Derby Day

Breakfast is back in Frankfort

The Derby Day Governor's Breakfast, returned to its rightful place in the Capital City this year, will be surrounded by one of the most extensive musical and entertainment programs ever, according to Lynda Jalbert of the Department of the Arts and Steve Wilson of the Commerce Cabinet, who planned this year's event.

The breakfast, for which an invitation is required, runs from 8 a.m. to noon on Derby Day, May 7, but the "country fair" activities and entertainment on the grounds between the capitol and the annex will continue until 2 p.m.

Jalbert said that tickets for the Derby Breakfast accompany the invitations this year, "and the tickets will be necessary to get into the breakfast tent."

Headliners on the stellar entertainment list at the Derby Day affair in Frankfort will be country and western stars Tom T. Hall, Merle Travis and Kenny Price; famous jazz artist Al Hirt, and popular comedienne Lilly Tomlin.

Kentucky's talented Juggernaut Jug Band out of Louisville and the Deep South Cloggers, four peppy youngsters from Jackson, Ky., will also perform during the day-long festivities.

In addition to the musical entertainment, the grounds surrounding the breakfast tent and the Governor's Mansion will sport some 25 Kentucky Craft booths with items for sale, and a number of Kentucky visual artists with displays and sales of their work.

Also on display, in the Derby Breakfast Tent, will be Kentucky's largest handmade quilt, the 30 by 30 foot "Kentucky Flower Basket" quilt designed by Mrs. Meizie Wilson of Louisville, and created by quilters from all over the state. It was assembled recently at Locust Grove in Louisville by Kentucky quilters, and will be used on the Derby float of Humana, Inc. of Louisville.

Festivities at the breakfast and the day-long "fair" will include clown on stilts, with balloons and riding bicycles and unicycles, jugglers, a magician, hot air balloons, vendors selling cotton candy, popcorn, hotdogs and soft drinks, "really all the color and fun of a big country fair," said Jalbert.

Parking will be available in the capital annex garage and around the capitol, but to avoid the congestion in that area, parking is also being made available and shuttle buses being run from the Human Resources parking lots, the state office building lots and from the capital plaza tower parking facilities. Buses will begin their services at 7:30 a.m. and the last run will leave the capitol at 2:30 p.m. to return to these parking facilities.

MCC graduation is announced

Maysville Community College's 14th annual graduation ceremony will be held May 6 at 7 p.m. outside on the east lawn of the college campus.

If inclement weather prevents the outdoor celebration, contingent plans are to hold the ceremony in the Maysville Players' Opera Theatre on the same day and time. A final decision concerning the location will be made 24 hours prior to the commencement.

Dr. Art Gallaher, University of Kentucky chancellor for the Lexington campus, will be the honored guest speaker. Greetings to the graduates and assembled guests will be offered by MCC Director Dr. James C. Shires, MCC Advisory Board Chairman Mrs. C.C. Calvert Jr., and MCC Student Government President Jeff Lytle. Dr. Harry Benson, MCC Assistant Director for Academic Affairs, will present the candidates for degrees. Dr. James Shires will bestow the diplomas.

Rev. Mark Braaten, minister at Maysville's Trinity Lutheran Church, will offer the invocation and benediction for the ceremony. Christy Kattelus will provide special vocal music. She will be accompanied by Nancy Heim at the piano.

The 1983 list of graduates will number approximately 75 students. A reception honoring the graduates will be held immediately following the commencement program in the MCC student lounge.

New telephone books to be out next week

You don't have to be an art lover to love the cover of the latest South Central Bell telephone directory — you just have to be proud you're a Kentuckian. This year's cover features outstanding examples of Kentucky handicrafts.

"Kentucky's arts and crafts have attracted nationwide attention in recent years," said Carl Renz, district manager for Bell. "Our first lady, Phyllis George Brown, has played a big role in making Kentucky crafts an important business, as well as an important source of pride for the state. We're pleased to lend a hand in promoting Kentucky with our special directory cover."

Carlisle homes and businesses will begin receiving their directories May 11 with mailing to be completed by May 16. Customers not receiving a directory by May 23 can arrange to receive one promptly by calling the South Central Bell Service Center at the number on their telephone bill.

Barkley announced more food coming for needy

May will bring more than $3.5 million in surplus foods to needy Kentuckians, Agriculture Commissioner Alben W. Barkley II announced.

Barkley said that in addition to the cheese and butter previously available under the surplus foods program, cornmeal, rice, instantized non-fat dry milk and cheddar cheese will be distributed.

"That amount of food will make a significant impact on people's lives," Barkley said. "For people suffering from long-term unemployment, it may be a lifeline until the economy improves."

Barkley said that since this program began in January 1982 it has provided over 15 million pounds of cheese and 252,000 pounds of butter.

The new items will continue to be distributed throughout the year, Barkley said, and other items may be added later.

Saltwell ..... By Mrs. Fred Hollar

Rev. Bruce Sheffield, Mrs. Verena Earlywine and Tommy Rodgers were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cain in Headquarters Church basement.

Mrs. Naomi Gaunce spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Steve Gaunce, Lexington. Steve entered Humana Hospital, Lexington, the past Tuesday and underwent surgery the later part of the week, and he remains for treatment.

The Saltwell Church entertained with a fellowship supper on Saturday night.

Mrs. Bobby Brady, Mrs. Betty Hollar and Mrs. Hazel Snapp attended revival services at Sardis two nights during the week, where Rev. Danny Philpot, Lexington, was evangelist. The revival was supported by eight churches in the Maysville district.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cain, Mrs. Verena Earlywine, Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Mattox and Joanne White and Mr. and Mrs. Randall Ritchie visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hollar on Sunday.

R.J. Doyle and many others visited Mr. and Mrs. Orville Doyle the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCord and sons Eric and Dustin were Sunday supper guests of Mrs. Hazel Snapp, honoring Mrs. Snapp's birthday.

Mrs. Eddie Ellington, London, spent Friday night and Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Riggs and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Riggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Ritchie and sons Austin and Justin of Warner Robbins, GA returned home Saturday after several days visit here with Mr. and Mrs. Randall Ritchie and other relatives and also attended the wedding of Mark Ritchie and Cindy Livingood.

Some concerned citizens have asked for help this coming Saturday, May 7, to clear the old family cemetery on the property of Harvey Woosley on the Saltwell and Barterville Road.

Mrs. Phyllis Brady and Rev. Bruce Sheffield were among visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Riggs on Sunday afternoon. Roger was a patient at Bourbon General Hospital the past week and underwent surgery but was able to return home on Saturday.

Mrs. Hazel Snapp, Mr. and Mrs. S.B. Ellis, Milford, and Mr. and Mrs. E.T. Gaunce of Paris spent Tuesday with Rev. and Mrs. O.S. Gardner of Shelbyville, honoring the birthday of Mrs. Snapp and Rev. Gardner, whose age and birthdays were only one day apart. He was also a former pastor at the Neave Church for many years.

Billy Maffett, Cynthiana, Mike Sowell and Mike Woosley visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hollar on Saturday afternoon and night.

There will be a miscellaneous shower at the Headquarters Church this Friday night, May 6, at 7 o'clock for Mr. and Mrs. Roger Riggs. All friends are invited.

Carlisle student gets scholarship

Timothy D. Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sanders of Route 3, Carlisle, has been awarded a Baptist Matching Scholarship at Georgetown College, according to Don DeBorde, director of admissions.

Timothy, a student at Nicholas County High School, has participated in a number of activities including Drama Club, National Honor Society, Citizenship Award and Yearbook staff.

Both congressmen agreed on several points, that there is another effort underway this year to get rid of barley price supports, with Perkins claiming that in the end there will be enough votes to defeat that effort. Hopkins was not quite that optimistic and said it would be a close fight.

Audience questions

Persons from the audience were invited to ask the congressmen questions after their main speeches and they did. One of the questions concerned importing tobacco into this country.

"One of the problems with exports and imports is that our barley is higher priced on the world market because our labor costs are higher," Hopkins said. "With regard to imports, the administration wants to include in their Caribbean Basin Initiative, a proposal to let 30 million pounds of tobacco into this country from the Caribbean. I am against that and will work to get that out of the bill."

Another question from the audience came from beef raiser Wayne Shumate. "What can we do about beef imports into this country?" Shumate asked. "They were up 35 percent last year."

Both Perkins and Hopkins responded by saying that the state department has the authority to raise tariffs on beef imports but had just refused to do so. The reasons were because of the volatile situation in central America, with the administration not wanting to make any South American countries madder still, by stopping their beef imports."

Following the speeches came the drawing of more than $5000 in prizes, all given away Saturday and including farm equipment, lawn mowers, sprayers, tobacco presses and others.
