Livestock prices improve; corn and soybeans drop

Livestock prices improved modestly at mid-December while corn and soybean prices continued to drop, according to the Kentucky Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Hog prices at mid-December averaged $46.50 per cwt. compared with $46.30 per cwt. for November. Beef cattle prices rose to $64.50 per cwt. at mid-month compared to $64.00 per cwt. in November. Calves at $60.50 per cwt. were up from $48.70 in November.

Mid-December corn prices averaged $2.48 per bushel, off four cents from the November 1984 average and the lowest since the January 1983 average price of $2.51 per bushel. Soybeans averaged $5.80 per bushel at mid-month, down from the November average of $6.17 and the lowest since the $5.80 average price in February 1983. Burley tobacco markets were closed until Jan. 7, 1985. Kentucky prices have averaged $188.60 per cwt. so far this season with a bell-wide average of $187.57 per cwt.

The December All Farm Products Index of Prices Received by Farmers decreased three points (1.3 percent) from November to 124 percent of its January-December 1977 average. Lower prices for oranges, cotton, soybeans, broilers and milk were partially offset by higher prices for hogs, cattle, hay and turkeys. The index was six points (4.3 percent) below a year ago.

The Index of Prices Paid by Farmers for commodities and services, interest, taxes and farm wage rates for December was 364 percent of its 1977 base. The Index was unchanged for the second consecutive month. Declines in the feed, fuels and fertilizer indexes were offset by the increase in the feeder livestock component. Compared with a year earlier, the Index was up one point (0.6 percent).
