The Telephone Pioneers in Kentucky have a special interest in the upcoming July 4 dedication of the refurbished State of Liberty. Not only does the statue symbolize freedom to the pioneers, but it also means the result of three years hard work. The Kentucky Pioneers, a service organization made up primarily of South Central Bell employees, contributed over $20,000 of the $24 million raised nationally by the Pioneers for the restoration effort. Kentucky's Pioneers had contributed to raise $4,312 over a three year period and in April they surpassed the goal by over $1,000. The money was raised by member contributions, sales of pins, cakes, crafts, hand made and quilt runners, as well as the sale of a cookbook made up of recipes supplied by the members.
