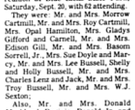
Beautiful: Tips from the Heart



by Dotty Hart

Every woman has had that awful day of the fashion soul when she stands in front of her closet and cries to the heavens, "I haven't a thing to wear!" Quite often this cry comes from a woman who has a closet bulging with clothes. Have you shopped much but not wisely? Use care not to buy the same type of clothes. If you have one favorite "look" you buy most clothes in that "look", you find that that "look" doesn't work for everything...so at that time you have nothing to wear.

How is a perfume born?

Ever wonder how a huge company creates a new perfume? First, the company decides on a target market, the age and the type of wearer.

Developing the fragrance takes a long time. The company has the top perfumers in the world at their disposal. The company tells the perfumers what they want and they come back with their submissions. Then they work with the submissions til they are right. They say things like it's too harsh, make it less sweet, make it more floral. When they are happy with the submission, it is sent to a test panel. Sometimes over 500 tests are performed.

While they test for the perfect scent they test for other things such as compatibility, sensitivity, microbiology, color, does it last? Does it break down if conditions are not perfect? It takes about three years just to find out if a perfume is stable. Big companies spend hundreds of thousands of dollars just to make sure all the problems are solved.

The perfect bottle must be found. Designers submit somewhere between 20-30 final designs. Then there are other considerations like can we get a cap for the bottle? What will the package look like? What are we going to call it?

It takes the work of ad people, marketing people, packaging people, legal people, fragrance people, public relations people, sales people, testers, chemists, dermatologists, writers, artists, designers, printers and secretaries.

Selling fragrances is selling fantasy. Will you look at your perfume with new respect? I did.

Kay's Kitchen

By Kay Fisher

To use those green tomatoes before the frost gets them, here are some recipes from an Old Comfort Range Cookbook. You are sure to enjoy the results of your efforts during the winter. Too, a gift of any home canned foods is always appreciated.

GREEN TOMATO MINCEMEAT

1 peck green tomatoes
2 lemons
4 lbs. brown sugar
2 lbs. seedless raisins
1 tablespoon salt
2 teaspoons cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon mace
1 cup vinegar

Scald and peel tomatoes. Put through food chopper, using coarse blade, with the lemons. Add sugar, raisins, vinegar and spices. Bring to a boil and cook slowly for one hour. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

PICCALILLI

1 peck green tomatoes
1 cup salt
1 dozen onions
6 red peppers, chopped
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons allspice
1 tablespoon ground cinnamon
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon ground cloves
3 pints vinegar

Peel tomatoes and slice one day ahead; sprinkle with salt. When ready to cook, drain. Put through coarse blade of food chopper with peeled onions and red peppers. Put chopped vegetables in kettle in layers, sprinkle mixed sugar and spices between each layer. Add vinegar and boil slowly until tender. Seal at once in sterilized jars.

SPANISH PICKLES

12 large onions
1 peck green tomatoes
1 cup salt
2 quarts cider vinegar
12 green peppers
6 sweet red peppers
6 cloves garlic
4 lbs. brown sugar

Skin onions and tomatoes and cut into thin slices. Sprinkle with salt and let stand 12 hours. Wash in clear water, drain and add to vinegar and brown sugar, heated to boiling point with finely sliced peppers and garlic. Add

2 tablespoons dry mustard
1 tablespoon whole cloves
2 inches stick cinnamon
2 tablespoons powdered ginger
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon celery seed

Cook slowly until transparent, about one hour, stirring frequently. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

To bring these recipes up to date, 1 peck is 8 quarts, or ¼ bushel.

It is now recommended to fill jars leaving ¼ inch head space, adjust caps and process in boiling water bath for 10 minutes.

These recipes can easily be cut in half.

Health Tips

from Lee Rose

New consultant

For the past year, through June 1986, Dr. W.R. Kingsolver, local family practitioner, served as consultant and Health Center physician for WEDCO District Health Department which includes Harrison, Nicholas, and Scott Counties. Patients and staff alike have gained from it medical expertise.

Demands of an active practice with his associate, Dr. Tim Scott, here in Carlisle have drawn him back full time to his office. He will continue to serve on the local Board of Health and was recently appointed a member of the WEDCO Board, a position he held two years ago.

To fill vacancy, WEDCO is fortunate to have found Dr. Mike Gaussoin who comes highly qualified with a diverse medical background.

A graduate of West Virginia University School of Medicine, Morgantown, West Virginia and the Medical College of Virginia, Dr. West was chief resident in internal medicine and hematology at Ohio State University in Columbus.

Many Nicholas County residents may recall Dr. West's work in internal medicine, hematology, and oncology at the Lexington Clinic during the sixties. At that time and until 1983, he was an internal medicine consultant for numerous Central Kentucky hospitals, including the Nicholas County Hospital.

In the past 25 years he has over 40 original medical publications to his credit, and has an ongoing research study at this time. Following time off with a serious illness from 1983 to 1985, Dr. West became employed as Internal Medicine Consultant for the Kentucky Cabinet for Human Resources, and the Social Security Office of Hearings and Appeals, and continues to work in those areas, in addition to consultation one half day a week at IBM and Kentucky Central Life Insurance Company.

Dr. West's busy schedule still leaves time for one half day clinics in Harrison, Nicholas, and Scott counties. His Nicholas County Clinic hours are scheduled from 8 a.m. to 12 noon every Tuesday for indigent patients who do not have access to a private physician.

For more information contact Lee Rose, RN at the Nicholas County Health Center at (606) 289-2186

Tobacco lost in barn fire thought set

Arson is suspected in a fire which damaged a seven bent barn and destroyed 500 racks of tobacco Sept. 20 on the farm of Bill Ritchie on Peal Hollow Road, 12 miles from Carlisle.

The Nicholas County Fire Department was able to save another 300 racks of tobacco. One end of the barn where the fire apparently started was heavily damaged. The stripping room was a complete loss, Fire Chief Mark Hughes reported.

Firemen were on the scene from 9:50 p.m. until 12 o'clock Sunday morning. The fire is under investigation.

Motor vehicles were involved in two other fires last week. A 1976 Ford water truck belonging to J.W. Fryman Jr. was a total loss when it caught fire from a short under the dash Sept. 17, 11 a.m. on the Moorefield Road, four miles from Carlisle

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a 1979 Ford Bronco 4x4 owned by Nobby Smalley on Pine Run Road, six miles from town. It occurred Sept. 21 about 1:30 a.m.
