UK Sports Report
If the world is a playground and apparently a big chunk of it is being in UK basketball coach Joe B. Hall.

Kentucky landed yet another basketball player last week who has all-star potential in T.J. "Hot Rod" Hunter (185 pounds, 6'8").

I have to chuckle at Kentucky's recruiting success year after year. Example: Marvin Terpstra and Sam Bowie are 6'10 Cincinnati Robert Lock and Blakebe show up.

How good a prospect is Blakebe? Nobody knows yet, but the indicators are promising. First, his size is good. He can shoot a good shot and he wants to be in a winging to play college. He is a good shooter. Second, Blakebe is good enough to play college in the West. Kentucky Olympic team in Los Angeles this summer. That is not an endorsement from UK, sophomore Kenny Walker who played against Blakebe last summer in Spain. Walker called Blakebe "a good ball player who needs upper body strength."

Blakebe had 20 points and 15 rebounds against Walker's American team in Spain.

Letter on Behalf
Steve Archer of Radcliff, Ky. wrote last week about UK and Blakebe and those opposed to his coming to UK. "People who feel something negative in UK's recruitment of a West German youth to play basketball are living in a small, arid world where they think the world continues to rotate. This is a very young, energetic student, a well-attended American University, who should be a worthy foreign student—let's give a chance."

Some people who would criticize the recruitment of Hunter and Blakebe are protesting that UK is not to criticize UK's program of a basketball program. It is a long past time for all of us to realize that we are Americans, we are also world citizens. "Anti-foreigner" attitudes are divisive and damage chances for world peace.

Even "Scoundrels" like myself are intelligent and aware enough to realize that "foreigners" are just human beings in another part of the world. If Blakebe can help UK's program, I hope we get him.

Comment: And Kentucky did.

NCAA wins
Heading into this year's NCAA, which will reach the final NCAA tournament victory. Ed Wynn, UK's coach, wrote "The Wizard of Westwood had a 60 percent (60 percent) Kentucky's Adolph Rupp is second (51.45 percent)."

Dan Smith, North Carolina (48 percent), and Guy Lewis, Houston (25.1 percent), are McGahey, Marquette (28.18 percent), and Bobby Knight, Indiana

Bat Jackets open season against tough Rowan Co.

The 1984 Nicholas County basketball team opened the season here Monday night in a 68-56 victory over Rowan County. The game was held at the Nicholas County gymnasium in Paducah, Ky. The game was a close one, with Rowan County leading at halftime. Nicholas County's defense was the key to their victory, holding Rowan County to 28 points in the second half.

Coach Andy Anderson led his team to a 68-56 victory over Rowan County. Nicholas County's defense was the key to their victory, holding Rowan County to 28 points in the second half.

Anderson pointed to the fact that despite a losing record, the Jackets are one of the best in the state. He said that the team is young and has a lot of potential. He said that the team is young and has a lot of potential.

Spelling bee winners
Grade level winners in the Courier-Journal Spelling Bee of KY were, left to right: Rebecca Crawford, 11th grade; Nita Villalob, sixth grade; and Mattie, seventh grade; Heidi Malville, eighth grade; Neal was the overall winner and will go to Louisville on April 6 to take part in the statewide competition.

Good spellers
Rebecca Crawford and Wynne Roe, students of NCEC, participated in the regional spelling bee at Fleming County Middle School on March 16. Both placed second in their divisions. They were accompanied by Mrs. Phyllis Guthrie, local coordinator for the bee.

Best comeback player of the year
Terry Beal of Sam Houston State. He led his team to a 20-11 record and was named the best comeback player of the year.

Best player of the year
Dillon of the year. Dillon was named the best player of the year for his outstanding performance.

It takes jobs to build a bright future.

Kentucky needs more jobs for today's generation — and tomorrow. Bringing jobs into the state requires the commitment of many people, including government and business leaders and the citizens of our communities.

UK has assisted in this effort for many years to help improve communities and seek new industries for more and better jobs for Kentuckians. This effort continues today. We're also meeting the need for an adequate supply of reasonably priced electric power for manufacturing and business.

UK's industrial electric rates, as well as rates for all our customers, are among the lowest in the nation. That's important when corporate decision-makers are looking for new plant sites. A recent survey of industrial power bills shows that UK ranks 13th — the lowest of the list of the 34 companies reporting.

As the nation's economy builds strength, UK is ready with electric power of favorable rates. That can help bring more and better jobs — and an even brighter future — to Kentuckians.

Prichard committee seeks educator input

The Prichard Committee for Adequate Educational Services of Kentucky is seeking input from educators, principals and school superintendents — to share individual ideas and suggestions for improving Kentucky education. The committee has a special interest in educators' views on these topics:

- In a letter indicate what kind of staff career development and financial compensation, desirable working conditions and actual climate, certification and teacher education, continuing education and "in-service" education and teacher and administrator evaluation and "accountability."
- In a letter indicate what kind of work you do (teacher, administrator, counselor, librarian, etc.), the level of the school elementary, middle, secondary etc.) how long you have worked and educational background.
- If you do not wish to be named, please send to: The Prichard Committee, P.O. Box 188, Lexington 40501.

New farm service premieres on KET

Kentucky farmers and anyone interested in farming can get the latest farm news by tuning in to KET's television signal from KET. Viewers can read up-to-date reports covering livestock and crop prices, weather, pest and disease outbreaks and other farm news. The program is broadcast from the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The innovative system, called "Ag-Text," takes up-to-date agricultural information from a computer at UK and transmits it nationwide through a television signal from KET.
