Hickory Horned Devil

That is the name County Extension Agent for Agriculture Mike Phillips gave to this colorful over-sized appearing tobacco worm. Mrs. Eddie Purcell brought the "devil" into the office Friday. She said her husband and John Smoot found it Sept. 8 on the driveway at Mr. Smoot's home on Dorsey Avenue. According to Phillips, this worm is usually found high in trees. — Mercury photo.

No serious injuries were reported, however, with the exception of a bump, scrapes and scratches and bruises. Hedges returned home on Sunday.

The Barker car was slightly damaged.

The Walnut Grove Road, five miles west of Carlisle, was the scene of the second accident at 10:30 a.m. Gary L. Transy seeks scholarship applicants

Officials at Transylvania University in Lexington have announced that nominations of high school seniors for its prestigious Thomas Jefferson Scholars Program are now being accepted for the 1984-85 academic year.

Through the Thomas Jefferson Scholars Program, Transylvania University annually selects 25 high school seniors from the nominations received and awards them complete four year scholarships that are currently valued in excess of $32,000 and include tuition, fees and room and board.

According to Dr. Asa Humphries, dean and executive vice president of Transylvania, a number of different factors are considered in the selection of Thomas Jefferson Scholars.

"Unlike many other scholarships, selection to the Thomas Jefferson Scholars Program is not based only on academic ability. Nominees are carefully judged in such areas as leadership ability, character, citizenship, in addition to scholastic performance," Dr. Humphries explained.

"A second aspect of the program that makes it unique is that the financial background of the student's family has no bearing on upon selection. The scholarship is awarded solely on merit," Dr. Humphries added.

Transylvania University is the 16th oldest institution of higher learning in the United States and offers degrees in 24 majors.

Students interested in the Thomas Jefferson Scholars Program should write: The Office of the Dean, Transylvania University, Lexington, Ky. 40508.

Lease or buy— that is the question

South Central Bell customers trying to decide whether to buy their leased telephones now have a little more time to decide.

The Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) has approved an extension of Bell's sale of in-place phones at reduced prices through the end of the year, giving Bell's home and single-line business customers three more months to buy their leased phones.

"We're glad the PSC has extended this option," said Carl Renz, District Manager for Bell. "Many folks have already bought their phones, and now those who are still thinking about it have more time to decide."

Customers wanting to buy phones can do so with a toll-free phone call. Home customers can call 1-800-626-1700 from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Eastern Time. Single-line business customers can call 1-800-282-8883 from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Eastern Time.

In-place phones will have a 30-day warranty, and sets bought from inventory will have a 90-day warranty. After the warranties run out, Bell's Customer Service Centers will repair or replace equipment for a charge.
