Mondale's gamble

Walter Mondale's selection of Rep. Geraldine Ferraro to be his running mate is a bold stroke that will forever change the American political landscape. It's also a calculated gamble by the Democratic front-runner who is seeking a competitive edge against President Reagan.

The electorate, therefore has every reason to carefully scrutinize Ferraro's credentials. The 46-year-old congresswoman from Queens, N.Y., has demonstrated a single-minded determination to succeed since she was first elected from the predominantly blue-collar district in 1979.

Happiness is becoming an adult
...when you are an amusement park coward

A few of the things I like about being an adult is that I don't have to go to the amusement parks, finish all my homework, or ride in a roller coaster.
I'm always going to be going to some rides and your parents are determined you are going to have a good time and not a bad one.

Russ Metz

Let's go for the roller coaster... I was riding the roller coaster... I was riding the roller coaster... I was riding the roller coaster...

It's the angle, in fact the only way I can explain it. On the highway, or amusement park, you have the interesting angle.
What brings an accident reason like bringing an ambulance to make someone or take someone for not getting my mind out.

Thermometers DO lie

Thermometers lie. There are days when the thermometer says it's only 85 and it's hot but the birds land and state when the index is expected to exceed 100 for two days or more.
