Drama Club to present 'It's Great to be Crazy'

The Nicholas County High School Drama Club will present the spring play, "It's Great to be Crazy," a three-act comedy by Donald Payton, on May 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the Nicholas County High School gymnasium. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Action begins when 15-year-old Betty Lou has a poem printed in the school paper. Since grandmother Maxwell's maiden name was Barrett, Betty Lou just knows she's a descendant of Elizabeth Barrett Browning. So she and best friend Bernadine write to a firm that "looks up family trees."

The reply arrives, but is intercepted by Mr. Maxwell, who gasps when he reads that his ancestors included Jack the Ripper, Bluebeard, Lady Macbeth, a gal named Sarah the Sparrow, who exterminated some 13 husbands, and a low-brow twosome named Lester the Leech and Stern Face Stella. It adds that the mental change usually comes about 40. Poor Pop is now imagining everything, and the awesome antics of his offspring only tend to make him believe they're all "touched."

The cast includes Cami Clark, Shelly Hamilton, Jill Irvin, Johnny Sibert, Anenia Hunt, Chris Knapke, Tracy Hollar, Neal Metcalfe, Melissa Ritchie, Derek Zachary, Scott Ramey, David Willoughby, Alison Knapke, Kelly Howard and Dana Jackson.

The play is under the direction of Mrs. Debbie Vice and is produced with special arrangement with Art Craft Play Company of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

SCB strengthens tie between business and education

A colorful graphic emphasizing the partnership between business and education distinguishes the cover of the new Carlisle directory being delivered starting May 8.

"Government, education and business leaders across the state agree that if Kentucky is to move forward, we must improve the quality of education," said Tom Tucker, local manager for Bell. "That's why we devoted this year's directory cover to education."

South Central Bell has always been involved in education, according to Tucker. We are involved in the Prichard Committee for Academic Excellence and the Governor's Scholar's Program for high school students," he said. "We also help support Kentucky Colleges and universities just as much as other corporations do."

"We hope this year's directory cover will serve as an impetus for an even stronger partnership between business and education in coming years."

Behind the cover, there's a lot more than just listings. The Customer Guide at the front of the directory offers all kinds of helpful information from emergency telephone numbers to how to do business with the telephone company.

Home customers who don't receive a directory by May 20 should call Bell at 1-507-6600 and business customers should call 1-507-6300. All calls are toll free.

EKU Invites You To Complete Your Degree

Eastern Kentucky University Announces a Special Effort to Assist Former College and University Students Who Wish to Complete Undergraduate Degree Programs

Eastern Kentucky University is interested in identifying and working with former college and university students who, for a variety of reasons, did not complete undergraduate degree programs at Eastern or at other accredited community colleges, senior colleges, or universities. We realize that many former students have full-time employment or other responsibilities and that the completion of a degree program may need to be on a part-time basis.

We are prepared to work with you by offering on-campus classes when you can attend including evenings and Saturdays. In addition, we are prepared to offer extended campus evening classes in communities in our service region. Correspondence courses are also available in a number of subject areas as well as opportunities to earn "credit by examination." Finally, we are prepared to advise you about courses that you may wish to complete at a nearby college or university to be transferred to Eastern.

Your objective may be the completion of an associate degree or a bachelor's degree in one of the many fields available at Eastern. You can renew your efforts to complete an undergraduate degree at Eastern Kentucky University as early as the Spring Intersession that begins May 19, 1986.

If you're interested in learning more, please contact Dr. John Rowlett, Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean of the Faculties, EKU, Richmond, Ky. 40475-3102, (606) 622-1884.
