Bob Watkins

It's impossible to put together a team in three weeks. "I've seen on 'How good you have to be to put together a team in three weeks to beat a team with decent talent that's been together for years?'" That's a question I really had to answer. Nobody else in the world does that.

Mr. Knight Guy?

In a report on the Pan American Games last week, Richard Lewis, a sports writer for the Los Angeles Herald wrote about other countries catching up with the U.S. in basketball because many of our college coaches have shared their techniques and knowledge with coaches in Japan, Latin America, Russia and Yugoslavia. Included among them were the University of Kentucky's Joe B. Hall, North Carolina's Dean Smith, UCLA's Pat Summitt and the late Joe "Pat" Kennedy.

Goodbye, Joe

Not much will be said about it outside sports departments as newspapers, radio and television stations around Louisville and the Metro Conference, but the state lost one of its first class sports figures last week.

Yates, a native of Paducah in Caldwell County, resigned as sports information director of the University of Louisville to accept the $100,000-a-year position of director of the Louisville Sports Center.

Recruiting

Remember Kevin Grevey? He was a star player for the University of Kentucky in 1975 who is now a veteran player with the Washington Bullets in a 6-1 sophomore at Tall High School in Hamilton, Ohio.

Jackets bury Royals 41-20

The Nicolas County Bluejackets soundly defeated the Mason County Royals in a game of football at Mayville last Friday night. One again, it was a team effort with each player performing his own specialty. In the first half, the jackets scored on runs of two yards by Steve Anderson, 30 yards by Robert Hopkins, and four yards by Robert Hopkins with a pass. The defense also did a real good job. The most exciting play of the game was an 83 yard interception by Anderson, which called because of a clipping infraction. The offensive line did a superb job of opening holes for the ball carriers, who in turn really took advantage of those holes. The defense also did a real good job.
