WINTER SIGHT-SAVER: KEEP CAR BATTERY FIT AND KNOW JUMP-START PROCEDURES

Injuries from one of winter's greatest hazards — the dead auto battery — can be reduced if motorists take some precautions, says the National Society to Prevent Blindness.

According to the Society, an estimated 20,733 people were treated in a hospital emergency room in 1983 for a battery-related injury. More than two-thirds, or 13,873 of these were to the eyes.

"A lighted cigarette, or a spark from a dropped tool, booster or charge cable can ignite a battery," says Ray Strange, chairman of the Kentucky affiliate's eye safety committee. "The explosion can throw battery acid into the eyes, causing severe burns, possible vision impairment or even blindness."

"The best way to reduce the risk of a dead battery is to make sure it's in good working condition," Strange comments. The following are some suggestions from the Society that motorists can use to assure their car battery's peak performance:

— Water level. Water lost through normal operation overcharging should be replaced.

— Corrosion. Inspect battery terminals on a regular basis and clean as needed. Remove corrosion with a cleaning solution of water and ammonia or baking soda. Coat terminals with petroleum jelly after attaching cable terminals to battery. Replace any severely corroded terminals.

— Charge. Check the charging system annually.

— Manufacturer's instructions on batteries and in car's operating manual should be followed.

When jump-starting a dead battery:

Be sure vent caps are tight and level; damp cloth, if available, placed over vent caps; vehicles are not touching; both electrical systems are the same voltage.

Do not jump-start if fluid is frozen!

Attaching the cables (do in order listed):

(1) Clamp one jumper cable to positive terminal of discharged battery wired to starter or solenoid. Do not allow positive cable clamps to touch any metal other than battery terminals.

(2) Connect other end of positive cable to positive terminal of booster battery.

(3) Connect one end of the second cable (negative) to the other terminal (negative) of booster battery.

(4) Make final connection on engine block of stalled engine (not to negative post) away from battery, carburetor, fuel line, any tubing or moving parts.

(5) Stand back from both vehicles. Start car with good battery, then start the disabled car

(6) Remove cables in reverse order of connections beginning by first removing cable from engine block or metallic ground.

Even "maintenance free" batteries pose some of the explosive potential of their non-sealed battery counterparts, the Society cautions. Always wear safety goggles when performing any of these maintenance or jump-start tasks.

The Society has the jump-start procedures listed on a bright yellow vinyl sticker. For a copy, send 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped, business-sized envelope to: Prevent Blindness, 727 Starks Building, Louisville, Ky. 40202
