

Horford's word was shaky, indeed

It was a long time ago that the Horford family was in the hot seat. The Horford family was in the hot seat when the Horford family was in the hot seat. The Horford family was in the hot seat when the Horford family was in the hot seat.

As injured sophomore running back Mark Higgs said last week, "I want to come back this year because our offense line is supposed to be one of the best ever here."

Horford told a reporter from the Houston Post last Friday that he had given up an attending Houston and, the writer added, said he would go to Kentucky.

Horford said an appeal would be filed in the fall. Horford said he was going to school in other words, he was in trouble.
