Deer, small game seasons set

An earlier closing date for quail and rabbit seasons is the only major change in 1983 hunting regulations approved by the Fish and Wildlife Commission at its regular quarterly meeting in Frankfort Feb. 27-28.

The commission voted to close rabbit and quail seasons after Feb. 12. These seasons, which were open through Feb. 28 last year, will begin on the traditional third Thursday in November (Nov. 17). Grouse season will run from Nov. 17 through Feb. 28, 1984.

The 1983 gun deer season will open Nov. 5 in 117 of Kentucky's 120 counties (Lincoln, Knott and Knox are closed to all deer hunting) and will run for three, five or 10 consecutive days. The state will again be divided into six different harvest zones with differing deer hunting regulations in each.

Gun hunters in zone one may take any deer during all 10 days of the gun season. Zone two gun hunters will have one day (Nov. 14) of either sex hunting, but will be limited to antlered deer on the first nine days of the season. In zone three, only antlered deer may be taken during the 10-day hunt.

In zone four, antlered deer may be taken during a five-day season, while a three-day antlered deer only season is the rule for zone five. Zone six is closed to all deer hunting, whether by gun or bow.

The deer bow hunting season is set for Oct. 1 through Nov. 3 and Nov. 16 through Dec. 31. Crossbows may be used only during the Nov. 19-28 portion of the archery season. Archers in zones four and five may take only antlered deer, while bow hunters in zones one, two and three may take either antlered or antlerless deer.

Squirrel season will open Aug. 20, and run through Oct. 31, with the second phase of the season set for Nov. 17 through Dec. 31. Hunting and trapping seasons for furbearers will run from Nov. 17 through Jan. 31. Bag limits and other regulations remain basically unchanged.

Top high school juniors to be chosen this month

Teachers and school administrators have between now and March 31 to nominate Kentucky's top high school juniors for the 1983 Governor's Scholars Program, Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. has announced.

Selection standards and forms for nomination of students have been mailed to all school superintendents, principals and heads of private and special schools, Brown said. Nomination forms for distribution to teachers and counselors were included in each packet.

Two hundred and fifty outstanding students will be chosen for the new academic program to be held July 3 through Aug. 5 at Centre College. Brown said there will be no charge to students for tuition, room or board. Funds for the program are being provided by government, business and foundations.

Students will have a choice of concentration in the study of mathematics, science, humanities or the social sciences, during the intensive five-week session. They will also take part in a core seminar on the program theme "Science, Technology and Kentucky's Future" and in regularly scheduled discussions on personal development, emphasizing the individual's relationship to society.

Every school district will be given the opportunity to submit names and applications of at least one primary nominee and one alternate to participate in the program, providing they meet the minimum standards, Brown said. All primary nominees who meet the basic standards will be invited to attend the program.

Basketball awards and dance to be held

Little League basketball officials have announced that an awards presentation and a dance will be held Saturday night, March 12, at 6:30 p.m. at the NCHS gym.

The awards will be for the 1982-83 season. That ceremony will be followed by the dance until around 10 p.m.

Early glaucoma detection can prevent blindness

An estimated 5,400 Americans went blind last year from glaucoma. Many of them didn't have to, says the National Society to Prevent Blindness-Kentucky.

"People just are not aware of glaucoma and its sight-robbing characteristics," says Elinor Zollinger, executive director of the Kentucky affiliate. "It is the leading cause of blindness today, yet many people do not know the affliction exists or how it attacks."

Zollinger explains that glaucoma is the result of build-up of fluid pressure in the eye. "It sneaks up on you without any suspicious symptoms or pain. It eats away at vision as it progresses. This silent threat to sight is estimated to affect 25,000 Kentuckians and half of them don't know it."

Early detection with a quick, simple glaucoma test is the key to preventing loss of vision. The Society recommends that adults over age 35 have a glaucoma checkup at least every two years. Those at greatest risk are people with a family history of glaucoma, diabetics, and those with other sight-related problems, such as severe nearsightedness or severe farsightedness.

To focus attention on the disease, the Society conducts an active Glaucoma Alert Program. Its aim is to raise public awareness of this sight-stealer and to encourage routine testing for glaucoma through doctors' offices, hospital clinics and corporate medical departments.

"Screening for glaucoma will help get the disease under control. People just have to get on the offense with this menace. Individuals can do this by promoting glaucoma alert programs in their communities," Zollinger comments.

To expand glaucoma detection projects and educate the public about the disease, the Society sponsors the Glaucoma Alert Program. Screening projects to uncover glaucoma are conducted periodically in communities throughout Kentucky.

To find out more about glaucoma or the Glaucoma Alert Program, write the Society: Prevent Blindness, 727 Starks Building, Louisville, Ky. 40202.

One wreck in county

One wreck was reported in the county during recent days, the Nicholas Sheriff's office reports.

Reports said the accident happened on Highway 32, about two miles north of Carlisle on Saturday, March 5, at about 2 p.m.

Cars involved were driven by Leonard H. Watkins, 28, of Route 3, and Douglas W. McCarty, 25, also of Route 3.

Reports said vehicle number one, driven by Watkins, was making a right turn when his vehicle was struck in the back by the McCarty vehicle, knocking the Watkins vehicle into a parked car.

ED FORD APPOINTED

State Senator Ed Ford, D-Cynthiana, has been appointed by the governor to represent Kentucky in discussions with other states on the disposal of low-level radioactive waste materials.

Ford will serve as a negotiator with other states, to determine if Kentucky will join a compact and which one.

Ford is chairman of the agriculture and natural resources subcommittee on waste management.

SIN WHAT IS IT??

Some say, you can make sin of anything, but c a n you? Sin is transgression of God's law according to the Bible, (I John 3:4). Sin is when we fail to obey God's word, do we know God's word? "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightfully dividing the word of truth." We can not know sin unless we know God's word!

The Good Twins - 4116 College View, Joplin, MO 64801

THE GOOD TWINS

"There is MORE To A Good Twins Concert Than Just Good Music."

Dwight & Dwayne Good are identical twins, who started singing together at age 3. Growing up in Illinois, their ministry has come to "extend around the world." They sang professionally after graduating from Lincoln Christian College, Lincoln, Illinois, in 1958. Since then, they have travelled over 2 million miles, sung in 14 different countries, memorized over 1500 gospel songs, appeared before kings, governors, at political rallies, Miss America pageants, state and country fairs, conventions and in "thousands of different churches." They have appeared with Anita Bryant, Johnny Cash, Art Linkletter, Dale Evans, Johnny Mann, Charles Colson, Ronald Reagan and many other notables.

They have released 25 albums, and their album "How Great Thou Art" has sold over 50,000 copies, in 1961, the twins made musical history as they became the first to sing with prerecorded background tapes in their concerts. This novel method is being used by all major singing artists on record and TV.

During 1979, the twins appeared with Anita Bryant in 12 concerts throughout the United States and this is what she says of their singing: "I have been blessed to have worked with the Good Twins many times over the last several months. It is a real joy to share with them in the sacred rallies we have done together. Their close and perfect harmony and unusual arrangements enrapture their audiences wherever they appear. I highly recommend the Good Twins for sacred rallies and church services. Their devotion to our Lord is evident to all who hear them."

The Good Twins have appeared on the PTL TV show. Johnny Mann of the popular TV show, Stand Up And Cheer, says, "Their intonation, interpretation, range and overall performance are close to perfection as human beings can be and their only desire is to serve our Lord. They bring the joy and peace of Jesus to all who are reaching out for happiness."

Unbelievable but true. It was 78 degrees Friday and the first sunbather appeared at Lake Carnico. No one had yet dared to take to the water, however. The swimming area was still empty. — Mercury photo.

State denies Greyhound request

A hearing officer has recommended that the state Transportation Cabinet deny Greyhound Lines' request to abandon two Eastern Kentucky routes and approve the abandonment of 20 other routes throughout the state.

Greyound would continue serving its routes along KY 15 between Winchester and Hazard and along U.S. 460 between Mt. Sterling and Salyersville if the recommendation is accepted.

A public hearing on the proposed abandonments was held Jan. 18.

Charles Moore, a hearing examiner for the Transportation Cabinet, found "that there is a significant demand for public transportation services by the citizens who live and work in the counties now served by Greyhound" on the two Eastern Kentucky routes.

Abandonment of the routes would "effectively eliminate any reasonable access to public transportation that is currently available to those citizens," he said.

The abandonment of the remaining 20 routes "would not create any adverse effect on the public interest as in a majority of those routes there would be adequate service via parallel-ing interstate type highways," Moore said.

Greyhound had sought the abandonment of 22 routes based on their unprofitability.

The routes recommended for abandonment are along U.S. 60 between Morehead and Mt. Sterling, U.S. 60 between Mt. Sterling and Winchester, U.S. 421 between Lexington and Frankfort, U.S. 60 between Middletown and Louisville, U.S. 42 between Covington and Louisville, KY 448 and KY 73 between Garrett and Irvington, U.S. 60 between Owensboro and Henderson, U.S. 25 between Covington and Lexington, U.S. 27 between Covington and Lexington, KY 32 and U.S. 27 between the U.S. 127-KY 52 intersection south of Danville and Stanford, U.S. 27 between Lancaster and Lexington, Old U.S. 27 between Whitley City and Pine Knot, U.S. 25 between Mt. Vernon and London, U.S. 25 between London and Corbin, U.S. 31W between Elizabethtown and Munfordville, U.S. 31W between Cave City and Bowling Green, U.S. 41 and U.S. 41A between Henderson and Hopkinsville, U.S. 41A between Henderson and Madisonville, KY 120 between Providence and the KY 120-U.S. 41A intersection, and U.S. 45 between Mayfield and Fulton.

Exceptions to the recommended order will be accepted during the next 20 days. Parties to the proceedings may submit their exceptions in writing to Commissioner of Vehicle Regulation Tim Helson through March 15.

To The People of Nicholas County

I have been asked to write a letter about the changes that have occurred in Morehead since the legal sale of alcohol began in January.

In September, Morehead voted in favor of the sale of alcohol for the first time in more than thirty years. While it is still too early to measure the full effects of this change, statistics released by the Morehead Police Department indicate a sharp increase in the number of alcohol related offenses between January and February of 1982 and January and February of 1983.

According to Fred Barnsdale, Chief of Police in Morehead, the increases are as follows:

	January & February 1982	January & February 1983	% Increase
Public Intoxication:	23	56	143%
Driving Under the Influence:	8	51	540%
*Other:	0	9	900%

*Public Drinking, Sale to a Minor, Possession by a Minor

According to Chief Barnsdale, 25% of all offenses for January and February were people from counties other than Rowan County. This also is a significant increase over the same period last year.

It must be kept in mind that those figures represent only increases due to the sale of beer and wine. The sale of whiskey does not begin until the dispute over charges of bribery and pay-offs for licenses has been cleared up.

Many of the effects of the sale of alcoholic beverages are not measureable at this time, and may never be measureable. How does one calculate the number of divorces, losses of jobs, child abuses, and other tragedies related to the excessive use of alcohol?

Sincerely,

Don Mantooth, Pastor
