FBI clears manufacturer of Girl Scout cookies

The FBI has now confirmed that suspicious incidents during the sale of Girl Scout cookies in Spring 1984 did not occur in the manufacturing or distribution. The announcement, which concludes a nationwide FBI investigation, was made by James V. Lehman, agent in charge of the Kentucky FBI office on Jan. 15.

Local Girl Scout officials were present with the report. "We are very happy that the FBI has concluded its investigation with such positive results," said Sarah Lee, Wilderness Road Council president. "We are also very appreciative of the public support given to the Girl Scout cookie sale over the years. We look forward to this year's sale confident that this support will continue," concluded Mrs. Lee.
