Reference skills

Four receive yellow belt

Four Nicholas Countians were tested Saturday, Sept. 20, at Lexington's Sin The fitness center.

Michael Hill, son of Mary Hill, Nita and Osias Villaflor, children of Dr. a Mrs. Osias Villaflor, and Keeley Woodward, all of Carlisle, received their yellow belts. They were tested on short kottas 1-10 and sparring techniques 1-10.

They are instructed by Jeffrey Clifford of Harrison County Karate Club.

'This Old House' begins new season

This Old House" returns for its eighth season on KET Sunday, Oct. 5, at 5:30 p.m. This Emmy Award-winning series with host Bob Vila and master carpenter Norm Abram shows viewers the ins and outs of home renovation and remodeling.

Projects this season include renovation of a Cape-style home, construction of a vacation house in a secluded setting, and a makeover of a typical southwestern home in Phoenix, Arizona.

MSU play adapted from Stuart book

Morehead State University Theatre students will present "The Thread That Runs So True," an adaptation of Jesse Stuart's book by the same name, on Oct. 9, 10 and 11 at 8 p.m. during MSU's Homecoming activities.

The play centers on Stuart's early years as a teacher, said Dr. Travis Lockhart, assistant professor of theatre and coordinator of MSU's theatre program. He began teaching at age 18 in Greenup County.

Tickets are available at the gate at $4 for adults, $2 for non-MSU students and children, and free to MSU students with valid ID cards. Additional information is available by calling the Theatre Box Office at 783-2219.

Science series

Discover: The World of Science", hosted by Peter Graves, returns for its second season to explore the fascinating discoveries in the areas of technology, medicine, natural phenomena and animal behavior.

This television science magazine premieres on KET Wednesday, Oct. 8 at 6 p.m.

Kay's Kitchen

By Kay Fisher

A different kind of cake makes a nice fall dessert. I call the following ones October cakes. They are not difficult to make and can be served right from the baking dish.

CARAMEL GINGER CAKE

Cream ½ cup butter or margarine. Gradually add 1½ cups brown sugar, creaming well. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Add 2 eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Sift 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour with 2½ teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ground ginger, ¼ teaspoon soda; add to creamed mixture alternately with 1½ cups milk, beginning and ending with flour, and beating well after each addition. Bake in greased and floured 12x9x2-inch pan in 350 degree oven 30-40 minutes, or till done. Cool thoroughly.

Frost with TUTTI-FRUTTI FROSTING: In double boiler combine 1 egg white, ¾ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon light corn syrup, 2 tablespoons cold water and dash of salt. Beat 1 minute with electric or rotary beater to blend. Place over boiling water and cook, beating constantly till stiff peaks form, about 4 minutes. Remove from water; add ½ teaspoon vanilla, and 3 drops almond extract. Beat to spreading consistency. Fold in ½ cup each plumped golden raisins and chopped walnuts, 1 tablespoon chopped candied ginger. Spread over cake.

BUTTERSCOTCH UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

BUTTERSCOTCH TOPPING: Mix ½ cup melted butter or margarine, 1 cup graham cracker crumbs, one 6-ounce package tiny butterscotch pieces, ½ cup flaked coconut, ½ cup chopped walnuts, and dash salt; spread over bottom of buttered 13x9x2-inch baking dish.

CAKE: Stir ½ cup shortening to soften. Gradually add 1½ cups sugar, creaming until fluffy. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Add 3 eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Sift 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour with 2½ teaspoons baking powder, and 1 teaspoon salt; add to creamed mixture alternately with 1 cup milk, beginning and ending with flour, and beating well after each addition. Beat 1 minute longer and pour over topping. Bake in 350 degree oven 30 minutes or till done. Cut in squares. Serve warm, upside-down.

SPICED CHOCOLATE CAKE

Melt four 1-ounce squares unsweetened chocolate; set aside to cool. Stir ½ cup shortening to soften. Sift in 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon each baking powder, soda, salt, cloves, cinnamon, and instant coffee. Add 1 cup buttermilk, 1 cup mild flour in dampened. Beat vigorously 2 minutes. Stir in ½ cup more buttermilk, 2 eggs, the chocolate, and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat 2 minutes longer. Bake in greased and floured 13x9x2-inch baking dish in 350 degree oven 40 minutes or until done. Cool. Frost with 7-Minute Frosting: In top of double boiler beat until thoroughly blended 2 egg whites, 1½ cups sugar, 2 tablespoons cold water, dash salt, ¼ teaspoon cream of tarter. Place over boiling water and beat constantly approximately 7 minutes. Remove from heat. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla and continue beating until icing is right consistency to spread.

Retired teachers to meet

The Nicholas County Retired Teachers will meet Monday, Oct. 6 at 1 p.m. at the Nicholas County Library.

Those who attended the district meeting at Spindletop last Thursday will give a report of that meeting.

Baptist Church Children's choir

A children's choir program for ages 4-12 will meet every Sunday at 6 p.m. at the First Baptist Church and will be directed by Mrs. Elaine Greer, Mrs. Judy Hawkins and Mrs. Vicki Sparks.

The children will play instruments, sing new songs, learn to read music, use the hymnal and learn the importance of music in worship. They will also be encouraged to develop and use their individual talents through the use of music games, drama and performance. This will be a tremendous opportunity for children to get a head start in music education.

All community children are invited to join in this unique opportunity and an enrollment party will be held Sunday, Oct. 5 at 6 p.m. at the church.

'Cardinal Sins' author first series speaker

Best-selling author the Rev. Andrew M. Greeley leads off the 1986-87 Distinguished Speakers Program sponsored by the Catholic Newman Center at the University of Kentucky.

Greeley, a Catholic priest, whose first popular fiction, "Cardinal Sins," catapulted him to the top of the best-seller lists several years ago, will be at the Newman Center, Rose Street, Oct. 14, at 7:30 p.m.

Six other novels followed "Cardinal Sins," including the most recent "Angels of September."

Other speakers in the series which is free and open to the public, are:

Nov. 17, Rev. Bryce Ritter, founder of the New York City Covenant House, a home for children.

Feb. 17, Former Miami Dolphins Tim Foley, a leader nationally in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes program.

March 3, R. Harrison Hickman, political pollster, is a partner in the Washington-based political consulting firm of Hickman-Maslin Research and has been an adviser to a number of political candidates in Kentucky.

Health care series premieres Oct. 2

Former President Lyndon Johnson said: "Today, our problem is not making, but managing our miracles." And nowhere is this problem more acute than in health care.

A stellar panel of nationally-known leaders and decision makers debate the complex ethical, legal and social questions raised by modern medicine in "Managing Our Miracles: Health Care in America," the new 19-part series premieres with "Truth and Confidences," Thursday, Oct. 2, at 7 p.m. on KET.

161,000 families get HEAP help

More than 161,000 families received nearly $20.5 million in payments on their heating bills last winter as part of the state's Home Energy Assistance Program.

Department for Social Insurance Commissioner Mike Robinson announced that a total of 118,360 applications were approved in two additional fall district HEAP segments set aside for the elderly and other low-income households from October through December 1985. Another 43,434 families received assistance during the "crisis" portion of the program, which operated from January through April 1986.

Beautiful: Tips from the Hart

by Dotty Hart

Forget the numbers. What difference does it make if you buy a size 8, 10 or 12 if the clothing fits? Manufacturers will tell you that the same size can vary as much as two inches from company to company. Do you really care what size they are as long as they fit properly? Let the mirror tell you what fits. Tight clothes that gap and wrinkle magnify your figure flaws, making you look heavier than you really are.

Avoid foundations that are iridescent since these tend to make you look older. If your skin is very wrinkled, avoid thick cream bases, which can accumulate in the crevices of the wrinkles.

Dear Hart,

Why do lipsticks change color? I hate it when I buy a pretty color, and it changes to a color I don't like. Other women have this problem too. I sure would love to know why this happens. Lois.

Dear Lois,

The "change" can be caused by a lot of factors, such as acid rain, car fumes, moisture when you breathe, saliva, lip licking, acidic foods and drinks, fluoridation, even your metabolism (body chemistry).

Model Tip: Acetone, the key ingredient in most nail polish remover, is very drying. The next time you buy a nail polish remover look for the words butyl ethyl acetate on the bottle. Acetates bleach and dry nails less than acetones.

If you have a remover with acetone add a few drops of olive oil or castor oil to the remover. This will help cut down the drying effect.

More: If you run out of remover and still have a nail left: Coat the nails with base coat. Let it set for 45 seconds, pour cuticle remover on nails and remove the base plus color in one quick swipe.

Please send questions to: Beautiful Tips from the Hart, P.O. Box 72297, Louisville, Ky. 40272.

Health Tips from Lee Rose

Drug task force formed in county

The recent forming of a Drug Task Force in Nicholas County is the first step by those concerned with the health and well-being of our children and young people. It is the hope of those on the Task Force that all Nicholas County citizens share this feeling and will be willing to involve themselves in freeing our community of drug and alcohol abuse.

The problem affects all of us whether we have someone directly involved or not. All of our residents must be rid of the dulling, disabling consequences of chemicals if they are to be a productive part of Nicholas County.

How can we as ordinary people correct what already seems to be out of control? First, we must recognize the fact – Nicholas County does have a major drug and alcohol problem. Parents must assess themselves to all available information on drugs and alcohol so signs and behavior changes will not be overlooked. Families must be willing to believe evidence of drug and alcohol abuse in their children.

We as adults should re-examine our own youth to recall the pressures exerted by our peers, to understand the need our children have to feel accepted even if it means participating in activities they know are harmful. Thorough teachings of the best parents often are not enough when influential friends push.

The best weapon against peer pressure is a strong self image. When a person feels okay about himself, he can take a firm stand, even if the crowd is swaying in the opposite direction. Self esteem doesn't come overnight. Parents foster good feelings in children from birth with positive reinforcement. Community members such as teachers, merchants, health providers and even neighbors all need to deal with youth in ways which make them feel worthwhile.

If you or your family need help concerning drugs and alcohol, we want to help! can be reached at the Nicholas County Health Center, phone 289-2188 or in an emergency at 289-2300.

Dairy farmers district meeting

Dairy farmers of this area will meet at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 28 at Mt. Sterling Civic Center for the annual fall district meeting. The announcement was made by J.C. Williams, Hodgenville, president of American Dairy Association of Kentucky.

Featured activities of the meeting will be the election of a district director, selection of the dairy queen princess, a report on the ADA-SUDIA Promotion Program by Eric McClain, manager of American Dairy Association of Kentucky and a free dinner for dairy farm families. Door prizes will be given away.

'Secret Weapon'

The Bluejackets "secret weapon" against Paris turned out to be none other than Mike Salomon, unveiled by team members at a pep rally Friday afternoon.

'86 burley assessment lowered

At 2.75 percent per pound for growers and 1.25 cents for manufacturers, the 1986 tobacco assessment announced last week by the Department of Agriculture, will be less than last year's for growers and considerably lower than had been rumored, according to Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY).

"This assessment is clear proof that the tobacco program is working," McConnell said. "With this announcement, Kentucky farmers can begin preparations for the fall market without fearing the unknown. There is every reason for optimism as we head into the marketing season."

The assessment is used to offset any losses incurred by the burley coop in the operation of the tobacco program. Burley growers have paid the total cost of the program since the No Net Cost Tobacco Law was enacted in 1982.

Last year, growers were assessed 4 cents per pound. Manufacturers paid no assessment in 1985. Since the new tobacco program had not yet taken effect, but will share the operational costs of the no net cost program beginning this year.

The rumored assessment for the 1986 crop had run as high as 10 cents.

EKU enrollment figures increase

Eastern Kentucky University officials announced a projected 1986 fall semester enrollment increase of 2.5 percent and "A significant increase" in the number of first-time, full-time freshman students.

Centre alums lead nation in generosity

Centre College received annual donations from 75.1 percent of its alumni in 1985-86 — leading the nation in alumni participation for the third straight year and breaking the national record Centre set a year ago.

Centre achieved its 75.1 percent participation rate in 1985-86 as 3,827 of its 7,758 alumni contributed to the College's Annual Fund. The Annual Fund also reached a record level for Centre — slightly more than $1.2 million, or an 18 percent increase from 1984-85.

For 1985-86, Centre again finished ahead of two perennial leaders in alumni participation — Williams College (Mass.), which was second with 66.9 percent, and Dartmouth College (N.H.), which was third with 64 percent.

Wildlife contests announced

Fish and Wildlife Habitat: Our Responsibilities, Today and Tomorrow will be the subject of the 1986 Conservation Essay Contest and the 1986 Jim Claypool Conservation Poster Contest, sponsored by The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times.

The annual competition, open to all Kentucky elementary and high school students, may be the largest conservation-oriented contests for school children in the United States. In 1985 over 42,000 essays were written on "Clean Water In My Community." Almost 63,000 posters were made on the subject.

The essay contest is in its 43rd year. Over 1.5 million essays have been written by students on various conservation subjects since its inception. This will be the 14th year for the poster contest, open to students in grades one through six. Students are asked to make original posters with the subject of the competition as the theme of the contest.

In the essay contest, students in grades seven through twelve are asked to write essays of no more than 1,000 words.

The top award winners — 121 district winners and three state winners in each contest — will receive $6,850 in savings bonds from the Louisville newspapers.

Deadline for all of the contest, along with The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times, are the Kentucky Association of Conservation Districts and the Kentucky Department of Education. The 1986 competition will begin in September. Detailed information and reference material has been delivered to the local schools.

For further information, contact the Nicholas County Conservation District office located at 308 East Main Street, phone 289-2234.

'Spotlight' Day at EKU set Oct. 18

Hundreds of prospective students are expected to visit Eastern Kentucky University campus Saturday, Oct. 18 for the annual "EKU Spotlight" day in Richmond.

"Choosing a college or university is one of the most important decisions in a student's life," said Les Grigsby, EKU's director of admissions.

Activities include tours of the EKU campus, displays from EKU's nine colleges and more than 300 degree programs and options in the Keen Johnson Building's ballroom, lunch specials at the Powell Building cafeteria, and open house at the University's 17 residence halls.

For more information contact the EKU Division of Admissions, 205 Jones Building, EKU, Richmond, Ky.

EYE OPENERS

HOW YOUR EYES WORK

Did you ever wonder about how your eyes work? For example, what happens when you pick up a book and start reading?

* Your wonderful eyes start to function faster than the most sophisticated computer.
* Six small muscles aim each eye at the particular words you are reading.
* The aperture (pupil) of each eye changes in size to regulate the right amount of light you need to see with.
* A ring of tiny muscles adjusts the thickness of each lens so that the image of each word focuses on a light sensitive screen (retina) at the back of the eye. The millions of cells in the retina react to color and intensity of light. A set of signals from each eye is generated and sent to the brain via nerve fibers.
* The separate signals from each eye are translated into a "single image" or picture by the brain.

All this happens instantaneously and automatically, but not always perfectly. Any imperfection in the shape, size or function of either eye affects the clarity of what you see and the ease of how you see it. Most imperfections in sight can be corrected by glasses, contact lenses and/or vision therapy.
