NEW ADDITION TO FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF CARLISLE

First National Bank getting new president

branch manager at First National Bank of Nicholasville.

"We thank Mr. Dudley for his many years of service and wish him the best in future endeavors," said Elmer Whitaker, chairman of the board of First National Bank of Carlisle. "And we believe that Mr. Hutchison is an ideal choice as the bank's new president. His knowledge and background in banking are excellent, and he is well-known and respected in Carlisle. We think that his experience and solid understanding of the community's needs will lead the First National Bank of Carlisle through continued growth in the coming years."

Bank officials said that the First National Bank of Carlisle's total assets have grown from $24,640,000 as of Dec. 31, 1981, to $33,415,000 as of Dec. 31, 1985. In the same period deposits grew from $21,749,000 to $28,612,000; loans from $13,178,000 to $15,132,000; and capital from $2,210,000 to $3,184,000.

Balloon ascension

Local children in the Head Start program joined in celebration of October as Head Start Month by launching balloons outside the center on Scrubgrass Road Friday afternoon. At left are Margaret Hunter, rural programs coordinator and Mary Crawford, (partially hidden), center supervisor, who helped some 40 youngsters enrolled here send their balloons skyward.

'Airplane pyramid' new sales scheme

The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division alerts consumers to be wary of one of the latest pyramid scheme which has surfaced in numerous Kentucky counties. The scheme, known as People Helping People, or, more commonly, "Airplane," requires participants to pay in amounts ranging from $25 up to $1,500.

The Pyramid Sales Act, effective July 15, 1986, makes it unlawful for any person to establish, promote, operate or participate in any plan in which a person gives money for the opportunity to receive directly or things for recruiting others into the plan.

New books arrive at the library

The following new books are available at the Nicholas County Public Library:

IT by Stephen King. The biggest and most ambitious book of his career, King gives us not only his most towering epic of horror but a surprising rethumanization of the corrider through which we pass from the bright mysteries of childhood to those of maturity.

CONFESSIONS OF A PARISH PRIEST by Andrew Greeley. The parish priest, turned bestselling novelist, now writes this candid and provocative autobiography that covers his controversial career over the years and of change in the Catholic Church.

ONE KNEE EQUALS TWO FEET (and Every Thing Else You Need to Know About Football) by John Madden with Dave Anderson. A book for anyone who knows football and wants to know more, as well as anyone who doesn't know a thing about football and wants to learn about it.

PRISONER OF DESIRE by Jennifer Blake. The author of Royal Passion takes her readers on a trip to marvelous Mardi Gras for an unforgettable novel of revenge, ravishment, and romance.

O-ZONE by Paul Theroux. This novel takes place in the near future and presents a world which has evolved in a natural course from the world of today; gathered near the Ozarks in a region contaminated by nuclear wastes, seven men, women, and a teenage boy are subject to a series of emotional and physical trials.

SECRET FOR A NIGHTINGALE by Victoria Holt. Amid the drama of the mid-19th-century, this richly detailed story follows a young woman's dedicated efforts as a nurse, a profession she turns to after tragedy strikes her family. During the Crimean War, she journeys to the Middle East to work with the legendary Florence Nightingale, but the secrets of her past continue to haunt her.

SEVEN RIVERS WEST by Edward Hoagland. A sprawling, big-hearted novel of the American West, set in the late 1870's and filled with wonderfully idiosyncratic characters and fine nature discriptions.

THE PRINCE OF TIDES by Pat Conroy. The author of the Great Santini writes in mythic proportions about the complex relationships in families, a tale set alternately in New York City and the low country of South Carolina.

CASSIDY by Morris West. A tale of a young man who sets out to unravel the life of a rich and powerful Irish politician, and who must face the same challenges.

FLETCH, TOO by Gregory McDonald. Fletch is back, in the second case of his notorious career.

FLIGHT OF THE INTRUDER by Stephen Coonts. Veteran A-6 Intruder pilot Stephen Coonts captures as never before the drama of modern aerial warfare in this riveting story of navy fliers in Vietnam.

THE GOLDEN CUP by Belva Plain. A new novel from the author of Evergreen, returns the star-crossed lovers Paul and Anna and Paul's beloved aunt, Hendlie, a tireless fighter for social justice and her own troubled marriage.

MURDER IN MANHATTAN creator Bill Adler. Eight of America's most successful mystery writers try to outdo one another in this mystery sensation of the year that presents a murderous cross-section of society in New York.

ONE MORE TIME by Carol Burnett. Burnett's million of fans will be captivated by this intimate, astonishing, and tremendously powerful memoir of her financially desperate but emotionally rich childhood on the wrong side of the tracks.

RAINBOW DRIVE by Roderick Thorp. A story of murder and vice, corruption and coverup in big time L. A. with an explosive plot and a passionate love story.

The Lexington Herald is available at the library.

Books have been given in memory of Mary Lois Campbell by the Carlisle West Homemakers; in memory of Chad Whitaker, Gwin Hardwick and Troy Barton by Dorsey and Sally Watkins.

600 youth propose man-size legislation

Some 600 students in grades 6-9 have proposed some man-sized legislature during the 27th annual Junior Kentucky Youth Assembly this week in Frankfort and Louisville.

For three days, beginning Oct. 30 delegates from all parts of the Commonwealth are debating self-authored pieces of legislation on the actual House and Senate floors, among other things.

Proposed legislation includes a bill which calls for a constitutional amendment to take the State Superintendent of Public Instruction out of elective politics and make it an appointive office.

That issue, of course, is on the "real world" November 4 ballot and favored to pass.

Students also would like to see the legal drinking age lowered from 21 to 18, and the legal driving age raised from 16 to 18. Both bills are aimed at decreasing deaths on Kentucky highways.

OTHER LEGISLATION proposed by the young "lawmakers" include:

*stricter penalties against public buildings without facilities for handicaps.

*to increase the number of high school graduates in the Commonwealth of Kentucky by enacting a law requiring all public school districts to offer drop-out prevention programs.

*to require senior citizens aged 65 or older to be retested for driver's license upon renewal of license.

*to provide a forced deposit law on 12 fluid ounce aluminum cans in Kentucky.

*to help stop bribery of elected officials and their families for personal gain.

*to prohibit the sale of cold beer to "take out" customers.

*to require that all persons being licensed to drive be literate.

*to decrease drug usage among high school and middle school athletes by providing voluntary drug-testing programs for these athletes.

*to find homes for the homeless of Kentucky.

*to allow custodial rights for unmarried fathers.

*to require mandatory random drug testing of all state employees.

*to establish emergency phones on all highways.

*to provide an office of domestic relations attorney responsible for the enforcement, collection, and distribution of child support and maintenance payments in Kentucky.

*to provide free college education for children of Kentucky disabled ex-service veterans.

*to decrease the use of illegal drugs among high school athletes by enacting a law making it mandatory for all high school athletes to participate in a drug testing program.

*to provide stricter control over handguns in the Commonwealth.

*to make driver's education mandatory in order to receive a driver's license for anyone 16-18 years of age in the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

*to decrease the number of automobile accident deaths by mandatory usage of seat belts by all occupants of a moving automobile.

*to prohibit the involuntary drug testing of students or groups of students in Kentucky schools.

*to require that Kentucky establish sex education classes in grades 7-9.

*to limit campaign spending in state-wide elections.

*to ease prison overcrowding in the Commonwealth of Kentucky by enacting a law that would raise the felony limit.

*to control the number of billboards along interstate, state, county and federal highways.

*to lower the age from 16 to 15 for obtaining an instruction permit for a driver's license.

*to make uniform the date all public schools open for students in the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

*to institute a living will for people who do not wish to be dependent on life-support machines.

Precautions can avert Halloween tragedies

The most frightening part of Halloween is the increased potential for automobile accidents involving young pedestrians. To make trick-or-treating safer for everyone, AAA offers some safety precautions.

Missy Tharpe, AAA's safety supervisor, cautioned that children should be dressed in highly visible costumes. "If possible, use retro-reflective materials, as they are visible at nearly twice the distance of white cloth," said Tharpe. "Strips of the material are easy to use, effective and inexpensive. It's a good way for parents to ensure their trick-or-treaters are easily seen."

Parents should remind youngsters of basic safety rules. Tharpe advises parents or older siblings to accompany younger children on their trick-or-treat rounds. "A parent can keep track of the homes visited, guide the children across streets, and make certain they don't wander from the immediate neighborhood."

"Older children usually prefer to travel with friends, but safety rules should be discussed before leaving home," Tharpe said. Among the rules she recommends are to trick-or-treat in familiar neighborhoods only. Pick streets that are well-lit, and stop only at those homes where outside lights are on. Walk on the sidewalk and not in the street. If there is no sidewalk, walk facing traffic. A return time should be agreeable to both parent and child.
