GUIDE FOR HEALTH INSURANCE AVAILABLE
A booklet designed to help Medicare beneficiaries who plan to supplement their Medicare coverage with private health insurance is available free at the local Social Security office, located at the Health Care Finance Administration in conjunction with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.
The guide includes a chart showing what Medicare does and does not cover, with spaces for jotting down what services are needed to fill the gaps. It suggests that the first step people should take is to discuss the problem with someone who understands both health insurance and their personal financial situation.
