Kay's Kitchen

By Kay Fisher

There were five pairs of hands in this scene as Kay Fisher picks blueberries from one of the two dozen bushes that Willie Taylor grows on a hobby. From left to right, Dorcas Honey, holder of record for his cup of A, and through had done the possible hands of Mrs. Betty Farris, who took the picture with the Mercury camera.

Nicholas County is not so far behind Bath and Woodford counties when it comes to blueberries. We have Mr. Willie Taylor who grows, among other things, beautiful blueberries on his place in the Westwood Road.

Recently I learned through my neighbor, Beulah Henry, that I would like to come and pick blueberries, and that might be to bring a camera. Since I'm more at home in the kitchen than in a camera, I asked Warren to go with me on Sunday evening, June 23.

Dorcas took on our first berry picking venture. The six blueberry bushes were full of ripe clusters and more to ripen as the season progresses. And each bush was a new way to keep the birds out.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor greeted us and were nice enough to help fill my bucket with the largest blueberries I have ever seen.

White blueberries are in the market, here are some recipes a bit different from the usual blueberry fare.

- OPEN-FACE BLUEBERRY Tart
- 1 cup unbleached all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 cup strained lemon juice
- Filling:
1/2 cup blueberries, washed and picked over
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup strained lemon juice
- Directions:
1. Sift flour, salt and sugar in a bowl and cut in butter with a pastry blender until mixture is the texture of coarse meal. Cut in butter until the mixture is the texture of coarse meal. Pat in butter until the mixture is the texture of coarse meal. Pat in butter until the mixture is the texture of coarse meal.

Blueberries cash crop alternative

Will Taylor feels that raising your own fruits and vegetables that require a lot of time and money is well worth the cost. The Nicholas County resident is presently in the process of growing blueberries behind his home on Whetstone Road. While it's just a hobby at this point, Taylor believes it could be a profitable venture on a commercial level, selling through a produce dealer he knows in Cincinnati.

County crops look good at midseason

By Mike Phillips
Nicholas Co. Extension agent As we approach the July 40 holiday the outlook for midseason crops appears to be good. When prospects looked rather dismal for a July crop, the rains finally came and are now turning a good crop.

Birds enjoy blueberries too...

So Willie Taylor of the Whetstone Road made these thirty 'cups' of chicken wire to protect his 24 blueberry bushes. Mr. Taylor grows blueberries and a considerable number of other berries, such as raspberries and a variety of other berries.
