Bumper crop of tomatoes

Robert Carson is noted for the large, German tomatoes he grows on his farm of 600 Aker Road. This year is no exception. What he doesn't sell he gives away or his wife Morgan eats. Each is hand picked to avoid bruising.

Roads, environment, pricing big issues

With little more than four months before the next session of the General Assembly, much work remains to be done. One is to get to work on the issue of transportation. Another is to get to work on the issue of the environment. A third is to get to work on the issue of pricing.

Walvin' Bob Waugh remembered

Just one moonlit night, Walvin' Bob Waugh, his empty hand clasped to his waist, came rattling out of Midwayburg behind Carlisle, shouting and shouting as he went. He was shouting about the moon, about the stars, about the beauty of the night. He was shouting about the beauty of the night. He was shouting about the beauty of the night.
