981 period. This is largely attributable to the increase in the motor fuel tax rates, and the acceleration of property tax payments due in the earlier days of the state fiscal year.

IRS notes . . .

Taxpayers receiving unemployment compensation for the first time in 1982 are eligible for a 10 percent increase in the federal tax credit for state income taxes. This increase is attributable to the increase in the federal tax credit for state income taxes. This increase is attributable to the increase in the federal tax credit for state income taxes.
