Mrs. Thomas Wesley Crawford

Miss Knapke weds Mr. Crawford

Miss Mary Elizabeth Knapke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Knapke of Carlisle, and Thomas Wesley Crawford, foster son of Mrs. Clyda Bretz of Carlisle and son of Joe Crawford and Margaret Crawford, were married June 16 at the Shrine of Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church in Carlisle. The Rev. Joseph Saulino officiated at the ceremony.

Mrs. Virginia Lee Coatney was the organist and William Bean was the soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Victorian-styled gown of white taffeta and Schiffeli lace. The full skirt was accented with lace applique and swept to a cathedral train of tiered Schiffeli lace. Her fingertip illusion veil was embroidered with seed pearls and complemented the halo headpiece of silk flowers and pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses, gardenias, stephanotis, lilly of the valley and ivy.

Miss Michelle Knapke, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of rose-pink taffeta woven with a jacquard print, accented with puffed sleeves and a sweetheart neckline.

Misses Alison Knapke, sister of the bride, Beth Blair, Paige Haney and Jennifer Hughes, all of Carlisle, were the bridesmaids. They wore dresses matching the maid of honor's and wore wreaths of flowers and babies' breath in their hair. They carried crescent bouquets of rubrum lillies, pink miniature carnations, ivy and babies breath.

Darrell Faulconer was best man.

Tim Banta, David Byrd, Chris Knapke and Patrick Knapke, brothers of the bride, all of Carlisle, and Scott Prather of Lexington were the groomsmen.

Miss Lauren Hester was flower girl. She wore a gown matching those of the attendants and carried a basket of pink roses, carnations and ivy.

Misses Penny Baker, Marsha Lyons and Barbara Payne assisted at the reception.

Miss Rhonda George served at the guest book.

Mrs. Crawford is a 1983 graduate of Nicholas County High School and is attending Maysville Community College. She is employed by Baker's Department Store of Carlisle.

Mr. Crawford is a 1980 graduate of Nicholas County High School and is employed by the City of Carlisle.

After a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach the couple will reside in Carlisle.

Kay's Kitchen

By Kay Fisher

Do you have a pressure cooker? If so get it out and save energy. Pressure cookers have been around a long time but some of us have put them back and have used other newer cooking utensils. Now they are making a comeback because they save cooking time from one-third to one-half, and they tenderize the less expensive cuts of meat. Too the cooking is done without heating the kitchen.

Pressure cookers are like any other appliance, they will not do everything. For example, do not cook applesauce, rhubarb, cranberries, split peas, pea soup or pearl barley in the pressure cooker. These foods and a few others, tend to froth or sputter and sometimes block the vent tube.

Here are a few recipes to try in your pressure cooker.

PEPPER STEAK

1½ pounds round or flank steak, cut into ¼-inch strips
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 4-oz. can sliced mushrooms, drained
1 cup water
1 beef bouillon cube
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
Dash of red pepper or hot sauce
1 large green pepper, cut in strips
2 tablespoons flour
¼ cup water

Brown steak strips in oil in pressure cooker, browning about one-third at a time. Add mushrooms, water, bouillon cube, soy sauce, sugar, garlic salt and pepper. Cover; set controls at 10 pounds pressure and cook 7 minutes after control jiggles. Reduce pressure instantly. Add green pepper strips. Cover; set controls at 15 pounds pressure and cook an additional 2 minutes, or until pepper is desired doneness. Reduce pressure instantly. Mix flour and water to make a paste; stir into mixture and cook until thickened. Serve over buttered noodles or cooked rice.

CHICKEN MARENGO

2 pounds of chicken pieces
¼ cup flour
3 tablespoons salad oil
1 clove garlic, minced
Salt and pepper
1 4-oz. can sliced mushrooms, drained
1 1-lb. can whole tomatoes, cut up
1 cup dry wine, white

Dredge chicken in flour. Heat oil and garlic in pressure cooker. Add chicken and brown; season with salt and pepper. Remove garlic. Add mushrooms, tomatoes and wine. Close cover securely. Cook at 10 pounds pressure for about 20 minutes. Let pressure drop on its own accord. Remove chicken to heated platter. Thicken sauce with leftover flour mixed with a little water, if desired.

STEAMED CHOCOLATE PUDDING

3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 1-oz. squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla
1¼ cups sifted all purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1 cup milk
½ cup chopped nuts
¼ cup seedless raisins

Cream butter; beat in sugar and egg. Add chocolate and vanilla. Combine dry ingredients; add creamed mixture alternately with milk. Stir in nuts and raisins. Turn into a well-greased 1 cup mold with hole in center. Cover with foil; tie securely. Place 2½ cups water in cooker with rack; set mold on rack. Cover and allow a small stream of steam to flow from vent tube for 30 minutes. Set control at 5 pounds pressure and cook for 30 minutes longer after control jiggles. Reduce pressure instantly.

Serve warm with ice cream or whipped topping.

*****

Follow directions for your pressure cooker for accurate time and pressure. Read your directions in your booklet that comes with your pressure cooker.

Library Notes

The following books have been received and are available at the Nicholas County Library, according to librarian Mrs. Jurlia Anderson:

Death In Cyprus by M.M. Kaye. The author of Death in Zanzibar presents another mystery set in an exotic locale and filled with romance. Twenty-year-old Amanda Derington decides to stop off on her world tour in Cyprus and steps into danger.

Deep Six by Oliver Cussler. Cussler established himself as a master storyteller in successes such as Raise the Titanic and Night Probe. Now he presents another with his hero Dirk Pitt, set against a great Asian shipping family.

First Lady From Plains by Rosalynn Carter. This forthright woman from a small town in Georgia shares the story of her rise to America's center stage and her personal, behind-the-scenes insights into crucial events such as the hostage crisis in Iran and the Camp David meetings.

Grace of Monaco by Steven Englund. He had met twice with Princess Grace of Monaco to discuss working with her on her autobiography. This biography was written with the help of many of Grace's closest friends.

The Movie Set by Jane Flaum Singer. Her newest most provocative novel follows five women who meet in 1964 at Ohio State University, go separate ways, and meet again years later as part of the movie set.

The Other Side of the Story by Judy Powell. Judy Powell has been recognized as the most influential presidential press secretary in history. In this expose, he reveals the good and bad points of the nation's press, giving the inside story and objecting to the media's abuse of its privileges.

Possessions by Judith Michael. From the author of Deceptions comes a glittering tale about Katherine, a woman who finds herself, a new life of glamor and a true family when her husband of 10 years vanishes.

Surrender in Moonlight by Jennifer Blake. The author brings out another smash bestseller. Young Lorna Forester of New Orleans is orphaned and falls under the power of her evil uncle.

The Talbot Odyssey by Nelson DeMille. Almost 35 years after the dissolution of the Office of Strategic Services, a handful of remaining OSS officers and their children are still operating. They discover a Soviet scheme headed by a man called Talbot, believed killed in 1945, who is receiving help from someone in their group.

What Every Woman Should Know About Marriage by Dr. Joyce Brothers. She uses her firm but gentle tone to show readers how to get married, how to stay married, and how to stay happy. She confronts even the most intimate problems.

The Wheel of Fortune by Susan Howatch. Ozmoon is the Godwin family manor for over four generations, a prize and a dangerous obsession for each member. When it is restored to a former grandeur, the restorer dies and mystery seeps in.

The Witches of Eastwick by John Updike. In the New England town of Eastwick, Rhode Island, three women who have dissolved their marriages pursue their careers and their newfound powers of magic, playfully at first. A brilliant novel from the author of Rabbit is Rich.

Portraits in Roses — 109 Years of Kentucky Derby Winners by Beverley Bryant. From Citation to Secretariat, from the first winner in 1875, Aristides to 1983's Sunny's Halo, the winners of the Derby throughout its history are depicted in gorgeous, full-color reproductions of original paintings.

Full Circle by Danielle Steele. Having sought security for herself and her daughter Tana, in the love of a wealthy man, young widow Jean Roberts finds her dreams dashed, and Tana tries to rebuild her life through commitment to the civil rights movement.

Kincaid by Henry Denker. Working as a family nurse practitioner in the backwoods of Appalachia, Kate Kincaid struggles to understand the ways of the people she serves and to choose between the two men she loves.

Southern Women by Lois Battle. Nonnie Hampton's home in Savannah, GA becomes the symbol of a common heritage and a focus of their lives, romances, fortunes, values and relationships for three generations of women.

Three Women Alone by L.R. Wright. Three women, Leona, Emily and Marion, differing in age but alike in their isolation and loneliness, find the strength to reach out to one another to forge the bonds of friendship.

Lizzie by Evan Hunter. Also known as Ed McBain, the admired novelist offers a fictional account of the 1892 double-murder case of Lizzie Borden, a prisoner of her appetites and in conflict with her times.

Man Around the House by Rhonda Dixon. Christine Robinson's reply to a newspaper ad for "a man around the house" brings Phil Bonney and some situations that she had not anticipated.

Midsummer Morning by Helen Ashfield. The author of The Long Highway Man recounts the tortuous love affair between Joanna Pennevarren and the Marquis of Esterbrook, both of whom are forced into suitable but loveless marriages.

Coldiron by F.M. Parker. Disguised as a boy and hired as a rancher hand with horse breeder Lake Coldiron, Christine Penn plans her revenge on Coldiron for her mother's death until she learns that she owes her life to Coldiron.

County homemakers meet

Headquarters

The Headquarters Homemakers met Tuesday, June 12 at Blue Licks State Park.

Mrs. Elsie Snelling called the meeting to order. Mrs. Phyllis Darrell gave the devotional. The minutes were read and roll call was answered by 13 members telling something funny that happened at their wedding. Mrs. Hazel Moore gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. Snelling gave a report on the food sale and the progress of the cookbook. Mrs. Marge Burnaw gave the family life lesson on "Why I Love My Family".

Program leaders were read for the coming year. Meeting places and devotional leaders were also selected for the coming year.

Everyone enjoyed a delicious potluck picnic lunch. After lunch, Mrs. Nanna Dale gave the program on clothing.

Miranda

The Miranda Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. Nancy Shaw on June 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Thelma Crowe, president, presided over the business. The roll was called and minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The devotional was on patience.

The Miranda Club was to bring in food and help at the food sale on Saturday to help defray expenses on the cookbook.

Plans for next year's meeting places and leaders were made.

Mrs. Ann Kincaid gave the lesson on remodeling clothes.

A picnic for July is planned at the home of Mrs. Thelma Crowe.

Parks

The Parks Homemakers Club met June 11 for dinner at Sorrell's Restaurant in Flemingsburg.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Charles Crawford. Mrs. Herbert McClanahan gave the devotional. There were 10 members and one guest, Mrs. Dorothy Sorge from Firebaugh, Calif.

Mrs. Elsie Shaw gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. Crawford named hostesses and program leaders for the coming year. Mrs. Shaw handed out the Family Life Newsletter, and Mrs. Louise Thompson gave the lesson on Rags to Riches.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Eula Carter on Sept. 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Maysville to host wind orchestra

The widely acclaimed American Wind Symphony Orchestra of Pittsburgh is coming to Maysville June 24-27.

Each year the orchestra calls the waterways of America home. For three days the unique, floating arts center, Point Counterpoint II, will be moored at Hardymon's Landing, East Second and Commerce streets.

The Maysville visit begins with a community church service featuring the AWSO at St. Patrick Church, 11 a.m., Sunday, June 24. The grand finale is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, June 26, with a free public concert from the vessel, followed by a fireworks display.

'Historymobiles' are now available

The Kentucky Historical Society will bring its popular "Historymobiles" to schools, parks, county fairs and community events.

Now available for presentation are two historical exhibits entitled "Rivers, Roads, Rails: Transportation in 19th-Century Kentucky" and "The Civil War in Kentucky."

Interested groups must schedule dates well in advance, and need furnish only an appropriate electrical outlet and an adequate parking area.

A knowledgeable historian travels with the mobile exhibits, showing the slide presentations and interpreting the displays. Many good dates are still available for the summer. For more information, contact the Historymobile staff at the Kentucky Historical Society, P.O. Box 1, Frankfort 40602, telephone 502-564-2662.
