Hinton new Southern States manager

James C. Lowe, chairman of the board of directors of Southern States Carlisle Cooperative, announces the selection of Steve Hinton as the new manager of Southern States Carlisle Cooperative.

Hinton replaces Mrs. Sudie Raney who resigned to accept the position of Regional Accounting and Support Specialist at the SS Regional Office in Lexington. She will be assisting in the training of retail personnel at SSC locations in central Kentucky in the use of the new Retail Support System slid in establishing proper office procedures at the retail outlets.

Hinton comes to Carlisle from SS Clark Cooperative in Winchester, where he was assistant manager. He began work with Southern States at the Winchester store in January 1982 and completed the management training program before becoming assistant manager.

He is a native of Fleming County and a graduate of Morehead State University with an associate degree in agribusiness.

"Steve and his wife, Jenecia, will be moving to Carlisle in the near future, and we welcome them to the community," Lowe said.

"We also congratulate Mrs. Raney on her promotion and wish her success as she assumes her new responsibilities," he added.

Absolute Estate Auction

Sat., August 25th, 2:00 P.M.

In order to settle the Estates of Stanley Fulton and Frances R. Fulton, both deceased, we will sell the following real Estate:

PARCEL I: 56 acre farm known on the Joe Bill Kenton place fronting on old U.S. 68 about 8-10 mile south of Blue Licks and the Licking River, with 1984 basic tobacco poundage of 1129 pounds which has been leased for 1984 (purchaser to receive 1985 tobacco). There is an old one bellum restoreable mansion house with circular tree lined drive, 6 room frame house with two massive rock chimneys and open fireplaces, large front porch and side porch. There is a large cistern and house had plumbing but some would have to be replaced due to age and house vacancy. There is a garage, old barn, utility building and numerous small outbuildings. According to A.S.C.S. there is 33 acres of crop land, but some is overgrown with brush.

Property has all home improvements could be made a lovely place to live. 22 minutes from Maysville, Flemingsburg or Carlisle and only a short distance from Blue Licks State Park and the Licking River and is in Nicholas County, on good blacktop road.

PARCEL II: This parcel will be sold on 3 30' P.M. and is located on Railroad St. in Ewing, Fleming County, Ky. There is a four room frame dwelling (no bath or furnace) on a large lot fronting 105 feet on blacktop Railroad St. and running back a depth of 154 feet to blacktop street in rear. There is city water available, excellent garden spot. Could be purchased as an excellent lot on which to build a new home fronting on either street in a rural community with churches, stores, and a bank all within walking distance.

TERMS: Purchasers will be required to execute usual sales contract and pay 15% down; balance with warranty deed and possession in 30 days. Sellers will pay 1984 taxes on purchases prior to 85 taxes. Purchasers will assume all loss on day of sale. Announcements made at sale take precedence over advertised terms. SELLERS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ACCIDENTS

FOR EACH ADDITIONAL FAMILY MEMBER, ADD $1,562 PER YEAR TO THE INCOME LEVEL FOR REDUCED PRICE MEALS AND $2,562 FOR FREE REDUCED PRICE MEALS.

REDUCED PRICE LUNCH COST 20 CENTS. REDUCED PRICE BREAKFAST COST, if available 10 CENTS.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced price meals. Foster children may also be eligible for these meals. Families with foster children should contact the school for information regarding benefits. Additional forms are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application will be used for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year. An application for free or reduced price benefits cannot be approved unless it contains complete documentation of eligibility information including names of all household members, social security numbers of all adult household members or an indication that a household member does not possess one, total current household income and the amount and source of income received by each household member and the signature of an adult household member. Households currently receiving food stamps may submit their Food Stamp Program case number instead of income information. Households receiving assistance will be notified of any request for verification of income of $50 per month or $600 a year or decrease in the household size.

If a household's income decreases or if household size increases during the school year, the household should contact the school to file a new application since such changes may make the children of the household eligible for meal benefits if the income is within the income guidelines.

Under the provisions of the policy a school official will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the determination, he/she may contact either orally or in writing the following official: Donald G. Elder, superintendent, 50 North Main Street, Carlisle, Ky. 40311, 606-289-2354.

In accordance with federal civil rights law and U.S. Department of Agriculture policy, this institution is prohibited from discriminating on the basis of race, color, national origin, age or handicap. If any member of a household believes that he has been discriminated against, he should write to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

The role of a school board

The education of our community's children is under the general direction and control of our elected board of education.

How does the board operate? What things can it do, and what is it unable to do? What can individual members of the school board do to affect the community's education program?

These and other questions are answered in this article prepared by the Kentucky School Boards Association.

What are some duties of school boards?

Among the more important responsibilities of school boards are:

— To set general goals for the public education programs.

— To provide for school buildings and equipment.

— To manage all school funds and property.

— To employ a school superintendent and upon the recommendation of the superintendent, to employ teachers and other school personnel.

— To adopt a school budget.

How do school boards affect what happens to children in schools?

Acting within the scope of the Constitution and laws of the United States and Kentucky, and under the general direction of the Kentucky State Board of Education, school boards:

— Approve the courses of study.

— Adopt the general policies which set the operations and responsibilities of the schools, school personnel and students.

— Consider local educational needs, set priorities, and allocate resources to implement programs to meet educational goals.

— Evaluate the progress of the schools toward providing the best possible programs.

How do school boards exercise their authority?

The school board only has authority when in a legally constituted official meeting. Its official actions are the result of a majority vote of its members.

Do school boards run the schools?

Not directly. School boards employ trained, legally qualified professionals to oversee the day-to-day operation of the schools. School boards do enact policies which are the framework within which the professional employees of the school board work.

Can I go to school board meetings?

Yes. By law, school board meetings are open to the public. There are certain areas, however, such as personnel matters, litigation, etc., which a school board may discuss in closed session, under the provisions of the Open Meeting Law.

How often do school boards meet?

By law, school boards meet at least once a month. Many school boards have additional meetings, and special meetings may be called as needed.

What is the value of school boards?

School board members are elected by you, on a non-partisan basis, for four-year terms. This makes school boards accountable to the public for their trusteeship of the public education program. School boards exist to insure citizens a voice in how their schools should be run.

What authority does a school board member have?

None, as an individual. The only authority that a member of the board of education has is in the casting of his vote in school board meetings. All school board authority is corporate in nature; that is, it only comes from majority action of school board members, in official meetings of the board of education.

What are school board members paid? School board members do not receive a salary. Their membership on a school board is a public service. Under Kentucky law, they may receive a per diem of $20 per meeting, and actual expenses incurred. The annual limit on expenses incurred within the district is $400 per year.

Can school board members have business dealings with their schools?

No. Kentucky law is very strict, and forbids school board members to have any direct or indirect interest in the sale of materials, supplies or services to schools within that school district. The penalty for violation of this is removal from the board.

Can school board members vote to hire their relatives?

Board members are forbidden by law to cast the deciding vote regarding the appointment or employment, in any capacity, of any persons related to the board member, father or mother, brother or sister, husband or wife, son or daughter, nephew or niece, aunt or uncle, son-in-law or daughter-in-law, or first cousin.

Can school board members hold other civil offices?

In general, no. School board members are state officers, and as such cannot serve as city or county officials.

What qualifications must a citizen have to be eligible to seek election to the board?

To be eligible for membership on a school board, an individual must be at least 24 years old, have been a citizen of Kentucky for at least three years, and be a voter of the district for which he is seeking election.

Are there educational requirements for school board members?

Yes. School board members elected for the first time after July 1, 1984, must have a 12th grade education, or the equivalent. This requirement is among the highest in the nation. Interestingly, there are no educational requirements for other officers such as legislator, senator, representative, or even President of the United States.

How do school board members receive training and information needed to best serve the public?

In most cases, from service on their board, from the superintendent, and from the Kentucky School Boards Association, a non-profit organization providing educational and informational services to school board members.

A good school board member —

— Does not seek welfare of any one group, or endorsement of any one point, to the detriment of all the community or the total program.

— Never makes promises of board action. Individually, a board member has only the power of persuasion.

— Asks tough questions, represents the students and citizens to the professional staff.

— Recognizes limitations imposed by state and federal laws and regulations.

— Devotes time and comes to meetings well-prepared, ready to discuss the issues.

— Does not become absorbed in detail, but keeps long-range, overall objectives of the district in mind.

— Stays informed and up-to-date through journals, periodicals, conventions and workshops.

— Does not try to become an administrator.

Where do I fit into all this?

As a citizen, you have the right and responsibility to be citizenred and interested in your community's children, their schools, and the educational programs provided. Local school boards are your voice in the educational programs of your community. Your school board members were elected by a majority of your fellow citizens, and are your representatives in guiding your educational programs.

Be knowledgeable about your schools. Be involved. Cherish our American tradition of local lay control of public education, as preserved by boards of education. Like any other public institution, your schools are really only as good as the citizenry wants them to be.

'MEDICAL QUACKERY' BOOKLET AVAILABLE FREE FROM HBB

To help educate consumers on the risks of medical quackery, the Better Business Bureau of Central Kentucky has released a new booklet, "Tips on Medical Quackery."

The booklet has been prepared in connection with the Council of Better Business Bureaus/U.S. Food and Drug Administration program which alerts media advertising managers to the problem of deceptive medical and health advertising claims.

"Tips on Medical Quackery" discusses some of the more common health hoaxes and their hazards, which can be costly in psychological, financial and physiological terms, and provides tips for recognizing deceptive advertisements. Carole J. Ludwick, executive director, warns that "consumers should be wary of advertisements for remedies that include such claims as "scientific breakthrough," "quick and easy," and "miracle cure."

The new booklet has been added to the Better Business Bureau Consumer Information Series which offers helpful tips on over 70 topics of consumer interest. For copy of the booklet send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Better Business Bureau, 629 North Broadway, Lexington 40508.
