Be 'fire smart'

It began on Sunday, October 8, 1971 at the close of an unseasonably warm day in Chicago. Legend has it that at approximately 8:45 p.m. a cow owned by Mrs. O'Leary kicked over a lantern in a hay-filled barn.

especially in Nicholas County. But the highest number of residential fire deaths occur in fires caused by cigarette smoking, which was blamed for a staggering 35.2 percent of all such fatalities in 1981.

Of foxhunts and football

Foxhunts in the mid-forties seemed to be the highlight of the fall season, many more than the football games and the attending hoopla.

Here Abouts

...with Emily A. Wolf

The intervening years of newspaper and radio coverage of the football season have caused the foxhunting tradition to fade in popularity.

Early-warning systems, however, do not eliminate the need for a well-informed family escape plan and fire drills.

Agree or not Belaboring trials and errors

By R.C. Van Curen. Recently this column suggested that law covering measurement and volume in property and personal damage cases should automatically give the damaged party a mortgage on the future of the convicted person if restitution were not made within 60 days of the conviction.

assumption here is that reference is made to the requirement of going back through the courts in a separate action to get the damages.
