Prather is a 1979 graduate of Pulaski County High School and attended nearby Somerset Community College for two years before entering the University of Kentucky. He received his BS in Agriculture Education in 1983 and after teaching in Ag in Harrodsburg, Tenn. for a year returned to UK for his Master's degree in 1985.

PULASKI COUNTY, as all Wicket fans know, is the school that boasts UK-bound basketball player Reggie Hamilton. The personality Prather says he hasn't seen the all-star performer, but that matter hasn't even a game since his high school days when he said with a smile, "Right now being and working with livestock are his hobbies when he finds the time."

Prather, who is single, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Prather of Pulaski County. He is living on the old Donny Watkins farm on Lower Jacktown Road.

WHAT IS his assessment of what he's seen here so far? "Nicholas County has a good 4-H program. If the membership is small enough to pull together and carry enough to get things done."

He pointed to the need of more youth participation. "Adult leaders are what it takes to make a strong program."

The Burnaws had taken special pains to clean the chimney and wood burning insert prior to use this winter. "We even burned seasoned split wood. It just goes to show you how careless will build up in a short time no matter how careful you are," Burnaw said.

Services were Thursday, March 11 at Mothers-Gaunce Funeral Home by Gaylord Gillespie. Burial in Carlisle Cemetery.

Casket bearers were Fred Burnaw, Jimmy Clem, Jimmy Hatfield, Clarence Moss and Ronald George.
