Is a good time to buy a house

"Now is a great time to buy a house," advises Dr. Michael Harford, an assistant professor of real estate at Morehead State University.

"It's a buyer's market right now," he says. "The market has been so slow over the last few years that there is a good inventory of houses available, and obviously when buyers have a large selection to choose from, they are going to get a better price.

"Interest rates also have gone down because inflation has gone down. This makes it a good time to look for money to buy the house with."

The average price of a house in both Kentucky and the nation is $58,000, according to Dr. Harford.

Dr. Harford says a buyer, generally, can afford a house if the monthly payments and the insurance costs are not more than one-third of his take-home pay.

Buyers should search for homes that qualify for government-subsidized loans from such agencies as the FHA, FMA, VA, HUD, and the Kentucky Housing Corporation.

These agencies may require a down payment of just three percent of the total price, while a bank may ask for as much as 20 percent.

If a buyer has an income level which is too high to qualify for a government-subsidized loan, or if he just can't find one of these homes that he likes, there are other ways to help reduce the cost of a house, according to Dr. Harford.

"He can talk to bankers about houses that have foreclosed on. There is a common misconception that banks want to foreclose. When a bank forecloses, it no longer has any money coming in from that house. What makes banks happy is getting that payment monthly, so these houses often have very favorable prices and interest rates attached to them.

Buyers may also ask the seller to finance the home.

"By doing this, the buyer should get an interest rate which is lower than one he would get from a commercial bank."

Dr. Harford believes buyers should contact their local realtors before shopping for a house.

"These people are professionals who are constantly searching for real estate values. Buyers should take advantage of their knowledge of the housing market."

Additional information on home buying is available from Dr. Harford at 606-783-2776.

Though the total volume of material ejected during the eruptions of Mexico's El Chichon volcano was far less than that ejected by Mount St. Helens, the atmospheric impact of the Mexican volcano was far greater, National Geographic reports. One reason is that El Chichon sent most of its ejected material straight up.

Hardy Road to be resurfaced

The state Transportation Cabinet will resurface three miles of KY 1298, Hardy Road, in Nicholas County this summer.

The cabinet will resurface the road from the Harrison County line to KY 32.

Bids for the project will be accepted May 20.

During the past two years the Transportation Cabinet has reduced the average resurfacing cycle on state roads from once every 35 years to once every 15 years.

An Open Letter to the People of the 18th Circuit Court District:

The 18th Circuit Court calendar for the months of April through August has been released by Pam Abnee, Secretary, and Judy Marsh, Court Reporter, and it reveals that during this time Court is in session every day. I was appointed Circuit Judge of this district to administer justice with reasonable speed, fairness and impartiality and this I am doing. However, because of this heavy case load I am at a disadvantage to conduct an active personal day to day campaign.

Therefore, during these ensuing months I am asking you the voters to bear with me—keep me in mind as your candidate seeking a full term for Circuit Judge in the November 8, 1983 election. I also earnestly request the help, support and influence of my friends throughout the district in my campaign and with the hope that Circuit Court will ease up in early fall when I can conduct a full personal campaign.

I will continue my prayers for good health, strength, courage and guidance to carry out my judicial duties and obligations to you, the citizens of this Circuit District.

With my sincere thanks and appreciation for any consideration given me in this matter, I remain.

Very truly yours,

G. A. Famularo

Library Notes

Nicholas County Librarian Jorita Anderson has announced the receipt of several new books.

Letters to E.T. The delight of the unexpected, the warmth, and the humor that made the film so moving now can be found in this fascinating collection of letters received by that beloved creature, E.T. This book also contains many special photographs of E.T.

The Name of the Rose. A medieval murder mystery. Brother William must investigate a series of ghastly deaths. He proves a unique and insightful detective, drawing on the thoughts of the great philosophers and his own dry wit, and collecting secrets from the dark corners of monastic life. This is an elegantly etched novel, filled with humor and spirit and suspense, written by Umberto Eco.

Christine by Stephen King. Arnie Cunningham lives in a small city in western Pennsylvania with his best friend, Dennis and his girlfriend, Leigh. His car's name is Christine. This should be a sweet, perhaps touching story, except that Christine is possessed by an ancient evil, a hellish power.

Icebreaker by John Gardner. James Bond is on a mission bigger and more complex than anything before, in northern Finland, where he must collaborate with agents from the KGB, the CIA and Mossad.

The Summer of Katya by Trevanian. The bestselling author of Shibumi turns his talents to a story of love and horror, set in the golden summer of 1914, in the French Basque village of Salies. The young doctor Montjean falls in love with the sublime Katya.

Home Before Morning, the story of an Army nurse in Vietnam by Lynda Van Devanter. This compelling and forceful autobiography is the story of a girl-next-door who went to nursing school and then did something which shattered her secure world, she joined the Army and was shipped to Vietnam.

Garfield Dines Out by Jim Davis. The phenomenal success of the Garfield books is joined with the charming Sniffy Books series for preschoolers. When children follow Garfield on his adventures, they can scratch and sniff six fragrances with him.

Detective McGruff Sniffs Out a Thief by Megan Durand. Children sniff their way to a stolen chocolate cake in this new book in the Sniffy Books series. Crime Dog McGruff is the star of a current nationwide public service campaign on crime prevention.

And Both Were Young by Madeleine L'Engle. Flip slowly adjusts to life at a Swiss boarding school,where she finds romance and an increasing sense of independence and self-esteem. L'Engle is the author of the Newbery award-winning A Wrinkle in Time which will be a major motion picture in 1984.

Light a Penny Candle by Maeve Binchy. The first novel from an accomplished writer has been highly praised. It is the beautifully told story of two women, one Irish, one English, and their extraordinary friendship.

The Natural Man by Ed McClanahan. This long-awaited first novel is the story of one young man's coming of age in the late 1940's in an out-of-the-way corner of America called Needmore, Ky.

This Family of Women by Richard Peck. A warm and colorful novel that covers from the American West of 1850 to Europe of 1939 and like Woman of Independent Means tells about women who do what they have to do to stay alive.

Tradeoffs by Jane Adams. A journalist who reports on how people adapt to social change, Jane Adams, author of Women On Top, has here created a novel about three women and the dilemmas facing them in their private and professional lives, the choices they are forced to make.

The Fires of July by Sharon Salvato. From the author of Bitter Eden comes this dramatic adventure about the waters of middle-age," to "moving a marriage out of the safety zone and into its exciting potential," this book is a reminder that humor is essential with today's lifestyles.

Question: Does the Church of Christ have music?

Answer: Yes, We sing without the instrument. Why? Because this is all the New Testament scriptures authorize. Look at Epesians 5:19, "Speaking to yourselves in Psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the lord."

This and other questions will be answered in the weeks ahead. If you have a question about the Bible or the church, please write, Chruch of Christ, Box 104, Carlisle, Ky, 40311.
