Kay's Kitchen

By Kay Fisher

Seems I put a recipe for chowder in with the soups and now I have a request for the difference between soup and chowder. Well, it seems the term is used rather loosely, but in general, a chowder is classed as a thick soup, more often than not made with milk. Webster says "a stew or soup made from fish or clams, usually stewed in milk with pork,onion, crackers, etc." Many chowders do contain fish, but over the years everything from meats and poultry to just vegetables have been used in recipes that use the term "chowder" in the name. So no matter what it is called, if it is good enjoy it. So here are more chowder recipes.

POTATO SAUSAGE CHOWDER

1 cup diced onion
½ cup minced celery
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 14-oz. can condensed chicken broth
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
3 potato, peeled and thinly sliced
1½ cups milk
½ cup half and half
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 cup diced cheddar cheese
½ pound pork sausage

Saute onions and celery in butter until tender but not brown. Add chicken broth, salt, pepper and potato. Cover and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer until potato is tender, about 10 minutes. Add milk, half and half, parsley and cheese. Heat just till cheese begins to melt. Meanwhile, shape sausage into very small balls. Fry until well-browned on all sides. Add to chowder just before serving.

QUICK BROCCOLI CHOWDER

1 10-oz. packages cut broccoli frozen in cheese sauce
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup butter or margarine
6 tablespoons flour
5 cups milk
¾ teaspoon salt
Pepper
1/8 teaspoon garlic salt
2 tablespoons instant chicken bouillon

Cook broccoli according to package directions. Place broccoli and sauce in blender and process until finely chopped. Cook onion in butter until tender. Stir in flour until smooth. Add milk gradually and cook and stir until thickened and smooth. Add salt, pepper, garlic salt and chicken bouillon. Add broccoli and simmer until heated through, stirring occasionally. Add milk if a thinner consistency is desired.

FISH CHOWDER

½ stick butter
1 cup thinly sliced onion
1 cup sliced carrot
1 cup cubed potato
1 cup water
2 teaspoons salt
Pepper
1 1-(1-lb.) package frozen haddock, defrosted and cut into 1-inch cubes
3 cups milk
½ teaspoon rosemary
¼ teaspoon thyme
1 cup light cream
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour

Melt butter; add onion, potato, carrot, water, 1 teaspoon salt and pepper. Cover and simmer until carrot is almost tender, about 15 minutes. Add fish, milk, herbs and remaining teaspoon salt; heat to simmering and cook until fish flakes easily. Blend together light cream and flour; add to chowder and heat thoroughly. About eight servings.

Sousley monument will be erected

Thirty-nine years after he was killed in combat, Franklin Runyon Sousley will have his monument in the Elkton, ville Cemetery in Fleming County.

A fund drive was begun in 1982 to raise $16,000 for an eight-foot-tall granite marker for Sousley's grave. Recent donations have accomplished the goal and dedication ceremonies are being planned for Memorial Day weekend.

Nursing Home News

A birthday party was given in honor of James Miller's 92nd birthday by his family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Law, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bell and great grandchildren. He had several friends from Millersburg to visit during the day also. Ice cream and cake were served to guests, staff and other residents.

Admitted back to the nursing home from the hospital: Ethel Scott to ECF, Millard Asbury to ECF, Lutie DeAley to ICF. Caroline Wood is still a patient in the hospital.

We express our sympathy to the families of Wilbur Ashcraft and Louise Delaney.

Those people celebrating birthdays this month are Maude Stone, Thelma Wright, Millard Asbury, Eula Scott and James Miller.

Thank you to the group of singers from Berea College.

Volunteers helping with bingo were Guy and Jane Coleman, Reba Wills, Edythe and Dan Rich.

Mrs. Hazel Henry has had several visits from her daughters, Frances and Becky and Kerr, this month.

Eula Scott had as guest one day this month Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Scott, who stayed and watched a movie with her.
