TWO JUNIORS ATTEND
YOUTH SEMINAR AT UK
Two high school juniors from Nicholas County High School attended the Kentucky Youth Seminar June 18 at the University of Kentucky in Lexington.
They were Brian Keith Walker, Boone 1, and Kim Barker, Boone 4.
The students were selected on the basis of their participation in the American Private Enterprise System Program, a 4-11 project conducted last year in this county.
The annual Kentucky Youth Seminar is sponsored by the Kentucky Council of Cooperatives Inc. and UK's Cooperative Extension Service.

Retired teachers honored guests
Retired teachers were honored guests at a faculty dinner sponsored by the Nicholas County Education Association. From front, Leona Pumphrey, Edna Huddleston, Janette Wallace, Ruth Anderson, Mae Grimes, Bob Catherine Smart, Margery Wilson, Charles Wilson, Dorothy Sundry and Lucille Clark.

Waffle extremes give farmers new problems
Mother Nature is keeping Nicholas County farmers in their lather. As of June 18, crop planting was 95 percent complete. In some areas wheat by heavy rain, in other areas, rain flooded lowlands and riverbanks where corn and other crops were planted. Colder-than-normal temperatures kept early plant growth at a minimum.
Now farmers are faced with another weather extreme — above-average temperatures and below-normal rainfall. They are concerned with getting enough water to livestock and crops and with getting field work done in a timely manner.

Figures released by the Kentucky Crop and Livestock Reporting Service show that the state's crop planting is ahead of the planting at this time last year.
At June 18, corn planting was 95 percent complete. It is 13 percent below last year's figure and one percent above a five-year average. Sixty-seven percent of Kentucky's bar-ley planting is completed. This year, barley planting was only 45 percent complete. A five-year average for this year's crop still is two percent below the average.

Sewage Disposal Fee Notice
Larry Trussell, Environmentalist with the Nicholas County Health Center, reports that the WEDCO District Board of Health, at the June 16, 1984 meeting, increased the on-site sewage disposal system installation permit fee from $50.00 to $100.00 to help offset at least 50% of the $200.00 cost required to carry out inspections and approvals for these units.
Lexington-Fayette County charges $120.00 while Nicholas County charges $100.00 for the same services offered here in WEDCO.
If you have any questions, please call the Nicholas County Health Center.
