Social Security getting tough on overpayments

People who have received overpayments from Social Security can expect to be contacted about the need for repayment. Under a new policy, money owed to Social Security will be more aggressively collected.

The tougher policy is a result of standards established jointly by the General Accounting Office and the Department of Justice. The standards are expected to result in recovery of a higher percentage of money owed to the Federal Government.

In general, money owed to Social Security results from overpayment — payments people receive to which they are not entitled. The law requires that these overpayments be paid back. This is usually done through a lump-sum payment or by withholding portions of future checks due the beneficiary.

Overpayments occur when people fail to report a change in circumstances that affect their entitlement to benefits. Marriage of a widow or dependent, earnings over the annual limit, or stopping school while receiving student's benefits, are typical examples of events that affect entitlement to benefits. The most common cause of overpayments is failure to notify Social Security when a person expects to earn over the annual limit for earnings.

SSA has a policy of helping beneficiaries avoid overpayments to the extent possible. When people are awarded benefits, we send them a special leaflet explaining what they need to report to Social Security.

State Police plan for Labor Day

With Labor Day fast approaching, Captain Kenneth Smith, Kentucky State Police Post Commander at Dry Ridge, said that troopers will again be out in force. Captain Smith implemented a six-point enforcement plan during the Fourth of July weekend this year and it will be used during Labor Day. The plan aimed at saving lives consists of:

(1) Assignment of all available uniformed officers to patrol duty.

(2) Use of Vascar (visual average speed computer and recorder) on the interstates.

(3) Placement of road blocks on other highways so troopers can inspect for defective equipment, up to date insurance, valid drivers license, etc.

(4) Use of air patrol to aid in detection of speeders.

(5) Formation of DUI teams to get drunk drivers off the road.

(6) Assignment of a full complement of detectives to handle criminal complaints.

Captain Smith said, "The plan has been adopted statewide in hopes of reducing the number of accidents and fatalities. Last Labor Day weekend 875 accidents and four fatalities were recorded in Kentucky."

There will be eight more troopers patrolling the 10 counties assigned to the Dry Ridge Post during the Labor Day weekend as compared to the Fourth of July. Because of several special details the Dry Ridge Post did not have its full complement of troopers. Even though we had eight fewer men it was evident that the rest were very visible and active. There were 860 traffic citations issued, 1172 vehicles inspected, 70 motorist assists, 209 courtesy notices, and 17 drunk drivers arrested. There were other activities counted, but this gives you an idea of what occurred," Smith said.

WEDCO fees start Sept. 1

On July 1, 1982, WEDCO District Health Department experienced reductions in monies for public health programs. While trying to absorb this loss of revenue during past months, it has become evident that we cannot continue to do so.

Effective Sept. 1, 1982, WEDCO District Health Department, representing Bourbon, Clark, Harrison, Nicholas and Scott County Health Centers, will be charging a fee based upon one's ability to pay (standardized sliding fee scale) for the following types of services: adult and child physical exams, x-rays and individual skin testing. A $50 fee for the installation of radio-active gauges has also been approved by the WEDCO Board of Health.

For more information on the fees charged for services contact your local health center.
