Educators, legislators to hear former governor

Edward F. Prichard Jr. has announced that former Mississippi Governor William F. Winter will address state legislators and Kentucky education leaders on Feb. 29. The event has been arranged by the Prichard Committee for Academic Excellence to call attention to Governor Collins' educational reform program.

Winter will speak at a dinner at the Capital Plaza Hotel in Frankfort. The speech will begin at approximately 8:30 p.m.

"We're delighted that Governor Winter can help us," said Robert F. Sexton, executive director of the Prichard Committee. "He's recognized all a courageous and skillful political leader. His special session of the Mississippi legislature culminated a three-year campaign for better schools and the taxes to support them."

Winter left office in January after leading one of the nation's most sweeping and dramatic education reform movements. His leadership was the subject of national media attention and a special series of articles in the Lexington Herald-Leader and Louisville Courier-Journal. An important ally in his effort was the Jackson Clarion-Ledger, which later won a Pulitzer Prize for its education reporting.

Sexton said the Prichard Committee has invited Governor Winter to Kentucky as part of its campaign to focus attention on the need for reforms. He said, "We are excited to see so much public interest in education and want to support Governor Collins and legislators in their efforts."

Fire department matching grants available

More than $40,000 in grant funds are available in Kentucky's rural fire departments to help them improve their firefighting capabilities, state Forestry Director Donald A. Hamm has announced.

"These funds are available to communities with less than 10,000 inhabitants," he said. "Grants are awarded on a matching basis, with each dollar awarded being equally matched by local communities," Hamm explained.

Forestry officials said the grants were developed to help rural communities conduct fire protection programs and to help upgrade firefighting equipment or training. In 1982, the last year for grants were available, 113 rural fire departments received grants totaling $40,130.

Maximum grant awards will be $500, forestry officials said.

For additional information on the grants and the application process, contact the Kentucky Division of Forestry, 627 Comanche Trail, Frankfort, Ky. 40601; phone 502-564-4496.

Beef production seminars offered

The day-long conference, sponsored by the UK College of Agriculture animal sciences department, will feature animal science researchers and Extension specialists.
