Miss Kay Conley has been selected for national award

Miss Kay Conley was the only one in Kentucky selected for the Alpha Delta Pi Sorority Dorothy Shaw Leadership Award, announced at the National ADP Convention in Colorado recently. The award is the only one given to outstanding college graduates, and it is based on accomplishments in scholarship, campus and community leadership.

Miss Conley was one of 25 selected nationally, out of 133 sorority chapters, for the honor. During her four years at the University of Kentucky, she was elected the 1984 University of Kentucky outstanding Greek Woman of the Year, served as sorority president, Kentucky Greek newspaper editor-in-chief, and BACCHUS Speakers Corp chairman. She is a member of the 1984 Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities, Omicron Delta Kappa Leadership Honorary, and the 1983 and 1984 Dean's Lists.

A 1984 graduate of U.K. in journalism, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Conley and is presently working as a farm reporter for WHAS Radio 84 in Louisville.

Miss Jo Ellen Howard

Miss Howard is in state Teen pageant

Miss Jo Ellen Howard, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C. Howard of 121 Oriole Street, Carlisle, was selected to participate in the 1984 Kentucky Outstanding Teens of America program held at the Galt House in Louisville June 8-10. Outstanding teens from across the state compete for $10,000 in scholarships and awards and the opportunity to attend the national finals in Atlanta in November.

Contestants are selected on the basis of their scholastic achievement, volunteer service, and extracurricular activities. Participation in the three-day state finals included competition for scholarships, involvement in leadership training workshops, and opportunity for numerous social activities with the other outstanding teens.

Miss Howard was sponsored by the Depoist Bank, Blue Grass Industries, Carlisle Drug, Shield of Shelter Insurance, West End Market, Garretts Furniture, Myrtle Howard, Harry Galbraith and Sims Jewelry.

Rosemary Clooney heads Sweepstakes

KET wants to share a "common wealth" of 60 unique prizes with its viewers during the KET 15th Anniversary Commonwealth Sweepstakes.

More than 200,000 Kentuckians will receive a mailing from Honorary Sweepstakes Chairperson Rosemary Clooney. Each mailing contains a sweepstakes entry card, 10 sweepstakes tickets, and a self-addressed reply envelope.

SS direct deposit gains popularity

A growing number of Social Security beneficiaries are discovering the advantages of direct deposit. Over 36 percent of them were having their checks sent directly to a bank or other financial institution at the start of 1984, compared with 23 percent only five years earlier.

Why is direct deposit so popular? Here are some reasons beneficiaries give:

— It's safe. There's less worry about muggers and mailbox thieves.

— It's convenient. There's no line to stand in to cash the check. The money is in the bank to draw out when it's most convenient for you.

— It saves money. You save gas money and parking fees by not having to go out to cash the check. And the government spends less on issuing checks which means more money is available for other benefits and services.

News for brides

Brides who will be using their husband's name, along with anyone else who has had a recent name change, should contact their local Social Security office to arrange to have their name changed in Social Security records and to apply for a new Social Security card showing their new name.

For more information call your local Social Security office in Maysville, 564-4096.

Rules to follow when applying for SS numbers

People in the Maysville area who expect to need a Social Security number should remember to apply for it at least three weeks before the number is needed.

When applying, a person must have evidence of age, identity and citizenship or legal alien status. In addition, a person 18 or older who is applying for the number the first time must appear in person at 739 U.S. Highway 68, Maysville.

The best evidence of age and citizenship is a public record of birth. Only if this type of record cannot be submitted can the Social Security Administration accept other evidence of age, such as hospital birth record or baptismal certificate.

Kay's Kitchen

By Kay Fisher

For the last week or two we have been getting some delicious peaches, and at a good price. Fix them in ice cream, peace shortcake, cobbler, salad, or serve them simply peeled and sliced with cream, or over vanilla ice cream. Here is a good recipe for peach cobbler and some others you might want to try.

PEACH COBBLER

3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
½ cup sugar, or to taste
2 tablespoons melted butter
3 cups fresh sliced peaches
½ cup water
Pastry for double crust

Combine tapioca, sugar, butter, peaches and water. Fit pastry, rolled a bit thicker than for regular pie, into an 8-inch-inch baking dish, bringing pastry up on the sides and closely into corners. Fill with peach mixture. Roll remaining crust to fit top of peaches. With sharp knife make several slits to permit steam to escape. Press edges of dough together with fork dipped in flour. Bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 25 minutes longer. Sprinkle top with powdered sugar.

PEACH REFRIGERATOR CAKE

½ pound marshmallows
½ cup orange juice
½ cup ginger ale
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Sponge cake or lady fingers
6-8 peaches, sliced
½ cup chopped crystallized ginger

Cut marshmallows in quarters, add to orange juice and stir over hot water until almost melted; cool slightly and add ginger ale. When slightly thickened fold in ¼ cup of the whipped cream. Line a spring pan with waxed paper. Arrange layer of cake or ladyfingers, next a layer of peaches, then layer of marshmallows. Repeat until there are three layers of cake and two of filling. Chill in refrigerator overnight. Unmold; garnish with remaining peaches, cream and chopped ginger.

MERINGUE PEACHES

Peel and halve four large peaches. Crush six macaroons. Hollow the peach halves slightly and fill with macaroons, peach pulp and two beaten egg yolks. Fill pastry halves with this mixture and bake in 350 degree oven until peaches are tender. Make meringue of two egg whites, three tablespoons sugar and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Heap on the peaches and bake at 325 degrees until meringue is brown.

PEACH MOUSSE

1 cup chopped peaches
6 tablespoons sugar
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
2 egg whites, lightly beaten
Dash of salt

Mix peaches and ¼ cup of the sugar and fold into whipped cream. Add remaining sugar and salt to egg whites and beat till soft peaks form. Fold into peach mixture and pour into molds. Freeze until firm. Serves 6 or 8.

Hildreth School

great anticipation. Some of the favorite games played were baseball (with homemade balls, made by cutting strips of rubber from an old tire tube, then rolling it tightly into a ball and covering it with string), tag, and Hide-N-Go-Seek.

Girls didn't play ball, though. Instead, we made houses out of rocks, complete with furnishings.

Back then, the best toys came from the toyboxes of our imaginations.

NO MATTER how many times you hear the stories of parents walking

'The best toys came from the toyboxes of our imagination'

countless miles to school, you can never really appreciate it unless you have done it yourself.

There were nuts to gather on the way, or grapes to pick, or vines to swing on. It was easy to get sidetracked on the way to school!

Back then, walking was a way of life (using was unheard of!). We fared quite well, until a rain or showstorm came up.

A final word for the brave teachers who had to cope each day with 30-plus children ranging in age from five to 20, teaching the three R's (reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic).

A special place should be reserved in Heaven for these loving, dedicated people who helped mold the lives of so many children. The small, one-room schools may be a thing of the past, but they still live in the memories of those who had the pleasure of answering the call of that bell in the tower on the roof...of the one room school.

School population 3,008 in 1881

by Hazel Swartz

In 1881, the (Nicholas County) school population was 3,008. There were four black schools — Carlisle (Henryville;, Ellisville (Shakerag), Headquarters and Moorefield, Carlisle City School and 47 county schools.

They were: Ahners Mill, Baker, Banta, Barterville, Bell, Barefoot, Ball Hill (Bald Hill), Blue Licks, Brushy Fork, Cane Run, Cassidy, Concord, Crayton, East Union, Ellisville, Goose Creek, Henry, Hooktown, Jordon, Judy, Letton, Liberty;

Maple Grove, Moorefield, Morning Glory, Miranda, Mt. Carmel, Mt. Pisgah, Myers, Needmore, Parks, Pleasant Hill, Pleasant Valley, Rafferty, Somerset, Small, Stoney Creek, Sugar Creek, Standiford (Cedar Grove, Hildreth), Taylor's Creek, Upper Blue Licks, Wilson, Walnut Grove and Wright.

In the early 1880s a black woman decided she wanted an education for her children. She bought an acre of land for $8. The community built a one-room building. The county employed a teacher. Thus the fifth black school (Hickory Ridge) originated.

By 1900 the school population had declined and several schools were discontinued. They were Baker, Liberty, Stoney Creek and Rafferty. Consolidation began in the early 1900s. By the school year 1940-41, the last one-room school (Hildreth) was merged with Ellisville Elementary Consolidated school.

(Note: Hazel Swartz taught at Hildreth School from 1935-38.)

Standiford Schoolhouse

Another one-room schoolhouse which still stands in Nicholas County is known as the old Standiford School, now located at the home of Mrs. Clarence Caywood when this picture was taken in April of 1968 by Mrs. J.A. Standiford. The late S.K. Standiford attended school there. Early teachers included Carlton Sparks, Albert Allison and Edward McShane Waits. — Photo submitted

Sen. Ed Ford's voting record rated perfect

State Sen. Ed Ford, (D-Cynthiana) has received a perfect rating from a national organization for his voting record in support of small business during the 1984 session of the Kentucky General Assembly.

In ratings compiled by the Kentucky division of the National Federation of Independent Business, Ford received a 100-percent favorable score for his votes on a variety of issues singled out by the group as important to the well-being of independent businessmen.

Among those measures was a bill requiring government to pay its bills on time or face an interest penalty, and a bill petitioning Congress to call a constitutional convention for the purpose of balancing the federal budget.

Ford sponsored the balanced-budget bill.

"Small businesses are vital to Kentucky's economy," Ford said. "It is essential that lawmakers act responsibly and carefully in dealing with issues that affect the small-business community's future.

Sen. Ford has been named to Kentucky's 16-member Task Force on Prison Options.

A Day in the Country, with host Kirk Douglas, is a one-hour special based on the extraordinary 1984 exhibition in the Los Angeles County Museum of Art, "A Day in the Country: Impressionism and the French Landscape." A major component of the Olympic Arts Festival, the unprecedented international loan exhibition features 127 Impressionist and Post Impressionist works by Monet, Pissarro, Cezanne, Gauguin, Seurat and Van Gogh. The program, airing Wednesday, July 25, at 10 p.m., explores both the paintings and the European locations in which they were created.

Well-known humorist and cook, Justin Wilson, returns to KET in a new series, Justin Wilson's Louisiana Cookin', Sundays at 4:30 p.m. beginning July 8. In each program, Wilson prepares a rare sampling of Louisiana's mouthwatering Cajun cuisine while delighting a live audience with legendary tales in his Cajun lingo.

Young people this summer can look forward to a second season of Reading Rainbow, which features five new programs plus some of last summer's favorites. Hosted by LeVar Burton, "Reading Rainbow" is a series designed to encourage young people to read. It airs each weekday at 4 p.m.

July offers the premiere of two nature series. Great Zoos of the World, airing Thursdays at 8 p.m. features several of the world's finest zoos with host Anthony Smith. Nature Scene follows at 8:30 p.m. with host Beryl Dakers and natural history expert Rudy Mancke in explorations of natural settings. Both series begin July 5.

Beauty contest entry deadline is Sunday at Ewing-Fleming fair

Plans are underway for the Ewing-Fleming County Fair Beauty Pageant on Monday, July 9, at 8 p.m. at the Ewing Fairgrounds. The Fair runs for six nights through July 14.

Also set for the same evening is the Little Miss and Little Mister Contest. Entry fee for the Miss County Fair is $15 and The Little Miss and Mister Contest has a $10 entry fee.

The Queen will receive $100, a silver tray and flowers; the first runnerup will get $60 and a silver tray; and Miss Congeniality will receive a gift.

Contestants from Nicholas, Mason, Lewis, Robertson, Rowan, Fleming, Bath and Bracken counties are eligible to participate.

Young women between the ages of 15 and 21 are eligible to compete for the queen title. Contestants will appear in swimsuit competition first and then in formal attire. Talent competition will not be included. Contestants will be judged on figure, beauty, general appearance, poise and personality.

In both pageants the contestants will appear in dresses. Entry fee is $7 for each of the contests.

The Little Toddler Contest is set for Thursday, July 12 at 7 p.m. for ages 19 months to four years. Entry fee is $2. Registration will be at the 4-H building at the Fairgrounds. Contestants are asked to be there at least 30 minutes before the contest to register. The boy and girl winner will receive a trophy and a cash. First runnerup will get a trophy.

THE BIG BABY Show and Diaper Derby will be Saturday, July 14 at 6 p.m. There will be a $1 entry fee for the Baby Show. Registration is at the 4-H building 30 minutes prior to the contest. The boy and girl winner will get a check and trophy. Runnerup will receive a trophy.

THIS YEAR a new category, Miss Pre-Teen for ages 8, 9 and 10 and Junior Miss for ages 11 thru 14 will be held on Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. The winner of the Pre-Teen and Junior Miss will each get $25 cash and a trophy and the first runnerup in each contest will get $15 and a trophy.

Rehearsal for the pageants is set for Sunday, July 8, at the fairgrounds. Schedule times are: Little Miss and Mister, 1:30 p.m.; Pre-Teen, 2 p.m.; Junior Miss, 2:30 p.m. and the queen contest at 3 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

No applications will be accepted after July 8.

The winner of the queen contest and the Little Miss and Mister Contest will represent the Ewing-Fleming County Fair at state competition.

For more information and an entry form contact Sandi Kachler, Route 1, Box 254, Ewing 41039, phone 367-2171.

Shortfall of rainfall continuing

Dry weather is still a problem in Kentucky, but scattered showers over the past week have kept most areas in acceptable condition, according to Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell.

"Most crops seem to be in good condition despite the lack of rain. But what farmers need most right now is a good soaking rain to improve plant growth," Boswell said.

"My only fear is that there could be rapid deterioration if the dry weather continues," the Commissioner added.

At present, 65 percent of the state is reported to be short of moisture, 33 percent is adequate and two percent has a surplus.

"This is an improvement over last week when 82 percent of the state was listed as short," Boswell said.

At this time, corn, soybeans and tobacco are listed as being in good to fair condition. The state's hay harvest has been very active, with high quality hay being reported.

"I was very glad to see the improvement in soil moisture content. That's enabling crops to maintain their growth," Boswell said.
