Jackets drown in Bath, 34-13

Coach Ben Pumphrey opened the season 10 weeks ago with 144 wins compiled over a head coaching career spanning 29 years.

Going into this Friday night's game at Frankfort, he's still looking for win No. 145, in his most disappointing season in an otherwise successful coaching career.

The Bath County Wildcats took the Nicholas County record to 0-10 last Friday with a well-played 34-13 victory.

Bath scored first on an 85 yard drive. Nicholas retaliated, tying the score on a three-yard run by Pat Pope and taking a 7-6 lead on Rocky Young's extra point kick. Nicholas upped its lead to 13-6 on an 80-yard punt return by Young.

Then, the Bath teamwork took over. Chris Swartz threw short passes and the Wildcats ran the middle to go ahead 14-13. They covered an onside kick and continued the same attack to go ahead 20-13. Two long bombs by Swartz accounted for the Wildcats last two scores. Meantime, they kicked the ball away from the Bluejackets, played tough defense, and capitalized on interceptions, fumbles and field position.

"The Bluejackets offer no excuses," coach Ben Pumphrey said. "They made Bath beat them instead of giving the game away. They played clean, hard-nosed football and were beaten by a good well-disciplined team."

Offensive stats — Pope, 7 carries 36 yards; Blakeman, 2 carries 7 yards; Young, 4 carries, 9 yards, 6-4-2 on passes and 1 of 1 EP and 110 yards on 2 kick returns; Wells, 35 yards on 2 kick returns; Watkins, 2 receptions 30 yards; Dotson, 2 receptions, 28 yards; Hardin, 4 punts, 168 yards.

Defensive stats — Curtsinger, 13 tackles; Wells, 12 tackles, 1 fumble recovery; Young, 11 tackles; Ledford and Baker, 9 tackles; Kirby, 7 tackles; Coldiron and Allison, 5 tackles; Pope, 4 tackles; McGuffey, 3 tackles; Watkins and Dotson, 2 tackles.

	NCHS	Bath Co.
1st downs	5	16
Yards rushing	46	135
Passes	1-4-2	20-10-0

The Jackets travel to Frankfort Friday night, the last game of the season for NCHS and retiring coach Pumphrey.

'Little E' appears on pre-game show

Emery Clark Jr., better known as "Little E" when he played football at Carlisle High School and later at the University of Kentucky, appeared on television Saturday prior to the LSU-UK football game.

Clark, a Flemingsburg veterinarian, was interviewed on Channel 27, along with John Griggs and Ben Zaranka, teammates on Bear Bryant-coached teams that went to three bowl games, including the Sugar Bowl in 1950.

SCOUTS ATTEND FALL FELLOWSHIP IN HARLAN COUNTY

Matthew and Joshua Guthrie, members of Boy Scout Troop 50 of Carlisle, and Bill Guthrie, assistant scoutmaster, traveled to Harlan County on Saturday to attend the Fall Fellowship of Kawida Lodge 480, Order of the Arrow.

The Order is an honorary brotherhood of Scouts and adult leaders who excel in camping and outdoor skills and who exemplify the spirit of scouting. The Fellowship is held early in the year in October to allow the Arrowmen an opportunity for fellowship before winter weather closes the camping season.

The schedule consisted of learning sessions about the Order and its meaning, contests for ceremonial teams, games and contests. It concluded with the fall banquet on Saturday evening.

Lowe buys top bull

A crowd of over 400 persons watched as the top indexing Polled Hereford bull commanded a price of $2000 to be the top selling bull at the 1984 Summer Test Sale on Thursday, Oct. 4, at the UK Eden Shale Farm near Owenton.

The "1st 18" bull was consigned by Long Branch Farms of Brandenburg and sold to James Lowe of Carlisle. This August 1983 born bull was sired by Long Branch Ban Mill, a bull the McGehee family of Long Branch Farms bred and currently owns. He finished the test with an ADG on test of 3.39 lb/d and an adjusted WPA of 3.40 lb/d to index at the top of the Polled Hereford pen.

WAKE UP Nicholas County!

Those of you who did not attend the open forum Monday evening to hear in person what the school board candidates had to say missed more than a good presentation of information.

You missed a great "no-show": four of the seven candidates did not attend (two are present board members). Their failure to participate showed a lack of responsibility to the citizens of Nicholas County.

THINK ABOUT THAT! Vote to elect people who can and will think, discuss issues, make intelligent decisions and speak out. Don't elect people who just want to be active, or have good intentions . . . there are more important qualifications. This is probably why only three candidates responded:

Marion Sims, Jr.
Louise Zachary

Changing times

Attending last week's the UK-LSU game were representatives from seven bowls — Citrus, Peach, Sugar, Gator, Sun, Holiday and Bluebonnet Bowls

Too bad for Kentucky.

Along with a regional television audience the scouts got to see UK of yesteryear. A bumbling, confused self destructor. But nevermind, perhaps the Wildcats can regroup in time to reach their magic number afterall, seven.

Bowl scouts are interested in UK "win or lose," Russell Rice, UK sports information director, said before the LSU game, "because there are some big games still to come."

Six victories won't be enough to get UK a bowl bid. "No," Rice said. "They (some scouts) are figuring a (UK) win over North Texas State But I don't think six will do it."

Comment: But seven could make things peachy.

Basketball

UK Coach Jo-Joe B. Hall met the media last week and answered questions like, "is it more fun to have a Cinderella type team like this?"

"Very definitely," Hall replied. Every club's different. It makes for more excitement. I think it will be an exciting year. If we don't get beat down to badly in December and lose our spirit."

The rugged SEC? "This is the kind of year when you need a December with four or five teams you can warm up on. Unfortunately we don't have that luxury with SMU, Indiana, Purdue and Louisville all thrown right there in the early part of December. It isn't the right kind of schedule to bring along a young ball club."

Scoring is a major concern.

"Shooting is the wait and see part of this ball club, to see where our scoring is going to come from," Hall said. "Definitely some players are going to have to pick up some of that slack. Usually that happens when the opportunities open up for other players. It's wait and see."

In the SEC race Hall expects LSU to be the powerhouse of our conference, but I think Alabama will be very strong with Buck Johnson and Bobby Lee Hurt. I think they're the best two front line players in our conference.

"Tennessee will be awfully good and I see Auburn being very strong with their guards."

The freshmen

■ Robert Lock is 6-9 225 pounds. The boyish looking Californian chose UK over UCLA and Arizona State, "because I'm a small town boy and Los Angeles was too big for me. And besides, I felt UK had the better basketball program and coach Hall would make me the best player I can be."

Lock expects to battle Bret Bearup and fellow freshman Cedric Jenkins for the low post spot left by Melvin Turpin. His is quite an opportunity.

"I sure it, it sure is," Lock said. "It was enhanced when Gunther Behnke decided to go (home). I intend to do my best to improve, to deserve to play for UK."

Lock already has some large sneakers to fill, but he will try and fill quite a jersey as well. The California will wear No. 44. Kentucky's all-time leading scorer Dan Issel wore No. 44.

■ Richard Madison, at 6-6 and 215 pounds, is a James Lee look-a-like. And the freshman from Memphis has a style that resembles that of the flamboyant Lee as well.

What kind of UK team does Madison expect the 1984-85 one to be? "We'll have to play physical, get on the (rebounding) boards hard all the time, and get out on the break."

The break Madison's eyes sparkled.

"I think we'll have a good running team," he said. "That's my kind of game and we got a lot of quickness."

■ Ed Davender is a bubbly type kid who may well become a Rupp Arena crowd favorite. The 6-1 180-pound freshman prefers a fast break game of hoop too.

"I love it," he said. "I love it. But not out of control of course."

Out of control? That would happen only one time, someone said to Davender. "Then you'd be sitting four seats from the end (of UK's bench) over there."

Davender laughs well.

A native of New York city, he admitted being homesick his first two weeks in Lexington. "I didn't think I was going to stay here," he said. "I'm used to tall buildings everywhere, and projects, things like that. Don't you have projects in Kentucky? I haven't seen one yet."

More laughs. Nice kid.

Shrunk?

Looking over the team roster a reporter asked Joe Hall if the "new" listed heights for this year's players means "the players have shrunk."

"No, not at all," the coach shot back. "Those are the true heights. We try and be honest about it."

Comment: In UK's media guide last year Winston Bennett, James Blackmon and Paul Andrews were listed at 6-7, 6-5 and 6-3. This year they are listed 6-6 and 6-2 and 6-3.

True heights? As a high school senior Lock was listed at 6-10, Cedric Jenkins 6-9 and Ed Davender 6-3. Now they are 6-9, 6-6 and 6-1.

Recruiting

■ NCAA rules say that college recruiters may not name youngsters they are recruiting to reporters, but UCLA's Hazzard came close, saying that UCLA wants "a very tall player from Texas and a guard from Philadelphia. The Texan is 7-0 Tito Horford from Houston, who, UK, among others is recruiting, and 6-1 Jerome "Pooh" Richardson from Philadelphia.
