Kentucky Afield Woodsmen, spare that tree... for the sake of wildlife

A lot of folks wait until the approaching cool weather before sharpening up the chainsaw taking to the woods to clear their way of brush. . . .

Look for trees of these species which are big and which produce heavy seed or nut crops — or which produce a crop every year. Don't cut these trees in favor of species with little value to wildlife, says Jim Durrell, an assistant director in the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' wildlife division and an expert on wildlife foods.

Durrell recommends that all firewood cutters take a few minutes to examine their woodpiles and pick out certain trees to save for wildlife. Durrell says the following species, which are common over most of Kentucky, have high wildlife food value: hackberry, white oak, white oak, chinquapin oak, and black oak, black locust, shagbark hickory, white cherry and red oak. . . .

Also remember that trees provide homes as well as food for many wildlife species. Large tree trunks — those with large hollow places — are scarce and should not be cut. Neither should all dead trees be killed, Durrell says, since these provide insects which feed woodpeckers.

MSU Choral Festival features 250 voices

Conductor Dr. Elmer Thomas of Cincinnati will lead a 250 voice chorus composed of high school students from 27 different Ohio and Kentucky schools during the Merkleland State University Annual Choral Festival Oct. 24 and 25.

Dr. Thomas will rehearse with the high school students from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. both days and will direct the Festival Chorus on Thursday Oct. 25, at 8 p.m. The festival chorus will sing the Coronation Mass by Mozart and choruses by Brookner, Parker, Thomas, Britten and Thompson. The MSU Concert Choir will join the high school students in performing the Britten and Thompson choruses.

The MSU choral organizations University Choir, conducted by Dr. Earle Leonard, MSU professor of music, and the Concert Choir and Chamber Singers conducted by James Ross beane, associate professor of music — will perform on Monday Oct. 24, at 8 p.m. The concert will include works by Haydn, Beethoven, Frensch, Schubert, Brahms, Copland, Shaw, Singspiel, and Castellanov-Tecconi.

Compositions by two Kentucky composers — MSU's Jay Phipps, associate professor of music, and Joseph Barber of the University of Kentucky music faculty — will also be performed. The choral will sing in French, Spanish, English and Latin.

A choral reading session is scheduled Tuesday from 10-11 a.m. for high school directors and university students. The session will be conducted by Robert Barber, former director of choral activities at Murray State University. All concert and dramatic rehearsal dates are scheduled in Duncan Retail Hall.

Medicare.

It's not all or none, you probably know that Medicare — including the part that doesn't cover all your hospital and medical bills. There are parts you can choose to buy and non-covered services you must pay for.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky offers two different Medicare plans. Both meet the federal requirements set by Medicare. Both meet state and federal standards for Medicare supplemental programs. And both are subject to annual reinsurance of the Medicare beneficiaries and co-payments for certain services. Medicare beneficiaries may choose to buy either plan. Each plan has its own rules and regulations. For more information about the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Medicare Supplemental Programs, call 1-800-368-7222 or write to: Medicare Supplemental Programs, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky, 1000 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio 45202. There is a 30-day waiting period for health conditions which exist at the time of enrollment.

CONTROLLING MASTITIS GOAL OF NOVEMBER WORKSHOPS

Controlling mastitis — a goal of producers and the entire dairy industry — will be the focus of workshops to be held in Kentucky locations in November, including a Nov. 17 date at the Harlan Inn in Mayfield. . . .

WORKSHOPS ARE SPONSORED BY THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY COOPERATIVE EXTENSION SERVICE IN COOPERATION WITH THE KENTUCKY VETERINARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, THE CANTON BRANCH OF THE KENTUCKY DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN RESOURCES AND THE KENTUCKY ASSOCIATION OF MILK, FOOD AND ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENTISTS.

Each workshop will begin at 12:30 p.m. and run until 5 p.m. with a dinner break. Registration is $15, includes dinner and a copy of the workshop proceedings. Participants are encouraged to pre-register before Oct. 24. For more information or to pre-register, see your county Extension agent for agriculture or contact Dr. William Crain, 411 Agr. Sci. South, University of Kentucky, Lexington 40546-0213; phone 606-257-7543.

TENAGE ALCOHOL AND DRUG ABUSE EXPLORED ON KET DRAMA

Young people face tremendous peer pressure in a fast-moving world where they are confronted with alcohol and drugs in a dangerous part of life. "The Quiet Place" presents a look at tragedy that can arise as a result of these pressures. The program will air on Thursday, Nov. 3, 8 p.m. on KET. The story takes place in the summer before Sheila's senior year in high school. She faces the death of her boyfriend, Danny, who died from a lethal dose of drugs and alcohol. Danny's friends, who furnished the drugs, threaten and intimidate Sheila in an effort to conceal the truth from the police. In a mind-boggling confrontation, Sheila stands up to them with the truth. She then left alone to deal with the loneliness and insecurity that teenagers often face in a drug-oriented world. . . .

Winter's coming... weatherize now!

Winter is coming — bringing low temperatures, increased use of electricity and higher energy bills. It's sometimes difficult to choose the most cost-effective ways to control energy use in the home and help offset rising costs. That's where K.U.'s Residential Energy Audit can help. K.U. is available to perform audits for electric heating customers and customers not covered by a participating gas utility. If you request a survey, one of our specially-trained employees will conduct a thorough study — your home's efficiency and your energy use habits, and then effects on your utility bills. The information obtained from the survey will be analyzed by computer and we'll give you a detailed written report of the estimated costs of conservation measures and their potential savings. If you would like a survey, give us a call or send in the coupon. A K.U. representative will contact you to schedule the two- to three-hour survey. The $15 fee for a Residential Energy Audit is a good investment in future savings of both energy and money. Making energy is saving money. Saving energy and money is the Wise Choice.
