Turkey Day Give-A-Way

The annual observance of the Great American Smokeroot is an uproot good-natured effort to encourage smokers to give up cigarette use for 24 hours. This year's smokeroot is a special celebration, the 10th anniversary of the national event. The goal this year is to get at least one in every five smokers to give up cigarettes for good. The Great American Smokeroot really should take tremendous pride in that achievement, said Hagman. "That pride and confidence should help give a new momentum through the holidays," continued Hagman. "If you believe in yourself, you can do anything."

There's going to be a Hillbilly Show in the courthouse yard but it won't be the one pictured in last week's Mercury. Carl Hagman said the original Hillbilly show was originally located on the ridge behind the one and the venue being moved to the Hillbilly farm. Hagman said he is going to give the entire PLUS A Floral Centerpiece for Thanksgiving. Cut out the hidden turkey and mail it along with the form below to The Carlisle Mercury, Box 272, Carlisle, Ky, 40311, or bring your entry by the Mercury office at 234 Locust Street.

Beautiful Tips from the 'H'

By Bethie Hart. This isn't a beauty tip, but I found it fascinating. Hold a mirror to both of your mirrors, you will see two people of confidence from your inside are shown on one. Strange, isn't it? You can see both eyes in the same mirror, but not both ears. So why not breath life into it? The answer is in the brain. The brain hemispheres are thought to have two different kinds of confidence. The left hemisphere is geared to face such as language of confidence. The right seems to deal with abstract. Now it seems that the hemispheres alternate about 10 times every 24 hours. That means you may have been face balancing a checkbook during an episode of left-brain dominance, and enjoy the arts more when your right brain is on.

Use a three-minute brain ping-pong test. Model Tip: You need about 1,000 calories to keep body temperature level. You need only a few hundred more than the energy. An extra will add pounds. Please send question to Bethie Hart, Box 272, Carlisle, Ky 40311.
