

Driver did not survive

A head-on truck collision on U.S. 60 at the Lake Road killed one driver and the other miraculously escaped injury Wednesday, March 10. Both men were from Ohio. The picture shows the south-bound truck that was split in

Deaths

WILLIAM THOMAS FAULCONER

William Thomas Faulconer, 70, Cynthiana, died Tuesday, March 9, 1965 at his residence of an apparent heart attack.

He was the son of the late W. T. and Lina Kate Wigneworth Faulconer, a retired barber, having owned shops in Cynthiana and Lexington, a member of the First United Methodist Church, Oddfellows Lodge and St. Andrew's Lodge #244M #1.

Survivors are his wife, Mattie Patton Faulconer; two daughters, Mrs. Mel (Virginia) Courtney and Mrs. Harvey (Helen) Shensell, both of Lexington; three brothers, Harry Faulconer, Clark County; three sisters, Mrs. Grace Richardson, Asheville, NC, Mrs. Kathleen Taylor, Toledo, OH, and Mrs. Geneva Fields, Virginia Beach, VA; five grandchildren and a great-grandson.

Funeral services were Friday, March 11, at the Whaley Funeral Home by the Rev. Robert Wallace. Burial in Belle Grove Cemetery.

Cox Monument Co.
Phone 74-1443
60 Highway East
Morehead, Kentucky

To The People of Nicholas County

To those of you who have not quite decided how to vote in the coming Wet/Dry Election, I would like to relate a little episode which took place in our grocery following the 1942 vote when the entire county voted Dry by a large majority:

On Monday morning following the first dry weekend, Mr. Bill Owens, who had served as jailer for several years, came into our store. He said to my father, R. W. (Bob) Neal, "Bob, I don't know how I'm going to make it. I don't have a soul in jail." He was really worried. In those days, the jailer's pay was determined partly by the number of prisoners he kept. Mr. Bill told us that the jail was usually filled to capacity on weekends.

Some people will argue that there would be no more drinking if we were legally wet than there is now. The above account certainly proves that to be untrue. If concerned citizens will come out and vote, this town can stay Legally Dry.

Thank you
Bill Owens Neal

Printed by Citizens for a Better Community — Orlan Marshall, Treasurer

Mr. Eugene Neal

EASTERN KENTUCKY. HARVEY SLOANE'S FIRST KENTUCKY HOME. 1964-65.

I thought you'd like to see some of my pictures from my old photo album. The snapshots could be better, but to me the memories are what count.

Eastern Kentucky
Fall 1964

That's me back in 1964. When I first started swinging that ax I darn near chopped off my foot in Eastern Kentucky. You know, was my first Kentucky home. Those were some good years for me—and they were the big reason I decided to make Kentucky my lifelong home.

Iroz, KY '64

This is where I worked in Eastern Kentucky. It's where Adeline's Clothing Store is right here to the Whitesburg Appalachian Regional Hospital. It was new then. What a life! I've been all these years.

The program I was working on was to help identify unknown diseases. Naturally, I worked with a lot of coal miners. I learned that coal miners are dying to Eastern Kentucky and I'll never forget that.

Whitesburg, KY, Fall '64

I worked in 18 counties in Eastern Kentucky, and we sent many sick people right here to the Whitesburg Appalachian Regional Hospital. It was new then. What a life! I've been all these years.

This church, like my memories of the church I went to, reminds me of the strong family values of our part of Kentucky. All America would be better off if they could live a little of their life with you—the 1965.

Route 3, Iroz, KY, Winter '65

I used to look at old Eastern Kentucky tombstones to find out when people were born and when they died. Today, I realize I care more than ever about the quality of those years in-between. That's why I want to be your Governor.

18 years later!
We've all come a long way since then. Here's my family now. On the left is Patrick (8), then Kathy, I'm holding Curtis (5) and Robert (11). Eastern Kentucky has come a long way, too, from those days of one doctor per county. But there's so much more that needs doing. I'm running for Governor because I want the chance to help again.

Printed by Citizens for a Better Community — P.O. Box 1160, Frankfort, KY 40602, Thomas C. Cannon, Treasurer