

Sept. 16-22 named Farm Safety Week

The 16th National Farm Safety Week will be observed Sept. 16-22. The theme, "Safety for better safety and health," recognizes that safety and health must be a continuing management goal of those in the farming, forestry and fishing industry.

Nationally, in 1983, farm work accounted for approximately 1,000 deaths and about 100,000 disabling injuries. These injuries affect farm families about $1 billion annually.

The Kentucky Department of Agriculture is a very strong supporter of the Kentucky Farm and Home Safety Council. Initiatives were developed concerning the personal and financial health of farm families. Agriculture Commissioner David E. Bowers.

Unfortunately, Kentucky is reported to have the highest rate of tractor-related deaths in the country. If we can do anything to reduce that number, we need to do it. Bowers.

to ride on equipment, failing to disengage or shut off equipment before death in Kentucky.

There are many reasons why farmers everywhere are more susceptible to accidents. In Kentucky, one reason is the prevalence of small tractors in the state. Small tractors are more difficult to maneuver and tractors without roll frames are more dangerous.

Another factor in farm safety is that farming is a high-stress occupation which often requires farmers to be in long, hard hours, especially during planting and harvesting.

Just last week Clay Moore fell from a barn here while hanging silos, suffering three broken ribs and severe trauma.

Reports show that allowing children to ride on equipment, failing to disengage or shut off equipment before death in Kentucky.

THE HOT DOG VENDOR

There was a man who loopy by the side of the road and sold hot dogs.

He sold very good hot dogs.

He put up signs along the highway and advertised the newspaper telling how good they were.

He stood on the side of the road and cried.

"Buy a hot dog, Master?"

And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun buffet.

He bought a bigger stand to take care of his trade.

He finally got his son home from college to help him out. But then something happened.

His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio and watching TV?"

There's a big depression. The foreign situation is terrible. The domestic situation is worse.

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college. He listens to the radio and watches TV and he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his signs and cancelled his buffet.

Both of them stood out on the highway to sell his hot dogs.

And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right, son," the father said to the boy.

"We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

PERSON'S SS NUMBER KEY TO PROTECTION

A person's Social Security number is the key to his or her lifetime protection under Social Security.

All earnings that a person has over his or her working lifetime are recorded under that number. If an incorrect number is used, that person may not get proper credit for all earnings.

People should always take their Social Security card with them when they get a new job and make sure that their employer copies the number just as it is shown on the card.

People should keep a record of their number in a safe place. Then, if the original card is lost, a new card with the same number can be obtained easier than if the number were not known.

If a person ever becomes aware that he or she has more than one Social Security number, the individual should contact any Social Security office right away. The people there will help get the situation cleared up so that the numbers are cross-referenced and the person gets full credit for all earnings.

It is against the law for a person to use someone else's number. It is also against the law to give false information when getting a number. Penalties include fine or jail sentence or both.

Bluegrass Steer Show Sept. 20

The 1984 Bluegrass 4-H and FFA Steer Show is set for Thursday, Sept. 20, at the Bluegrass II Stockyards in Lexington.

The show is expected to attract 1000 members from 144 and FFA members from 11 counties in Central Kentucky and state Agriculture Council members David E. Bowers. Included are steers owned by Todd Day, James Paul, Judge and Josephus. Members of Nicholas County.

On-farm judging will be conducted by Lane Stone of the University of Kentucky beginning at noon. Ron Craig will serve as chairman of the contest.

All steers entering the show will be sold at auction Thursday at 1 p.m. "Not only is this a good chance to purchase a top-quality steer for the home freezer," Bowers pointed out, "but the sales benefit the 4-H and FFA youth in the Central Kentucky area."

In addition to the on-foot show and sale, all steers are eligible to compete in the carcass evaluation. Steers will be sent to Dawson-Baker Packing in Louisville for entry in the carcass contest.

Results of the carcass contest will be announced at the Bluegrass Steer Show Awards Banquet on Saturday, Oct. 1.

The Bluegrass Steer Show is one of five district 4-H and FFA steer shows held throughout the Commonwealth. The Kentucky Department of Agriculture sponsors these activities in cooperation with the University of Kentucky Extension Service and the Bureau of Vocational Education.
