Boone Forest campgrounds remain open

Two large campgrounds on the Daniel Boone National Forest will remain open beyond the regular closing date to permit campers to enjoy the ideal weather which usually occurs in October and to observe the changing colors in tree leaves.

The Holly Bay campground, on Laurel River Lake on the London Ranger District, will be operated from Sept. 9 to Oct. 13 by the owners of the adjacent Holly Bay marina.

Starting Sept. 9, the Forest Service will reduce user fees and the campground will operate on a self-pay basis under which campers register, put the fee in an envelope, and deposit it in a container at the campground's entrance station.

These rates will apply: Single family unit with electricity and water hookups, $9; double family unit with electricity and water hookups, $10; single family unit, tent only, no electric or water hookups, $3, and double family unit, tent only, no electric or water hookups, $6.

Holly Bay campground is located on the north side of Laurel River Lake near the dam. It is approximately 13 miles west of Exit 38, Interstate Highway 75 and can be reached by traveling Kentucky Highway 192 and Forest Service Road 611.

The Twin Knobs campground at Cave Run Lake on the Morehead Ranger District will reopen Oct. 4 for Columbus Day and on weekends only during October following its regular closing date of Oct. 7. Unemployed rate drop in Nicholas

Ninety-four Kentucky counties, including Nicholas, reported a decline in unemployment rates between July and August, while 26 had higher rates, according to figures released this week by the Cabinet for Human Resources.

Counties reporting rates above 10.0 percent numbered 38 in August, compared to 47 in July and 49 in August 1984. Nicholas County fell from a 11.7 in July to 9.2 in August.

Compared to August 1984, 80 counties had higher rates, 28 reported lower rates and in two counties the rates were identical to the figures a year ago.

The local jobless rates reflect a decline in the statewide rate from a revised 9.2 percent in July to a preliminary 8.8 percent in August. Nationally the rate dropped from 7.4 percent in July to 6.9 percent in August. The comparable state and national rates are not seasonally adjusted.

Increases in agricultural, trade and education jobs played a big role in reducing the state's unemployment between July and August, according to state labor market analyst Ed Blackwell.

Five counties reported rates below 3.0 percent. Trimble County's 3.0 percent rate was the lowest, followed by Woodford with 3.2 percent, Scott with 3.7 percent, and Fayette and Clark with 4.1 percent each.

Menifee County's 25.3 percent rate was the highest in the state. Two other counties reported rates above 20.0 percent. They were Carter, with 21.7 percent and Wolfe, with 20.4 percent.

Statewide agricultural employment accounted for the most job growth. Agricultural jobs increased by 9,300, largely because of the tobacco harvest season, Blackwell said.
