Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Farris

Reception will honor golden anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Farris will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, March 2, with a reception from 2-4 p.m. at the Carlisle Depot.

They were married March 6, 1936 in Carlisle. Mr. Farris retired from the Kentucky Highway Department in 1973 and Mrs. Farris retired from Fullingtons in 1978.

The reception will be hosted by their children: SMSgt Loretta Farris, USAF, Retired; Mrs. James "Lefty" Caswell of Cynthiana; Ron and Paul Farris, Lexington, and Mrs. Tommy Collins of Versailles.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend. The couple request no gifts.

Social Security news report

A person's Social Security number is the key to his or her protection against the loss or reduction of income because of retirement, disability or death.

This is because future Social Security benefits will be based on the record of earnings kept under the number shown on the Social Security during a person's working lifetime.

The person should keep a record of the number with other important papers. If a person loses his or her Social Security card, he or she can take the record to any Social Security office to apply for a new card which will show the old number. Proof of identity is required when applying.

More information about Social Security numbers and their use can be obtained at the Maysville Social Security office located at 739 U.S. 68, Maysville. The telephone number is 606-564-4096.

Kay's Kitchen

By Kay Fisher

The recipes this week will perk up any meal. There is a sauce to serve over fish, and a quick and easy roll recipe. Use these recipes now and later.

BLUE CHEESE SAUCE FOR FISH

1 can frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup, thawed
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ cup sour cream
½ cup crumbled blue cheese

In saucepan combine soup and lemon juice; heat until bubbly. Blend in blue cheese and sour cream. Cook over low heat till heated through.

To use: Pour over partially thawed fish fillets and bake in 375 degree oven, uncovered, for about 25-30 minutes or until fish flakes easily.

QUICK BUTTERHORN ROLLS

Dissolve 1 package dry yeast in ¼ cup warm water. Stir in 2¼ cups biscuit mix; beat vigorously. Turn onto surface dusted with biscuit mix; knead till smooth, about 30 strokes. Cover; let rest 10 minutes. Roll to a 12-inch circle; cut in 16 wedges. Beginning at wide end, roll each wedge toward point. Place on greased baking sheet, point side down. Cover with damp cloth; let rise 1 hour till double. Bake at 400 degrees for 10-15 minutes. Brush with butter while warm.

OVEN SALMON CAKES

1¼ cups coarsely crushed rich round cheese crackers (about 30)
1 slightly beaten egg
2 tablespoons minced parsley
2 tablespoons sliced green onion
2 tablespoons milk
Dash of pepper
Dash of Worcestershire sauce
1 16-oz. can salmon, drained, flaked, bone removed
1 cup shredded sharp natural cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
1 tomato, cut in 8 thin wedges

Combine ¾ cup of the cracker crumbs, egg, parsley, onion, milk, pepper and worcestershire sauce. Add salmon and cheese; mix thoroughly. Shape into 4 patties. Mix margarine and remaining crumbs. Coat patties with mixture. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes. Place tomato wedges on cakes and bake 5 minutes.

CLAM CHOWDER

2 cups diced potatos
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup water
1 can condensed Manhattan-style clam chowder
1 cup milk
17½ oz. can minced clams, drained
2 tablespoons dry white wine or sherry
½ cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons snipped parsley

In large saucepan, combine first five ingredients. Cook, covered, till potatoes are tender, about 10 minutes. Mash slightly. Add chowder, 1 cup milk, clams and wine. Heat but do not boil. Whip cream; stir into chowder. Season with salt and pepper. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Cardinal Hill reports numbers

Last year 830 patients, with ages ranging from preschoolers to those in their 90's, were treated in the Outpatient Therapeutic Services of Cardinal Hill Hospital, Lexington rehabilitation center for disabled citizens of Central and Eastern Kentucky.

The OTS Department has grown steadily since it was formally established in 1982 at Cardinal Hill. Referrals are received from many sources, and people of all ages with a wide range of physical disabilities are served.

The primary services offered in the OTS Department are physical therapy, occupational therapy, and speech and language therapy. As the number of patients grows, so does the number of therapists. The department presently consists of seven full time physical therapists, five occupational therapists, and six speech and language pathologists.

People with a wide variety of physical disabilities, including strokes, brain injuries, spinal cord injuries, amputations, neuromuscular disorders, orthopedic problems, congenital disorders, and speech and language disorders, are treated.

In addition to offering therapy to outpatients at Cardinal Hill Hospital, physical therapy, occupational therapy, and speech/language therapy also are provided to children enrolled in the preschool at Cardinal Hill. Therapists also travel to a number of area schools and preschools in the Central Kentucky area to provide therapy in the school setting to children with disabilities. Leslie Simpson is Director of Outpatient Therapeutic Services at the hospital.

Eye Openers
By Dr. Robert F. Pretzsch, Optometrist

Soft Contact Lenses in Color

Q. Does the wearer of the new color contact lenses see the color?

A. No, the colored portion of the lens is sufficiently soft and light so that it does not change the color of objects and is not noticeable to the wearer when the lenses are in the eye.

If fit properly, and checked regularly, just like clear contacts, the lenses are entirely safe. Of course, they must be cared for as directed by your optometrist.

Q. Will I still need sunglasses?

A. Yes. The light color tint of the contact lenses does not filter out harmful or uncomfortable sun rays. The tints are permanent; they will not fade and will continue to enhance the natural color of your eye. The lenses are now available in a variety of colors including sapphire (blue), emerald (green), aquamarine (green/blue), cocoa (brown) and topaz (amber).

Health Tips from Lee Rose

Dental health for babies

National Children's Dental Health Month, which is being observed in February, gives us the opportunity to stress important preventive measures to insure good dental health from birth through baby's first year. This early care can prevent cavities which could cause early loss of teeth that provide space allowing them to grow straight and uncrowded.

A mouth with the correct number of teeth allows good speech development and normal shape of the growing face. A child's self image can be permanently affected by changes in appearance and speech from premature loss.

Starting with the eruption of that first tiny tooth and those that follow, parents must clean and care for them as one would precious pearls. A gauze square or clean washcloth should be used to gently rub away plaque after each feeding.

Bacteria, cells from the mouth, and saliva make up the sticky film called plaque that forms in a baby's mouth just as in adults. Sugar and plaque form acids which cause tooth decay.

WHEN A BABY is put to bed with a bottle of any liquid except water in his/her mouth, all opportunities for tooth decay are set in motion. Only water should be given in the bedtime or naptime bottle. Formula and juice should be given at regular intervals to limit overfeeding and the constant contact of acids to the teeth. Water is the perfect liquid for thirsty baby between feedings.

Dentists tell us dental disease is the leading chronic disease in Kentucky, affecting 95 percent of our population. Let's do our best to change that statistic. It's really quite simple to give our babies a good start on a lifetime of healthy teeth.

For more information call Lee Rose at the Nicholas County Health Center at 289-2188.

School children express feelings on space shuttle

The Kentucky Department of Education has announced plans for a special project designed to enable Kentucky school children to express their feelings about the explosion of the space shuttle Challenger.

Children in the state's 180 local school districts are being asked to contribute writings or artwork for a memorial anthology paying tribute to teacher-astronaut Christa McAuliffe.

Details of the project are being sent to local superintendents this week. The department hopes to see as many districts as possible represented in the anthology.

The Kentucky anthology will be printed as the Spring 1986 issue of Kentucky Writing.

A snowy February week

City streets were being cleared of the first of last week's heavy snow storms when this picture was taken Wednesday. The snow, which fell in eight in some sections of the county — fell Friday. Schools were closed all week with the exception of Thursday. Warmer weather returned Sunday and Monday, leaving barely a trace of snow to begin the workweek. — Mercury photo

Residents respond on issues facing the General Assembly

Nearly 60 percent of the 3,500 Kentuckians who responded to a survey from Lt. Gov. Steven L. Beshear indicated that Kentucky's parole system does not adequately represent the interests of crime victims and the general public.

These results indicate a widespread dissatisfaction with the way the parole system is working," Beshear said in releasing the survey results.

Respondents were asked if they agreed with the statement: "Kentucky's parole system adequately represents the interests of crime victims and the general public."

Thirty-seven percent of those responding said they strongly disagreed with the statement, while another 22 percent said they moderately disagreed. Only 15 percent said they agree with the statement, while the remain ing said they were undecided.

Respondents strongly favored additional reforms in elementary and secondary education and increased funding for Kentucky's colleges and universities. A smaller percent said they favored a Constitutional amendment to change the office of Supt. of Public Instruction from an elected office to an appointed one.

THE ISSUE of an appointed state superintendent has been a major recommendation of most educational reform groups. Forty-five percent favored such a change, while 28 percent of those responding to the Lieutenant Governor's questionnaire said they strongly oppose such a move, with another 10 percent saying they were moderately opposed.

Strong support was also voiced for a state lottery, with 77 percent saying they favor such a method of generating income for state programs. Only 17 percent said they oppose a lottery.

A mandatory seatbelt law was favored by 34 percent, with 32 percent saying they were opposed and the remainder undecided.

RESPONDENTS also favored an increase in the gasoline tax to fund repair work on Kentucky's roads. Fifty-four percent said they were willing to pay an additional five cents per gallon at the pump, with 34 percent saying they weren't. However, some of those opposed said they would be willing to pay a lesser increase of two or three cents per gallon.

'Tobacco on Trial'

"Tobacco on Trial," a "Frontline" with Judy Woodruff documentary to be aired on KET Thursday, Feb. 20 at 9 p.m., examines the growing number of product liability lawsuits being filed against tobacco companies by smokers who say cigarettes have destroyed their health.

Educational computing

"We don't have departments of telephone in schools in this country, nor does it make sense to make computers the object of such study," says Judah L. Schwartz, guest on the Feb. 23 edition of "Educational Computing." The half-hour program airs Sunday at noon on KET.
