Necessary discipline

The special requirements of military discipline have always imposed essential restraints on men and women of the armed services. These may offend some civil libertarians, but they are indispensable for an effective military capable of defending the nation's vital interests.

Recently, the U.S. Supreme Court took that same sensible view in a unanimous ruling that denied enlisted personnel the right to sue their superior officers for alleged violations of constitutional rights.

Workers become stockholders

Problem: An industry is failing. Management blames the workers for high wage demands and low productivity. Labor blames management for putting profit ahead of jobs and for destroying morale.

Who runs the ESOP company — management or labor? In some ESOP companies, management retains majority interest and total control of the business decisions. In other ESOP companies, workers share in management decisions.

Low blow televising the Senate

As someone said long ago, where you stand depends often on where you sit. From where President Reagan sits, people with incomes of $60,000 a year are at the lower end of the scale.

It's time for the U.S. Senate to join the House of Representatives on the tube. Just recently, television viewers could see and hear the budget debate on the floor of the House, but the debate in the Senate was broadcast on radio.

My style of style... Ripped, sloppy, baggy shoulderline finally puts me in chic crowd

"You can't go out in that old torn, baggy t-shirt," my wife tells me. "You're talked about."

When you come to school 45 minutes early every day, skip class regularly and bring excuses to your parents again.

David Leque, a math teacher at Goose Creek High School in South Carolina, wrote: "I'm through teaching kids who do everything in the world to keep from working."

through teaching kids who jeer at you in the halls, bang on the door when you come to school 45 minutes early every day, skip class regularly and bring excuses to your parents again.

Russ Metz is absolutely amazed at its fortitude and foresight in fashions. She thinks that when I put on my leg warmers for my annual aerobic exercises, it to keep my vertebrae warm from falling out.

As ordinary Russ: 1938-1939 Between Guilford and Biltmore, in the state of Mississippi, on a deserted beach, a bath was sleeping off.

Memory Lane

to drive away the September chill of the previous night spent on the beach. His bloodshot eyes could not take it, so he sought the warmth of the morning sun.

RETIREMENT? ARE YOU KIDDING? I'M ONLY 26.

Charles Arthur Little got to his feet, brushed the grass and bugs from his clothing and made frantically to catch the train. But he could see approaching, slowly padding its way through the dark morning mist the dying embers of the jungle fire.

Whether you are 26 or 56, you need to begin to prepare for that time. You can prepare for your retirement and save money on your taxes with an Individual Retirement Account.
